Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil thee; because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

Habakkuk 2:17

For the violence of Lebanon shall cover thee, and the spoil of beasts, which made them afraid, because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

Zephaniah 1:9

In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, which fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.

Malachi 2:16

For the LORD, the God of Israel, saith that he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously.

Liar | False Witness - Hebrew

sheqer, "falsehood; lie." The presence of this root is limited to Hebrew and Old Aramaic. The word sheqer occurs 113 times in the Old Testament. It is rare in all but the poetic and prophetic books, and even in these books its usage is concentrated in Psalms (24 times) Proverbs (20 times), and Jeremiah (37 times). The first occurrence is in Exodus 5:9: "Let there more work be laid upon the men, that they may labor therein: and let them not regard vain words [lies]."

In about thirty-five passages, sheqer describes the nature of "deceptive speech": "to speak" Isaiah 59:3, "to teach" Isaiah 9:15, "to prophesy" Jeremiah 14:14, and "to lie" Micah 2:11. It may also indicate a "deceptive character," as expressed in one's acts: "to deal treacherously" 2 Samuel 18:13 and "to deal falsely" Hosea 7:1.

Thus sheqer defines a way of life that goes contrary to the law of God. The psalmist, desirous of following God, prayed: "Remove from me the way of lying: and grant me thy law graciously. I have chosen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me" Psalms 119:29-30; cf. vv. 104,118,128. Here we see the opposites: "falsehood" and "faithfulness." As "faithfulness" is a relational term, "falsehood" denotes "one's inability to keep faith" with what one has said or to respond positively to the faithfulness of another being.

The Old Testament saint was instructed to avoid "deception" and the liar: "Keep thee far from a false matter; and the innocent and righteous slay thou not: for I will not justify the wicked" Exodus 23:7; cf. Proverbs 13:5.

The Septuagint has these translations: adikos/adikia ("unjust; unrighteous; wrongdoing; wickedness") and pseudēs ("falsehood; lie"). The KJV gives these meanings: "lie; falsehood; false; falsely."

DECEIT

Shaw' "deceit; deception; malice; falsity; vanity; emptiness." The 53 occurrences of shaw' are primarily in poetry.

The basic meaning of this word is "deceit" or "deception," "malice," and "falsehood." This meaning emerges when shaw' is used in a legal context: "Put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness" Ex 23:1. Used in cultic contexts, the word bears these same overtones but may be rendered variously. For example, in Ps 31:6 the word may be rendered "vain" (KJV, "lying"), in the sense of "deceitful" (cf. Ezek 12:24). Eliphaz described the ungodly as those who trust in "emptiness" or "deception," though they gain nothing but emptiness as a reward for that trust Job 15:31.

Chamas perhaps connotes a "violent wrongdoing" which has not been righted, the guilt of which lies on an entire area (its inhabitants) disrupting their relationship with God and thereby interfering with His blessings.

It is this latter sense which appears in the phrase "the earth was full of violent wrongdoing": "The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence" Gen 6:11 — the first occurrence of the word. Thus, in Gen 16:5 Sarai summons God to judge between Abram and herself because he has not acted properly toward her keeping Hagar in submission: "My wrong [done me] be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy bosom; and when she saw that she had conceived, I was despised in her eyes: the Lord judge between me and thee." Abram as God's judge (in God's stead) accepts the correctness of her case and commits Hagar to Sarai's care to be dealt with properly.

B. Verb.

Hamas means "to treat violently." This verb, which occurs 7 times in biblical Hebrew, has cognates in Aramaic, Akkadian, and Arabic. This verb appears in Jer 22:3 with the meaning of "to do no violence": "...and do no wrong, do no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, nor the widow, neither shed innocent blood in this place."

FALSE, FALSEHOOD, FALSELY

A. Adjectives.

1. pseudēs is used of "false witnesses," Acts 6:13; "false apostles," Rev 2:2, RV, "false," KJV, "liars"; Rev 21:8, "liars."

Note: For compound words with this adjective, see APOSTLE, BROTHER, CHRIST, PROPHET, WITNESS.

2. pseudonimos "under a false name" (No. 1, and onoma, "a name"; Eng., "pseudonym"), is said of the knowledge professed by the propagandists of various heretical cults, 1 Tim 6:20.

B. Noun.

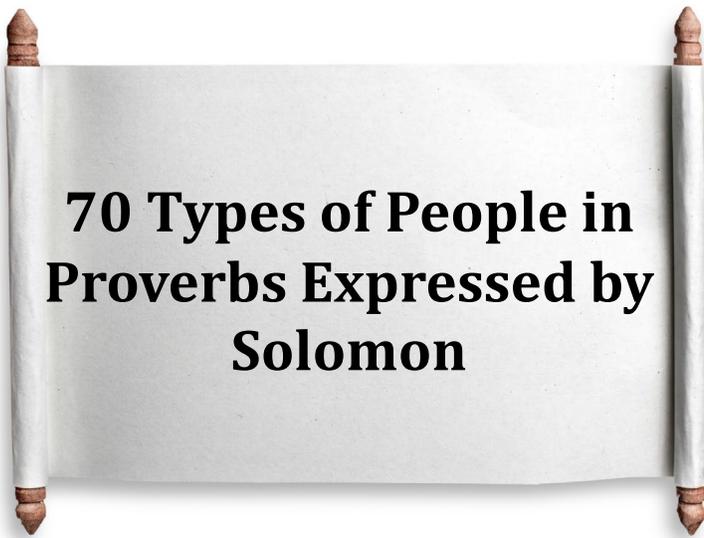

pseudos "a falsehood" (akin to A, No. 1), is so translated in Eph 4:25, RV (KJV, "lying"); in 2 Thess 2:9, "lying wonders" is lit. "wonders of falsehood," i. e., wonders calculated to deceive; it is elsewhere rendered "lie," John 8:44; Rom 1:25; 2 Thess 2:11; 1 John 2:21,27; Rev 14:5, RV; 21:27; 22:15. See GUILTY, LIE.

C. Verb.

pseudo "to deceive by lies," is used in the middle voice, translated "to say... falsely," in Matt 5:11; it is elsewhere rendered "to lie," Acts 5:3-4; Rom 9:1; 2 Cor 11:31; Gal 1:20; Col 3:9; 1 Tim 2:7. See LIE.

Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words

THIEF/THIEVES - Greek

THIEF, THIEVES

1. kleptes is used (a) literally, Matt 6:19,20; 24:43; Luke 12:33,39; John 10:1,10; 12:6; 1 Cor 6:10; 1 Peter 4:15; (b) metaphorically of "false teachers," John 10:8; (c) figuratively, (1) of the personal coming of Christ, in a warning to a local church, with most of its members possessed of mere outward profession and defiled by the world, Rev 3:3; in retributive intervention to overthrow the foes of God, 16:15; (2) of the Day of the Lord, in divine judgment upon the world, 2 Peter 3:10 and 1 Thess 5:2,4; in v. 2, according to the order in the original "the word 'night' is not to be read with 'the day of the Lord,' but with 'thief,' i. e., there is no reference to the time of the coming, only to the manner of it. To avoid ambiguity the phrase may be paraphrased, 'so comes as a thief in the night comes.' The use of the present tense instead of the future emphasizes the certainty of the coming.... The unexpectedness of the coming of the thief, and the unpreparedness of those to whom he comes, are the essential elements in the figure; cf. the entirely different figure used in Matt. 25:1-13."

From Notes on Thessalonians. by Hogg and Vine, pp. 153, 154.

2. lestes is frequently rendered "thieves" in the KJV, e. g., Matt 21:13. See ROBBER.

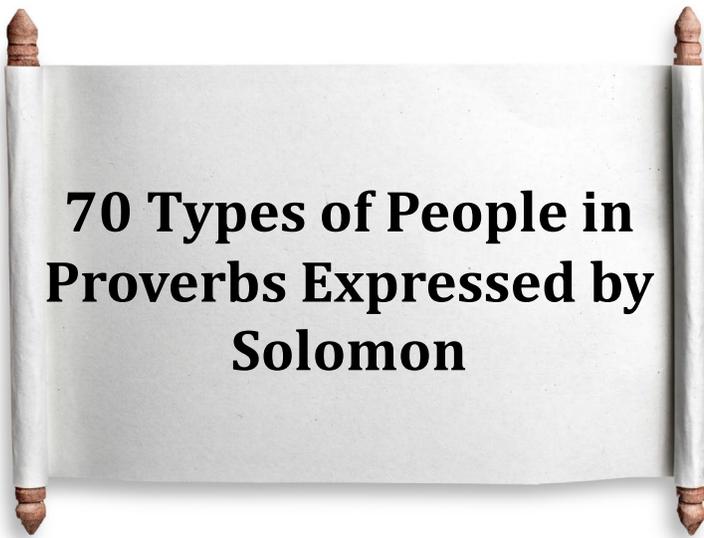

ROBBER

1. lestes "a robber, brigand" (akin to leia, "booty"), "one who plunders openly and by violence" (in contrast to kleptes, "a thief," see below), is always translated "robber" or "robbers" in the RV, as the KJV in John 10:1,8; 18:40; 2 Cor 11:26; the KJV has "thief" or "thieves" in Matt 21:13, and parallel passages; 26:55, and parallel passages; 27:38,44 and Mark 15:27; Luke 10:30,36; but "thief" is the meaning of kleptes. See THIEF.

2. hierosulos an adjective signifying "robbing temples" (hieron, "a temple," and sulao, "to rob"), is found in Acts 19:37. Cf. hierosuleo, "to rob a temple," Rom 2:22, KJV, "commit sacrilege."

QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT COMPANIES AND TOP MANAGERS

(THE WORD MANAGER REFERS TO THE TOP PERSON WHO RUNS THE COMPANY)

Is the manager reactionary and impatient to get gain?

CONCLUSION: Does not lead well and loss will come.

Is the manager late to work, takes too much time for lunch or finds reasons to leave early?

CONCLUSION: He will not see the things needed to succeed but "come to poverty" (or the loss of current success).

Does the manager drink too much (i.e. even at noon) or puts too much attention on food as overly important as if to create status?

CONCLUSION: This lack of discipline allows for an escape management style and shall come to poverty (or the loss of current success).

Does the manager's attitude reflect one of slow delayed indecision? Delay being a way of management.

CONCLUSION: Trouble shall mount over time like a lady having a baby. Then people will suddenly get on his back for delay in delivery of products or information or promises.

Does the manager withhold inventory beyond normal to wait on the increase in market prices or to attempt and control the market?

CONCLUSION: People will despise him and his company over time and where possible turn their buying elsewhere. It tends to lead to poverty.

Does the manager listen or talk? Does the company meet their promises or mostly pontificate with needless words? Does performance match promises?

CONCLUSION: They will deal with a problem of tending to poverty or loss of assets.

QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT COMPANIES AND TOP MANAGERS

(THE WORD MANAGER REFERS TO THE TOP PERSON WHO RUNS THE COMPANY)

Does the manager seek advice or make hasty decisions by not being diligent?

CONCLUSION: It tends to poverty.

Does the manager focus on pleasure, oil and wine?

CONCLUSION: He shall be poor (He may act rich, but be heading the wrong way. In fact, many times this will be the case.)

Does the manager treat poor employees tough, and play up to people with money by buying them expensive lunches or giving rich people things to gain their favor?

CONCLUSION: He will have trouble with employees. There will be a large turnover of people but he will justify all.

Does the manager listen to lies or get advice from people who do not know what they are doing plus unrealistic daydreaming about foolish things? Does he also get ideas from people who not only lie about something, but act as if they were true and real? Does he personally seek praise for being involved or just being interested?

CONCLUSION: It will result in a loss of being chief or running things.

QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT COMPANIES AND TOP MANAGERS

(THE WORD MANAGER REFERS TO THE TOP PERSON WHO RUNS THE COMPANY)

Does the manager not accept comments and instruction from purchasers, and does he not hear other suggestions given out of diligence?

CONCLUSION: Poverty and shame shall be his.

Does the manager work his own business that he knows or get caught with a wrong philosophy to not put all his eggs in one basket? If he leads the company into diversifying into areas he and others are not proven experts at, then he is wrong.

CONCLUSION: He will be caught getting into things he should have stayed out of and generally by vain persons and have losses.

Does the manager hang around with vain people? (Covetous people are greedy people. Vain people are beyond covetousness into living their life by using words that talk as if they know what they are doing but have abilities and assets and skills they lack in.)

CONCLUSION: He shall have his share of poverty.

LIFE VIOLATIONS AND LIFE DECISIONS THAT TEND TO POVERTY AND REWARD

There is a perspective some take in considering this teaching. It is to look at the English word poverty and see what leads to loss. (Now this is substantially better than no consideration at all).

The Bible however also teaches to "rightly divide the word of truth".

To "divide" the word poverty is reasonable. We find five primary Hebrew words plus one plural word that has been rendered poverty in the Old Testament. In the days of the Old Testament it was written mostly in Hebrew. This language has many more words than the English language. So when the translators came to each Hebrew word they mostly rendered it poverty. However, the richness of the Hebrew language is its ability to communicate to us today the tense or accumulate meaning at a deeper level. We have a similar situation with the Greek language, yet it is not so deep. This study looks at what the Bible has to say in the Hebrew language regarding poverty.

Note: The following is added insights on poverty in addition to previous verses on poor.

'Gheh'ser, (checer (kheh'-ler))

This word shows up twice. The Hebrew word contains a deep lack or to be destitute. It shows up in a physical and mental need. It contains in the word to be void. It has been rendered for want and poverty.

Job 30:3

But now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock. 2 Yea, where to might the strength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was perished? 3 For want and famine they were solitary; fleeing into the wilderness in former time, desolate and waste.

Proverbs 28:22

He that hasteth to be rich has an evil eye, and considers not that poverty shall come upon him.

Is the head of the company reactionary and impatient to get gain? (Proverbs 28:22)

CONCLUSION: He will not direct the company employees correctly and is void of real wisdom and real loss will come.

Genesis: 45:11

And there will I nourish thee: for there are five years of famine; lest thou and thy household, and all that thou has come to poverty.

Proverbs 20:13

Love not sleep lest thou come to poverty: Open thine eyes and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

Proverbs 23:21

For the drunkard and glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness shall cloth a man with rags.

Is the head of the company late to work or takes too much time for lunch or finds reasons to leave early? Proverbs: 20:13

CONCLUSION: He will not see the things needed to succeed but "come to poverty" (or the loss of current success).

Does the manager withhold inventory beyond normal to wait on the increase in market prices or to control the market?

CONCLUSION: People will despise his company over time where possible turn their buying elsewhere. It tends to poverty. (Proverbs 11:24)

Does the manager listen or talk? Does the company meet their promises or mostly pontificate with needless words? Does performance match promises?

CONCLUSION: They will deal with a problem of tending to poverty or loss of assets. (Proverbs 14:23)

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Does the manager seek advice or make hasty decisions by not being diligent?

CONCLUSION: It tends to poverty. (Proverbs 21:5)

Does the manager focus on pleasure, oil and wine?

CONCLUSION: He shall be poor (Proverbs 21:17) (He may act rich, but be heading the wrong way. In fact, many times this will be the case.)

Does the manager treat poor employees tough and play up to people with money by buying them expensive lunches or giving rich people things to gain their favor?

CONCLUSION: He will have trouble with employees. There will be a large turnover of people, but he will justify all.

Rehsh, (reysh (raysh); or re'sh (raysh); or riysh (reesh))

This version of this Hebrew word shows up twice. It has in the Hebrew a clear indication that the poverty spoken of is a loss of power and position. It is to lose the place of being at the head or chief person. This version has been rendered poverty both times.

Proverbs 6:11

So shall thy poverty come as one that travaileth, and thy want as an armed man.

Proverbs 30:8

Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me.

NOTE: In 6:11 above "and thy want" is the Hebrew word for loss of possessions. The word above "thy poverty" is this word for losing position or power or being the head. To sleep or delay or always planning to do but delay doing is to lose your place as head. It is also to affect the company's assets.

Does the manager listen to lies or get advice from people who do not know what they are doing plus unrealistic daydreaming about foolish things? Does he also get ideas from people who not only lie about something, but act as if they were true and real? Does he personally seek praise for being involved or just being interested?

CONCLUSION: It will result in a loss of being chief or running things.

Rehsh (reysh (raysh); or re'sh (raysh); or riysh (reesh))

This version of the same word is without part of the Hebrew letter that puts in power or position. It is rendered three times. It has the reverse side. It is to be poor and hassled by those in power and that have position or to be without power and be hassled.

Proverbs 10:15

The rich mans wealth is his strong city. The destruction of the poor is their poverty.

Proverbs 13:18

Poverty and shame shall be to him that refuses instruction: but he that regards reproof shall be honored.

Proverbs 24:33-34

Yet a little sleep a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep. 34 So shall thy poverty come as one that travaileth; and thy want as an armed man.

(See 6:11 The one word that is different is the Hebrew word for "thy poverty". Here it is from the employee side.)

Does the manager not accept comments and instruction from purchasers, and does he not hear others suggestions given out of diligence?

CONCLUSION: Poverty and shame shall be his. (Proverbs 13:18)

Reesh (reysh (raysh); or re'sh (raysh); or riysh (reesh))

The word is the same as the last word rehsh except more of a singular tense. It shows up twice.

Proverbs 28:19

He that tills his land shall have plenty of bread; but he that follows after vain persons shall have poverty enough.

Proverbs 31:7

Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more.

The word means to work, but not get ahead, but to go backwards.

Does the manager work his own business that he knows or get caught with a wrong philosophy to not put all our eggs in one basket? If he leads the company into diversifying into areas he and others are not proven experts at, then he is wrong.

CONCLUSION: He will be caught getting into things he should have stayed out of and mostly by vain persons and have great losses.

Does the manager hang around with vain people? (Covetous people are greedy people. Vain people are beyond covetousness into living life by using words that talk as if they know what they are doing but have abilities and assets and skills they lack in.)

CONCLUSION: He shall have his share of poverty.

A Poor Person - Hebrew

POOR (PERSON), WEAK (PERSON)

A. Nouns.

ani "poor; weak; afflicted; humble." This word, which also appears in early Aramaic and post-biblical Hebrew, occurs in biblical Hebrew about 76 times and in all periods. This noun is frequently used in synonymous parallelism with °ebyon ("needy") and or dal ("poor"). It differs from both in emphasizing some kind of disability or distress. A hired servant as one who is in a lower (oppressive) social and material condition is described both as an °ebyon and ±ani: "Thou shalt not oppress a hired servant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates: At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the Lord, and it be sin unto thee" Deut 24:14-15. If wrongly oppressed, he can call on God for defense. Financially, the ±ani lives from day to day and is socially defenseless, being subject to oppression. In its first biblical occurrence the ±ani is guaranteed (if men obey God's law) his outer garment for warmth at night even though that garment might be held as collateral during the day: "If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shall not be to him as a usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury" Ex 22:25. The godly protect and deliver the "afflicted" Isa 10:2; Ezek 18:17, while the ungodly take advantage of them, increasing their oppressed condition Isa 58:7. The king is especially charged to protect the ±ani: "Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy" Prov 31:9.

±Ani can refer to one who is physically oppressed: "Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine" Isa 51:21.

Physical oppression is sometimes related to spiritual oppression as in Ps 22:24: "For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him...." Outward affliction frequently leads to inner spiritual affliction and results in an outcry to God: "Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me; for I am desolate and afflicted" Ps 25:16. Even apart from outward affliction, the pious are frequently described as the "afflicted" or "poor" for whom God provides: "Thy congregation hath dwelt therein: thou, O God, hast prepared of thy goodness for the poor" Ps 68:10. In such cases spiritual poverty and want are clearly in view.

Sometimes the word means "humble" or "lowly," as it does in Zech 9:9, where it describes the Messiah: "Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: he is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass..." (cf. Ps 18:27; Prov 3:34; Isa 66:2).

Related to ±ani is the noun ±oni, "affliction." It appears about 36 times and in all periods of biblical Hebrew. ±Oni represents the state of pain and or punishment resulting from affliction. In Deut 16:3 the shewbread is termed the bread of "affliction" because it is a physical reminder of sin, the cause of "affliction" Ps 25:18, the hardship involved in sin (especially the Egyptian bondage), and divine deliverance from sin Ps 119:50.

±Ani is also related to the word ±anawah, "humility, gentleness." This word occurs only 5 times, setting forth the two characteristics gained from affliction. Applied to God, it represents His submission to His own nature Ps 45:4.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

dal "one who is low, poor, reduced, helpless, weak." This noun also appears in Ugaritic. It occurs in biblical Hebrew about 47 times and in all periods.

Dal is related to, but differs from, ani (which suggests affliction of some kind), ebyon (which emphasizes need), and rash (which suggests destitution). The dallim constituted the middle class of Israel — those who were physically deprived (in the ancient world the majority of people were poor). For example, the dallim may be viewed as the opposite of the rich Ex 30:15; cf. Ruth 3:10; Prov 10:15.

In addition, the word may connote social poverty or lowliness. As such, dal describes those who are the counterparts of the great: "Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbor" Lev 19:15; cf. Amos 2:7.

When Gideon challenged the Lord's summoning him to deliver Israel, he emphasized that his clan was too weak to do the job: "And he said unto him, Oh my Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? behold, my family is poor in Manasseh..." Judg 6:15; cf. 2 Sam 3:1. God commands that society protect the poor, the lowly, and the weak: "Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment: neither shalt thou countenance a poor man in his cause" Ex 23:2-3; cf. Lev 14:21; Isa 10:2. He also warns that if men fail to provide justice, He will do so Isa 11:4.

A fourth emphasis appears in Gen 41:19 (the first biblical appearance of the word), where dal is contrasted to "healthy" or "fat": "And behold, seven other kine came up after them, poor and very ill-favored and leanfleshed..." Thus, dal indicates a physical condition and appearance of sickness. It is used in this sense to describe Amnon's appearance as he longed for Tamar 2 Sam 13:4.

Dal is used (very infrequently) of spiritual poverty (in such cases it is sometimes paralleled to ebyon): "Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the judgment of their God" Jer 5:4. Some scholars argue that here the word means "ignorance," and as the context shows, this is ignorance in the knowledge of God's word.

Another noun, dallah, is related to dal. Dallah, which appears about 8 times, means "poverty; dishevelled hair." The word appears in 2 Kings 24:14: "...none remained, save the poorest sort of the people of the land," where dallah emphasizes the social lowliness and "poverty" of those people whom it describes. In Song 7:5 the word refers to "dishevelled hair" in the sense of something that hangs down.

B. Verbs.

dalal "to be low, hang down." This verb appears only 8 times in the Bible and always in poetical passages. It has cognates or near cognates in Arabic, Ethiopic, Akkadian, and extra-biblical Hebrew. The word appears in Ps 79:8: "O remember not against us former iniquities: let thy tender mercies speedily prevent us; for we are brought very low."

anah "to afflict, oppress, humble." This verb, which also appears in Arabic, occurs about 74 times in biblical Hebrew and in every period. The first occurrence is in Gen 15:13: "Know of a surety that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them four hundred years."

C. Adjective.

anaw "humble; poor; meek." This adjective, which appears about 21 times in biblical Hebrew, is closely related to ani and derived from the same verb. Sometimes this word is synonymous with ani. Perhaps this is due to the well-known waw-yodh interchange. Anaw appears almost exclusively in poetical passages and describes the intended outcome of affliction from God, namely "humility." In its first appearance the word depicts the objective condition as well as the subjective stance of Moses. He was entirely dependent on God and saw that he was: "Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth" Num 12:3.

POOR

A. Adjectives.

1. ptochos for which see BEG, B, has the broad sense of "poor," (a) literally, e. g., Matt 11:5; 26:9,11; Luke 21:3 (with stress on the word, "a conspicuously poor widow"); John 12:5,6,8; 13:29; James 2:2,3,6; the "poor" are constantly the subjects of injunctions to assist them, Matt 19:21; Mark 10:21; Luke 14:13,21; 18:22; Rom 15:26; Gal 2:10; (b) metaphorically, Matt 5:3; Luke 6:20; Rev 3:17.

2. penichros akin to B, "needy, poor," is used of the widow in Luke 21:2 (cf. No. 1, of the same woman, in v. 3); it is used frequently in the papyri. In the Sept., Ex 22:25; Prov 28:15; 29:7.

B. Noun.

penes "a laborer" (akin to penomai, "to work for one's daily bread"), is translated "poor" in 2 Cor 9:9.

C. Verb.

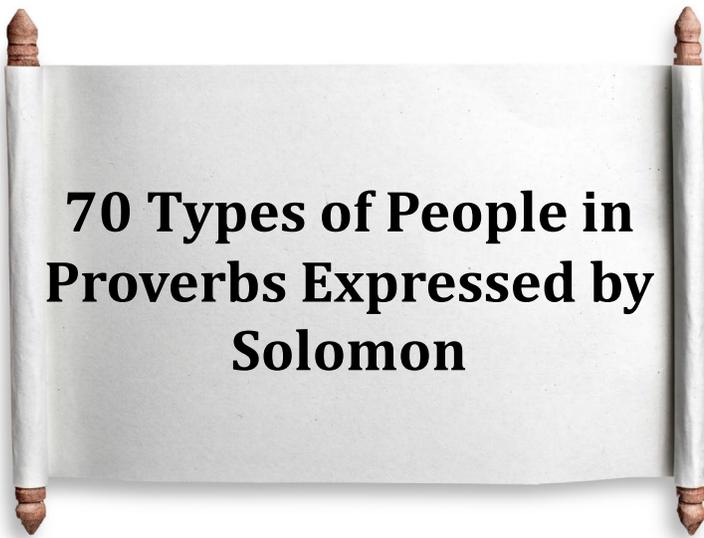

ptocheuo "to be poor as a beggar" (akin to A, No. 1), "to be destitute," is said of Christ in 2 Cor 8:9.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Diligent Person

A diligent person does not get sidetracked in life, career, business, work, occupation, etc.

They are extremely focused. They do not start to go in a path of life and then change because of:

- The fear of man
- The fear of loss
- The fear of failure

They do not cut and run. Many times just after a non-diligent person shoots the deer they refuse to eat it. The diligent person places exceeding value on what they have.

Proverbs 12:27

The slothful man roasteth not that which he took in hunting: but the substance of a diligent man is precious.

A Non-diligent person has desires that are not fulfilled.

It is a mental struggle. The mental issues of the diligent however are to place great value on results.

Proverbs 13:4

The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.

The diligent think in stages, not as a whole.

They are careful to first define concepts. Then strategize, then the major parts, then they organize the parts, then they staff, then direct, then control all with financial control. The diligent think in these stages which require patience. However the non-diligent tend to be quick to decide without having learned the art of thinking in stages.

Proverbs 21:5

The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness; but of every one that is hasty only to want.

A Diligent Person - Greek

spoudaios (spoo-dah'-yos); prompt, energetic, earnest:
KJV - diligent.

spoudaioteron (spoo-dah-yot'-er-on); as adverb; more earnestly than others), i.e. very promptly: KJV - very diligently.

spoudazo (spoo-dad'-zo); to use speed, i.e. to make effort, be prompt or earnest: KJV - do (give) diligence, be diligent (forward), endeavour, labour, study.

A. Nouns.

1. ergasia (a) lit., "a working" (akin to ergon, "work"), is indicative of a process, in contrast to the concrete, ergon, e. g., Eph 4:19, lit., "unto a working" (RV marg., "to make a trade of"); contrast ergon in v. 12; (b) "business," Acts 19:25, RV (for KJV, "craft"); or gain got by "work," Acts 16:16,19; 19:24; (c) endeavor, pains, "diligence," Luke 12:58. See CRAFT, GAIN, WORK.

2. spoude "earnestness, zeal," or sometimes "the haste accompanying this," Mark 6:25; Luke 1:39, is translated "diligence" in Rom 12:8; in v. 11, KJV, "business" (RV, "diligence"); in 2 Cor 8:7, KJV, "diligence," RV, "earnestness"; both have "diligence" in Heb 6:11; 2 Peter 1:5; Jude 3; in 2 Cor 7:11,12, RV, "earnest care," KJV, "carefulness," and "care." See CARE.

B. Verbs.

1. spoudazo has meanings corresponding to A, No. 2; it signifies "to hasten to do a thing, to exert oneself, endeavor, give diligence"; in Gal 2:10, of remembering the poor, KJV, "was forward," RV, "was zealous"; in Eph 4:3, of keeping the unity of the Spirit, KJV "endeavoring," RV, "giving diligence"; in 1 Thess 2:17, of going to see friends, "endeavored"; in 2 Tim 4:9,21, "do thy diligence"; in the following the RV uses the verb "to give diligence": 2 Tim 2:15, KJV, "study"; Titus 3:12, KJV, "be diligent"; Heb 4:11, of keeping continuous Sabbath rest, KJV, "let us labor"; in 2 Peter 1:10, of making our calling and election sure; in 2 Peter 1:15, of enabling believers to call Scripture truth to remembrance, KJV, "endeavour"; in 2 Peter 3:14, of being found in peace without fault and blameless, when the Lord comes, KJV, be diligent. See ENDEAVOR, FORWARD, LABOR, STUDY, ZEALOUS.

2. meletao NT:3191, signifies "to care for, attend carefully" (from melete, "care"); in 1 Tim 4:15, KJV, "meditate," RV, "be diligent in"; in Acts 4:25, "imagine" (marg., "meditate"), in Mark 13:11, the most authentic mss. have promerimnao. See IMAGINE, MEDITATE.

C. Adjectives.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Diligent Person

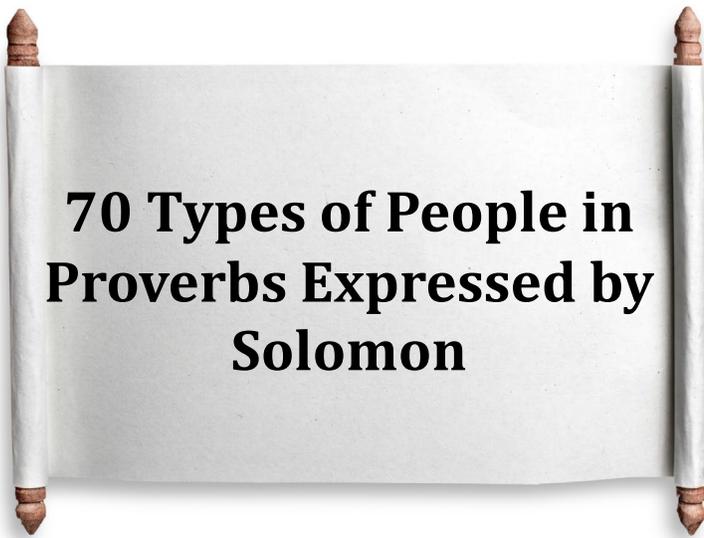

1. spoudaios No. 2 and B, No. 1, primarily signifies "in haste"; hence, diligent, earnest, zealous, 2 Cor 8:22, KJV, "diligent, RV, "earnest." See EARNEST FORWARD. In the Sept., Ezek 41:25, "stout (planks)."
2. spoudaioteros the comparative degree of No. 1, 2 Cor 8:22, KJV, "more diligent," RV, "more earnest", in v. 17 KJV, "more forward," RV, "very earnest." See EARNEST; cf. FORWARD.

D. Adverbs.

1. epimelos from epi intensive, and an adverbial form of the impersonal verb melei, "it is a care" (cf. B, No. 2), signifies "carefully, diligently," Luke 15:8.
 2. pugme NT:4435, the dative case of pugme, "a fist," lit. means "with the fist" (one hand being rubbed with the clenched fist of the other), a metaphorical expression for "thoroughly," in contrast to what is superficial; Mark 7:3, RV and KJV marg., "diligently" (KJV, text, "oft"). It also signified "boxing" (not in the NT); cf. puktes and pugmachos, "a boxer" (Lat., pugnus and pugno; Eng., "pugilist"). In the Sept., Ex 21:18; Isa 58:4.
 3. spoudaios "speedily, earnestly, diligently" (cf. the corresponding noun, verb and adjective above), is translated "earnestly" in the RV of Luke 7:4 (KJV, "instantly"); "diligently" in Titus 3:13. See INSTANTLY.
 4. spoudaioteros the comparative degree of No. 3, "more diligently," is used in Phil 2:28, RV, "the more diligently" (KJV, "the more carefully"). See CAREFULLY.
- Notes: (1) Some mss. have the neuter of the comparative adjective spoudaioteron in 2 Tim 1:17. The most authentic texts have the adverb No. 4.
- (2) Akribos NT:199, means "accurately, exactly." The KJV translates it "diligently" in Matt 2:8 and Acts 18:25; "perfectly" in 1 Thess 5:2 (cf. Luke 1:3). See ACCURATELY, CAREFUL, CIRCUMSPECTLY, PERFECTLY.

A Rich Person

Rich and Wealthy People

This study gives insight into both the good and bad of riches. It is almost a test to have riches. No wonder the wisest person who lived said:

Proverbs 30:7-9

Two things have I required of thee; deny me them not before I die: ⁸ Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me: ⁹ Lest I be full, and deny thee, and say, Who is the LORD ? or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain.

Visible Signs of Rich People

If a rich person walks correctly it will result in God's blessing. To walk correctly "also" has honor and life. This applies to people, business, churches, ministries, and government.

If there is money, but a lack of honor it can be headed towards evil.

Proverbs 15:6

In the house of the righteous is much treasure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.

If there is money and people show honor to the person, business, church, or ministry but the rich person cannot sleep, a man is generally hidden and honor may go away. Eventually, possibly a crisis with a loss of life.

Proverbs 10:22

The blessing of the LORD , it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it.

Proverbs 14:20

The poor is hated even of his own neighbour: but the rich hath many friends.

Proverbs 11:4

Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteousness delivereth from death.

Proverbs 13:11

Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished: but he that gathereth by labour shall increase.

The Correct Process

Proverbs 10:4

He becometh poor that dealeth with a slack hand: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

Proverbs 22:2

The rich and poor meet together: the LORD is the maker of them all.

Proverbs 3:16

Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour.

Proverbs 12:27

The slothful man roasteth not that which he took in hunting: but the substance of a diligent man is precious.

Proverbs 24:4

And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

Proverbs 30:8

Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me:

Ecclesiastes 5:18

Behold that which I have seen: it is good and comely for one to eat and to drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labour that he taketh under the sun all the days of his life, which God giveth him: for it is his portion.

God gave Solomon a choice. He responded this way:

II Chronicles 1:7-12

In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee. 8 And Solomon said unto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead. 9 Now, O LORD God, let thy promise unto David my father be established: for thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude. 10 Give me now wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people that is so great? 11 And God said to Solomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life; but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for thyself, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king: 12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee; and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, such as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither shall there any after thee have the like.

Solomon was granted riches, wealth, and honor (not life). Later when he wrote Proverbs, he realized the better way and had riches, honor, and life.

Proverbs 22:4

By humility and the fear of the LORD are riches, and honour, and life.

Later he realized the serious implication of having riches and wrote:

Proverbs 30:7-9

Two things have I required of thee; deny me them not before I die: 8 Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me: 9 Lest I be full, and deny thee, and say, Who is the LORD ? or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain.

As time went on and he watched others that had riches he observed the following:

Ecclesiastes 5:10-14

He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity. 11 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, saving the beholding of them with their eyes? 12 The sleep of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much: but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep. 13 There is a sore evil which I have seen under the sun, namely, riches kept for the owners thereof to their hurt. 14 But those riches perish by evil travail: and he begetteth a son, and there is nothing in his hand.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Ecclesiastes 6:2

A man to whom God hath given riches, wealth, and honour, so that he wanteth nothing for his soul of all that he desireth, yet God giveth him not power to eat thereof, but a stranger eateth it: this is vanity, and it is an evil disease.

Ecclesiastes 2:1-11

I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will prove thee with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure: and, behold, this also is vanity. 2 I said of laughter, It is mad: and of mirth, What doeth it? 3 I sought in mine heart to give myself unto wine, yet acquainting mine heart with wisdom; and to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was that good for the sons of men, which they should do under the heaven all the days of their life. 4 I made me great works; I builded me houses; I planted me vineyards: 5 I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kind of fruits: 6 I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees: 7 I got me servants and maidens, and had servants born in my house; also I had great possessions of great and small cattle above all that were in Jerusalem before me: 8 I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings and of the provinces: I gat me men singers and women singers, and the delights of the sons of men, as musical instruments, and that of all sorts. 9 So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem: also my wisdom remained with me. 10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired I kept not from them, I withheld not my heart from any joy; for my heart rejoiced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my labour. 11 Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun.

Ecclesiastes 4:6

Better is an handful with quietness, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of spirit.

Ecclesiastes 9:7-11

Go thy way, eat thy bread with joy, and drink thy wine with a merry heart; for God now accepteth thy works. 8 Let thy garments be always white; and let thy head lack no ointment. 9 Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sun. 10 Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest. 11 I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all.

James 5:1-7

Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. 2 Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are motheaten. 3 Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days. 4 Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth. 5 Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter. 6 Ye have condemned and killed the just; and he doth not resist you. 7 Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain.

Insights to James 5:1-7

If a person lacks honor and life, then their riches are at risk.

1	Does the rich person have a problem being brash or angry or does he threaten others?
2	Has he kept people from being paid for any work done when they have it coming? (To defraud)
3	Do they delay paying when they can?
4	Do they force their way?
5	Pride/ arrogance/ unreasonable – These three (3) are the essence of evil. (i.e.,) Proverbs 8:13 The fear of the LORD is to hate evil: pride, and arrogancy, and the evil way, and the froward (unreasonable) mouth, do I hate.
6	Is their honor going down?
7	Is the “life” of the person draining with tough relationships and trouble sleeping or is it tough getting mental rest?

The Rich Borrow

The Wealthy may borrow, but do not sign personally

The Rich are at Risk

The focus is not to be rich but to be obedient and diligent.

As riches come (if they do) the ability to move to honor and life or to stay with riches without honor and/or a life is the crises for the person.

The Question to Ask is:

Does he move to righteousness or evil?

Proverbs 11:28

He that trusteth in his riches shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a branch.

Revelation 3:17

Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:

Are the fruits of the Holy Spirit in your life?

Matthew 13:22

He also that received seed among the thorns is he that heareth the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful.

Would People say you are easy to get along with or prideful and arrogant?

I Timothy 6:17

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy;

Be careful how you view riches.

James 5:2

What if God selects "you" to work with? Or be the example to the rich man who is getting difficult? You say why? Why not!

Romans 8:32

He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?

Why would He spare you but instead give you to help the rich man going astray?

God is hoping you will help this rich man change his ways. God's goodness gives you the opportunity to hopefully lead the rich man to repentance.

I Corinthians 6:1-8

Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? 2 Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters? 3 Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life? 4 If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church. 5 I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? 6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers. 7 Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded? 8 Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.

A Rich Person - Hebrew

hon "wealth; substance; riches; possessions; enough." The 26 occurrences of this word are almost wholly in wisdom literature, with 17 of them in the Book of Proverbs. This word appears only in the singular form.

Hon usually refers to movable goods considered as "wealth": "But if he [the thief] be found, he shall restore seven-fold; he shall give all the substance of his house" Prov 6:31; cf. Ezek 27:12. "Wealth" can be good and a sign of blessing: "Wealth and riches shall be in his [the righteous man's] house: and his righteousness endureth for ever" Ps 112:3. The creation is God's wealth: "I have rejoiced in the way of thy testimonies, as much as in all riches" Ps 119:14. In the Proverbs "wealth" is usually an indication of ungodliness: "The rich man's wealth is his strong city: the destruction of the poor is their poverty" Prov 10:15.

This word can also represent any kind of concrete "wealth": "...if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned" Song 8:7. This is the significance of the word in its first occurrence: "Thou sellest thy people for nought and dost not increase thy wealth by their price" Ps 44:12. "Wealth" in general is meant in Prov 12:27: "The slothful man roasteth not that which he took in hunting; but the substance of a diligent man is precious."

Finally, hon means "enough" (only in Prov 30:15-16): "The horseleech hath two daughters, crying, Give, Give. There are three things that are never satisfied, yea, four things say not, It is enough: the grave; and the barren womb; the earth that is not filled with water; and the fire that saith not, It is enough."

HONOR

kabed, "heavy; numerous; severe; rich." The adjective kabed occurs about 40 times. Basically this adjective connotes "heavy." In Ex 17:12 the word is used of physical weight: "But Moses' hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon; and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands...." This adjective bears the connotation of heaviness as an enduring, ever-present quality, a lasting thing. Used in a negative but extended sense, the word depicts sin as a yoke ever pressing down upon one: "For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as a heavy burden they are too heavy for me" Ps 38:4. A task can be described as "heavy" Ex 18:18. Moses argued his inability to lead God's people out of Egypt because he was "slow of speech, and of a slow tongue"; his speech or tongue was not smooth-flowing but halting (heavy; Ex 4:10). This use of kabed appears with an explanation in Ezek 3:6, where God is describing the people to whom Ezekiel is to minister: "...not to many people of a strange speech and of a hard language, whose words thou canst not understand." Another nuance of this word appears in Ex 7:14, where it is applied to Pharaoh's heart: "Pharaoh's heart is hardened, he refuseth to let the people go." In all such contexts kabed depicts a burden which weighs down one's body (or some part of it) so that one is either disabled or unable to function successfully.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A second series of passages uses this word of something that falls upon or overcomes one. So God sent upon Egypt a "heavy" hail Ex 9:18, a "great" swarm of insects 8:24, "numerous" locusts, and a "severe" pestilence 9:3. The first appearance of the word belongs to this category: "...the famine was [severe] in the land" of Egypt Gen 12:10.

Used with a positive connotation, kabed can describe the amount of "riches" one has: "And Abram was very rich in cattle, in silver, and in gold" Gen 13:2. In Gen 50:9 the word is used to modify a group of people, "a very great company." The next verse uses kabed in the sense of "imposing" or "ponderous": "...they mourned with a great and very sore lamentation...."

This adjective is never used of God.

A Rich Person - Greek

RICH, RICHES, RICHLY, RICH MAN

Adjective

plousios, akin to B, C, No. 1, "rich, wealthy," is used (I) literally, (a) adjectivally (with a noun expressed separately) in Matt 27:57; Luke 12:16; 14:12; 16:1,19; (without a noun), 18:23; 19:2; (b) as a noun, singular, a "rich" man (the noun not being expressed), Matt 19:23,24; Mark 10:25; 12:41; Luke 16:21,22; 18:25; James 1:10,11, "the rich," "the rich (man)"; plural, Mark 12:41, lit., "rich (ones)"; Luke 6:24 (ditto); 21:1; 6:17, "(them that are) rich," lit., "(the) rich"; James 2:6, RV, "the rich"; 5:1, RV, "ye rich"; Rev 6:15 and 13:16, RV, "the rich"; (II), metaphorically, of God, Eph 2:4 ("in mercy"); of Christ, 2 Cor 8:9; of believers, James 2:5, RV, "(to be) rich (in faith)"; Rev 2:9, of spiritual "enrichment" generally; 3:17, of a false sense of "enrichment."

Verbs

1. plouteo, "to be rich," in the aorist or point tense, "to become rich," is used (a) literally, Luke 1:53, "the rich," present participle, lit., "(ones or those) being rich"; 1 Tim 6:9,18; Rev 18:3,15,19 (all three in the aorist tense); (b) metaphorically, of Christ, Rom 10:12 (the passage stresses the fact that Christ is Lord; see v. 9, and the RV); of the "enrichment" of believers through His poverty, 2 Cor 8:9 (the aorist tense expressing completeness, with permanent results); so in Rev 3:18, where the spiritual "enrichment" is conditional upon righteousness of life and conduct (see GOLD, No. 2); of a false sense of "enrichment," 1 Cor 4:8 (aorist), RV, "ye are become rich" (KJV, "ye are rich"); Rev 3:17 (perfect tense, RV, "I... have gotten riches," KJV, "I am... increased with goods"), see GOODS, Note (3); of not being "rich" toward God, Luke 12:21.

2. ploutizo, "to make rich, enrich," is rendered "making (many) rich" in 2 Cor 6:10 (metaphorical of "enriching" spiritually). See ENRICH.

RICH

1. ploutos is used in the singular (I) of material "riches," used evilly, Matt 13:22; Mark 4:19; Luke 8:14; 1 Tim 6:17; James 5:2; Rev 18:17; (II) of spiritual and moral "riches," (a) possessed by God and exercised towards men, Rom 2:4, "of His goodness and forbearance and longsuffering"; 9:23 and Eph 3:16, "of His glory" (i. e., of its manifestation in grace towards believers); Rom 11:33, of His wisdom and knowledge; Eph 1:7 and 2:7, "of His grace"; 1:18, "of the glory of His inheritance in the saints"; 3:8, "of Christ"; Phil 4:19, "in glory in Christ Jesus," RV; Col 1:27, "of the glory of this mystery... Christ in you, the hope of glory"; (b) to be ascribed to Christ, Rev 5:12; (c) of the effects of the gospel upon the Gentiles, Rom 11:12 (twice); (d) of the full assurance of understanding in regard to the mystery of God, even Christ, Col 2:2, RV; (e) of the liberality of the churches of Macedonia, 2 Cor 8:2 (where "the riches" stands for the spiritual and moral value of their liberality); (f) of "the reproach of Christ" in contrast to this world's treasures, Heb 11:26.

2. chrema "what one uses or needs" (chraomai, "to use"), "a matter, business," hence denotes "riches," Mark 10:23,24; Luke 18:24; see MONEY, No. 2.

Adverb

plousios, "richly, abundantly," akin to A, is used in Col 3:16; 1 Tim 6:17; Titus 3:6, RV, "richly" (KJV, "abundantly"); 2 Peter 1:11 (ditto).

WEALTH

euporia, primarily "facility" (eu, "well," poros, "a passage"), hence "plenty, wealth," occurs in Acts 19:25. Cf. euporeo, "to be well provided for, to prosper," Acts 11:29.

Note: In 1 Cor 10:24, the KJV, "wealth," RV, "good," is, lit., "the (thing) of the other."

An unjust man is an abomination to the just: and he that is upright in the way is abomination to the wicked.

Ecclesiastes 3:17

I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work.

Ecclesiastes 7:15

All things have I seen in the days of my vanity: there is a just man that perisheth in his righteousness, and there is a wicked man that longeth his life in his wickedness.

Ecclesiastes 8:10

And so I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the city where they had so done: this is also vanity.

Ecclesiastes 8:13-14

But it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his days, which are as a shadow; because he feareth not before God. 14 There is a vanity which is done upon the earth; that there be just men, unto whom it happeneth according to the work of the wicked; again, there be wicked men, to whom it happeneth according to the work of the righteous: I said that this also is vanity.

Ecclesiastes 9:2

All things come alike to all: there is one event to the righteous, and to the wicked; to the good and to the clean, and to the unclean; to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner; and he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

Isaiah 3:11

Woe unto the wicked! it shall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be given him.

Isaiah 5:23

Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him!

Isaiah 11:4

But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

Isaiah 13:11

And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible.

Isaiah 14:5

The LORD hath broken the staff of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers.

Isaiah 26:10

Let favour be shewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness: in the land of uprightness will he deal unjustly, and will not behold the majesty of the LORD.

Isaiah 48:22

There is no peace, saith the LORD, unto the wicked.

Isaiah 53:9

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Isaiah 55:7

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

Isaiah 57:20-21

But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt. 21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

Jeremiah 5:26

For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait, as he that setteth snares; they set a trap, they catch men.

Jeremiah 12:1

Righteous art thou, O LORD, when I plead with thee: yet let me talk with thee of thy judgments: Wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? wherefore are all they happy that deal very treacherously?

Jeremiah 23:19

Behold, a whirlwind of the LORD is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind: it shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked.

Jeremiah 25:31

A noise shall come even to the ends of the earth; for the LORD hath a controversy with the nations, he will plead with all flesh; he will give them that are wicked to the sword, saith the LORD.

Jeremiah 30:23

Behold, the whirlwind of the LORD goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

Ezekiel 3:18-19

When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. 19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul.

Ezekiel 7:21

And I will give it into the hands of the strangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a spoil; and they shall pollute it.

Ezekiel 13:22

Because with lies ye have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad; and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, by promising him life:

Ezekiel 18:20-21

The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him.

21 But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

Ezekiel 18:23-24

Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord GOD: and not that he should return from his ways, and live? 24 But when the righteous turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? All his righteousness that he hath done shall not be mentioned: in his trespass that he hath trespassed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

Ezekiel 18:27

Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive.

Ezekiel 21:3-4

And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked. 4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of his sheath against all flesh from the south to the north:

Whiles they see vanity unto thee, whiles they divine a lie unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked, whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

Ezekiel 33:8-9

When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. 9 Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul.

Ezekiel 33:11-12

Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel? 12 Therefore, thou son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedness; neither shall the righteous be able to live for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

Ezekiel 33:14-15

Again, when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; if he turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and right; 15 If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.

Ezekiel 33:19

But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

Daniel 12:10

Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.

Micah 6:10

Are there yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

Habakkuk 1:4

Conclusion

An Unjust Person: Talks deceitfully, openly speaks deceit, they judge unjustly, they get angry but it will fail, they will reap what they sow, they do not follow God's ways, they are stubborn, they dig up dirt in dealings, they conceive bad things, they do not know the truth of issues, they speak peace but have a heart of evil ways, they stir up trouble, they will be scattered, they brag of themselves, they are unreasonable, then dream up bad things that will happen, their hope goes away, they lie, they reap foolish things, they are greedy and handle money in a difficult way, they become bound by their own ways, they get rewarded for their ways, they defraud others,

An Ungodly Person: can be forceful in a bad way, they are unreasonable, they dig up evil ideas, scorn judgment, they persecute the poor, boast, full of pride, strike out at people, will oppress others, They will over time be dealt with, they plot against good people, they go after people, they borrow and do not pay back, they try to do in good people, they will be cut off, they can prosper for some time, we are not to accept them, they will reap what they sow, they lie, they forsake God's ways, try to destroy others, try to set a snare for people and for a while it will look as if they will win, their "fruit" is sin, their heart is little worth, they will not live a full life, their expectations will fall apart, they are unreasonable, when in charge they are a problem, they deceive, they give bad advice, when they tend to be nice it is not going to end nice. They are loathsome, they will be over thrown, they are trouble, they pour out evil, they refuse to do what is right. They stand against doing a right thing to help others, they hide who they really are, they deal unjustly, and they have no peace.

Unjust & Ungodly Person - Greek

adikos "not in conformity with dike. 'right,'" is rendered "unjust" in the KJV and RV in Matthew 5:45; Luke 18:11; Acts 24:15; elsewhere for the KJV "unjust" the RV has "unrighteous. See UNRIGHTEOUS.

Note: For adikeo, "to be unrighteous," or "do unrighteousness," Revelation 22:11, RV, and adikia, "unrighteous," Luke 16:8 and 18:6, RV, see UNRIGHTEOUSNESS.

rasha` "wicked; ungodly; guilty." Rasha` occurs only in Hebrew and late Aramaic. The word occurs about 260 times as a noun or an adjective and especially in the poetic literature of the Old Testament. It is rare in the Pentateuch and in the historical books. Its frequency increases in the prophetic books.

The narrow meaning of rasha` lies in the concept of "wrongdoing" or "being in the wrong." It is a legal term. The person who has sinned against the law is guilty: "They that forsake the law praise the wicked: but such as keep the law contend with them" Proverbs 28:4. When in Israel's history justice did not prevail, the "guilty" were acquitted: "...when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn" Proverbs 29:2; cf. II Chronicles 6:23.

Rasha` also denotes the category of people who have done wrong, are still living in sin, and are intent on continuing with wrongdoing. This is the more general meaning of the word. The first psalm exhorts the godly not to imitate the deeds and behavior of the ungodly, wicked people. The "wicked" does not seek God Psalms 10:4; he challenges God Psalms 10:13. In his way of life the "wicked" loves violence Psalms 11:5, oppresses the righteous Psalms 17:9, does not repay his debts Psalms 37:21, and lays a snare to trap the righteous Psalms 119:110. Psalms 37 gives a vivid description of the acts of the "wicked" and also of God's judgment upon them. Facing the terrible force of the "wicked," the righteous prayed for God's deliverance and for His judgment upon them. This theme of judgment has already been anticipated in Psalms 1:6: "For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish." The expectation of the righteous includes God's judgment on the "wicked" in this life that they might be ashamed Psalms 31:17, be overcome by sorrows Psalms 32:10, fall by their devices Psalms 141:10, and die a premature death Proverbs 10:27, and that their remembrance will be no more Proverbs 10:7. It is expected that at the time of their death there will be great shouting: "When it goeth well with the righteous, the city rejoiceth: when the wicked perish, there is shouting" Proverbs 11:10.

The judgment upon the "wicked" is particularly strong in Proverbs, where the authors contrast the advantages of wisdom and righteousness and the disadvantages of the "wicked" (cf. 2:22: "But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it"). In Job another theme finds expression: why are the "wicked" not cut off? "Wherefore do

An Unjust & Ungodly Person

the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power?" 21:7. There is no clear answer to this question in the Old Testament. Malachi predicts a new age in which the distinction of the righteous and the "wicked" will be clear and where the righteous will triumph: "Then shall ye return, and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that seNeth him not" Malachi 3:18.

The Septuagint has three translations of rasa`: asebes ("godless; impious"); hamartolos ("sinner; sinful"), and anomos ("lawless").

Two other related nouns occur in the Old Testament. Resha`, which is found about 30 times, usually means "wickedness": "Remember thy servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; look not unto the stubbornness of this people, nor to their wickedness, nor to their sin" Deuteronomy 9:27. Rish`ah, which appears about 15 times, refers to "wickedness" or "guilt": "For my righteousness the Lord hath brought me in to possess this land: but for the wickedness of these nations the Lord doth drive them out from before thee" Deuteronomy 9:4.

B. Adjective.

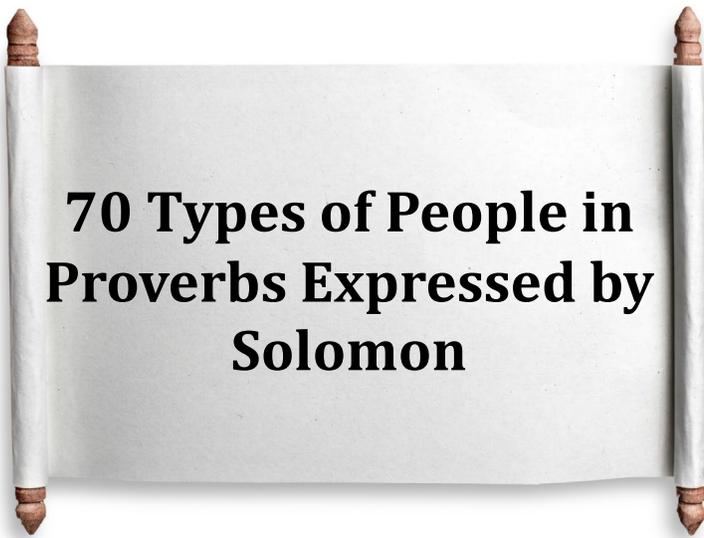

rasha` "wicked; guilty." This word may also be used as an adjective. In some cases a person is so guilty that he deserves death: "...if the wicked man be worthy to be beaten, that the judge shall cause him to lie down, and to be beaten before his face... by a certain number" Deuteronomy 25:2. The characteristics of a "wicked" person qualify him as a godless, impious man: "How much more, when wicked men have slain a righteous person in his own house upon his bed? shall I not therefore now require his blood of your hand, and take you away from the earth?" II Samuel 4:11; cf. Ezekiel 3:18-19.

C. Verb.

rasha` "to be wicked, act wickedly." This verb is derived from the noun rasa`. There is a similar root in Ethiopic and Arabic, with the respective meanings "to forget" and "to be loose." This verb appears in II Chronicles 6:37: "Yet if they bethink themselves in the land whither they are carried captive, and turn and pray unto thee in the

Job 20:5

That the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment?

Job 27:8

For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul?

Job 34:30

That the hypocrite reign not, lest the people be ensnared.

Proverbs 11:9

An hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered.

Proverbs 23:28

She also lieth in wait as for a prey, and increaseth the transgressors among men.

Proverbs 28:12

When righteous men do rejoice, there is great glory: but when the wicked rise, a man is hidden.
(a hypocrite is hidden)

Proverbs 29:23

A man's pride shall bring him low: but honour shall uphold the humble in spirit.

Isaiah 32:6

“For the vile person will speak villainy, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice *hypocrisy, and to utter error against the Lord, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail.”

Matthew 7:5

Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.

Matthew 22:18

But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

Mark 7:6

He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.

I Timothy 4:2

Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron;

I Peter 2:1

Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speaking.

HYPOCRITE – Hebrew

MAN

A. Nouns.

‘adam OT:120, "man; mankind; people; someone (indefinite); Adam (the first man)." This noun appears in Ugaritic, Phoenician, and Punic. A word with the same radicals occurs in old South Arabic meaning "serf." In late Arabic the same radicals mean not only "mankind" but "all creation." Akkadian admu signifies "child." The Hebrew word appears about 562 times and in all periods of biblical Hebrew.

This noun is related to the verb ‘adam, "to be red," and therefore probably relates to the original ruddiness of human skin. The noun connotes "man" as the creature created in God's image, the crown of all creation. In its first appearance ‘adam is used for mankind, or generic man: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness..." Gen 1:26. In Gen 2:7 the word refers to the first "man," Adam: "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul."

Throughout Gen 2:5-5:5 there is a constant shifting and interrelationship between the generic and the individual uses. "Man" is distinguished from the rest of the creation insofar as he was created by a special and immediate act of God: he alone was created in the image of God Gen 1:27. He consisted of two elements, the material and the nonmaterial Gen 2:7. From the outset he occupied an exalted position over the rest of the earthly creation and was promised an even higher position (eternal life) if he obeyed God: "And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth" Gen 1:28; cf. 2:16-17. In Gen 1 "man" is depicted as the goal and crown of creation, while in Gen 2 the world is shown to have been created as the scene of human activity. "Man" was in God's image with reference to his soul and or spirit. (He is essentially spiritual; he has an invisible and immortal aspect which is simple or indivisible.) Other elements of this image are his mind and will, intellectual and moral integrity (he was created with true knowledge, righteousness, and holiness), his body (this was seen as a fit organ to share immortality with man's soul and the means by which dominion over the creation was exercised), and dominion over the rest of the creation.

The Fall greatly affected the nature of "man," but he did not cease to be in God's image Gen 9:6. Fallen "man" occupies a new and lower position before God: "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually" Gen 6:5; cf. 8:21. No longer does "man" have perfect communion with the Creator; he is now under the curse of sin and death. Original knowledge, righteousness, and holiness are destroyed. Restoration to his proper place in the creation and relationship to the Creator comes only through spiritual union with the Christ, the second Adam Rom 5:12-21. In some later passages of Scripture 'adam is difficult to distinguish from 'ish — man as the counterpart of woman and or as distinguished in his maleness.

Sometimes 'adam identifies a limited and particular "group of men": "Behold, waters rise up out of the north, and shall be an overflowing flood, and shall overflow the land [of the Philistines], and all that is therein; the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men [used in the singular] shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl" Jer 47:2. When used of a particular group of individual "men," the noun appears in the phrase "sons of men": "And the Lord came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded" Gen 11:5. The phrase "son of man" usually connotes a particular individual: "God is not a man ['ish], that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent..." Num 23:19; cf. Ezek 2:1. The one notable exception is the use of this term in Dan 7:13-14: "I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man ['enos] came with the clouds of heaven.... His dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away..." Here the phrase represents a divine being.

'Adam is also used in reference to any given man, or to anyone male or female: "When a man [anyone] shall have in the skin of his flesh a rising, a scab, or bright spot, and it be in the skin of his flesh like the plague of leprosy; then he shall be brought unto Aaron..." Lev 13:2.

The noun 'odem means "ruby." This word occurs 3 times and in Hebrew only. It refers to the red stone, the "ruby" in Ex 28:17: "...the first row shall be a sardius ['odem], a topaz, and a carbuncle...."

geber OT:1397, "man." This word occurs 60 times in the Hebrew Old Testament, and its frequency of usage is higher (32 times, nearly half of all the occurrences) in the poetical books. The word occurs first in Ex 10:11: "Not so: go now ye that are men, and serve the Lord; for that ye did desire."

The root meaning "to be strong" is no longer obvious in the usage of geber, since it is a synonym of 'ish: "Thus saith the Lord, Write ye this man ['ish] childless, a man [geber] that shall not prosper in his days: for no man of his seed shall prosper, sitting upon the throne of David..." Jer 22:30. Other synonyms are zakar, "male" Jer 30:6; 'enos, "man" Job 4:17; and 'adam, "man" Job 14:10. A geber denotes a "male," as an antonym of a "woman"; cf. "The woman [ishshah] shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man [geber] put on a woman's [ishshah] garment: for all that do so are abomination unto the Lord thy God" Deut 22:5.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Hypocrite

In standardized expressions of curse and blessing geber also functions as a synonym for 'ish, "man." The expression may begin with "Cursed be the man" (geber; Jer 17:5) or "Blessed is the man" (geber; Ps 34:8), but these same expressions also occur with 'ish Ps 1:1; Deut 27:15.

The Septuagint gives the following translations: aner ("man"); anthropos ("human being; man"); and dunatos ("powerful or strong ones").

'ish OT:376, "man; husband; mate; human being; human; somebody; each; every." Cognates of this word appear in Phoenician, Punic, old Aramaic, and old South Arabic. This noun occurs about 2,183 times and in all periods of biblical Hebrew. The plural of this noun is usually 'anashim, but 3 times it is 'ishim Ps 53:3.

Basically, this word signifies "man" in correspondence to woman; a "man" is a person who is distinguished by maleness. This emphasis is in Gen 2:24 (the first biblical occurrence): "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife...." Sometimes the phrase "man and woman" signifies anyone whatsoever, including children: "If an ox gore a man or a woman, that they die: then the ox shall be surely stoned..." Ex 21:28. This phrase can also connote an inclusive group, including children: "And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword" Josh 6:21. This idea is sometimes more explicitly expressed by the word series "men, women, and children": "Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates..." Deut 31:12.

'Ish is often used in marriage contexts (cf. Gen 2:24) meaning "husband" or "mate": "Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters..." Jer 29:6. A virgin is described as a lass who has not known a "man" ("husband"): "...and she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains. And it came to pass at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed: and she knew no man" Judg 11:38-39. The sense "mate" appears in Gen 7:2, where the word represents male animals: "Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female...."

One special nuance of 'ish appears in passages such as Gen 3:6, where it means "husband," or one responsible for a wife or woman and revered by her: "[And she] gave also unto her husband with her: and he did eat." This emphasis is in Hos 2:16 where it is applied to God (cf. the Hebrew word ba'al).

Sometimes this word connotes that the one so identified is a "man" par excellence. As such he is strong, influential, and knowledgeable in battle: "Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews..." 1 Sam 4:9.

In a few places 'ish is used as a synonym of "father": "We are all sons of one man..." Gen 42:11, RSV. In other passages the word is applied to a son (cf. Gen 2:24).

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Hypocrite

In the plural the word can be applied to groups of men who serve or obey a superior. Pharaoh's men escorted Abraham: "And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they sent him away..." Gen 12:20. In a similar but more general sense, the word may identify people who belong to someone or something: "For all these abominations have the men of the land done, which were before you, and the land is defiled" Lev 18:27.

Infrequently (and in later historical literature) this word is used as a collective noun referring to an entire group: "And his servant said,... Should I set this before a hundred men?" 2 Kings 4:43.

Many passages use 'ish in the more general or generic sense of "man" ('adam), a human being: "He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death" Ex 21:12. Even if one strikes a woman or child and he or she dies, the attacker should be put to death. Again, notice Deut 27:15: "Cursed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image...." This is the sense of the word when it is contrasted with animals: "But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast..." Ex 11:7. The same nuance appears when man over against God is in view: "God is not a man, that he should lie..." Num 23:19.

Sometimes 'ish is indefinite, meaning "somebody" or "someone" ("they"): "And I will make thy seed as the dust of the earth: so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered" Gen 13:16. In other passages the word suggests the meaning "each" Gen 40:5. Closely related to the previous nuance is the connotation "every" Jer 23:35.

The word 'ishon means "little man." This diminutive form of the noun, which appears 3 times, has a cognate in Arabic. Although it literally means "little man," it signifies the pupil of the eye and is so translated (cf. Deut 32:10, NASB; RSV and KJV, "apple of his eye").

'enosh OT:582, "man." This common Semitic word is the usual word for "man" (generic) in biblical Aramaic (This meaning is served by Hebrew 'adam). It occurs 25 times in biblical Aramaic and 42 times in biblical Hebrew. Hebrew uses 'enosh exclusively in poetical passages. The only apparent exception is 2 Chron 14:11, but this is a prayer and, therefore uses poetical words.

'Enosh never appears with the definite article and at all times except once Ps 144:3 sets forth a collective idea, "man." In most cases where the word occurs in Job and the Psalms it suggests the frailty, vulnerability, and finitude of "man" as contrasted to God: "As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth" Ps 103:15. As such "man" cannot be righteous or holy before God: "Shall mortal man be more just than God? Shall a man be more pure than his Maker?" Job 4:17. In the Psalms this word is used to indicate the enemy: "Arise, O Lord; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in thy sight" Ps 9:19. Here the parallelism shows that 'enosh is synonymous with "nations," or the enemy. They are, therefore, presented as weak, vulnerable, and finite: "Put them in fear, O Lord: that the nations may know themselves to be but men" Ps 9:20.

Hypocrite

'Enosh may connote "men" as weak but not necessarily morally weak: "Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the son of man that layeth hold of it" Isa 56:2. In this passage the 'enosh is blessed because he has been morally strong.

In a few places the word bears no moral overtones and represents "man" in a sense parallel to Hebrew 'adam. He is finite as contrasted to the infinite God: "I said, I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men" Deut 32:26 — the first biblical occurrence.

bachur OT:970, "young man." The 44 occurrences of this word are scattered throughout every period of biblical Hebrew.

This word signifies the fully developed, vigorous, unmarried man. In its first occurrence bachur is contrasted to betulah, "maiden": "The sword without, and terror within, shall destroy both the young man and the virgin, the suckling also with the man of gray hairs" Deut 32:25. The strength of the "young man" is contrasted with the gray hair (crown of honor) of old men Prov 20:29.

The period during which a "young man" is in his prime (could this be the period during which he is eligible for the draft — i. e., age 20- 50?) is represented by the two nouns, bechurim and bechurot, both of which occur only once. Bechurim is found in Num 11:28.

B. Verb.

bachar OT:977, "to examine, choose, select, choose out, elect, prefer." This verb, which occurs 146 times in biblical Hebrew, has cognates in late Aramaic and Coptic. The poetic noun bachir, "chosen or elect one (s)," is also derived from this verb. Not all scholars agree that these words are related to the noun bachur. They would relate it to the first sense of bhr, whose cognate in Akkadian has to do with fighting men. The word means "choose or select" in Gen 6:2: "...and they took them wives of all which they chose."

HYPOCRITE – Greek

hupokrites (NT:5273), corresponding to the above, primarily denotes "one who answers"; then, "a stage-actor"; it was a custom for Greek and Roman actors to speak in large masks with mechanical devices for augmenting the force of the voice; hence the word became used metaphorically of "a dissembler, a hypocrite." It is found only in the Synoptists, and always used by the Lord, fifteen times in Matthew; elsewhere, Mark 7:6; Luke 6:42; 11:44 (in some mss.); 12:56; 13:15.

FEIGN, FEIGNED

A. Verb.

hupokrinomai (NT:5271) primarily denotes "to answer"; then, "to answer on the stage, play a part," and so, metaphorically, "to feign, pretend," Luke 20:20. Cf. hupokrites, "a hypocrite," and hupokrisis, "hypocrisy."

B. Adjective.

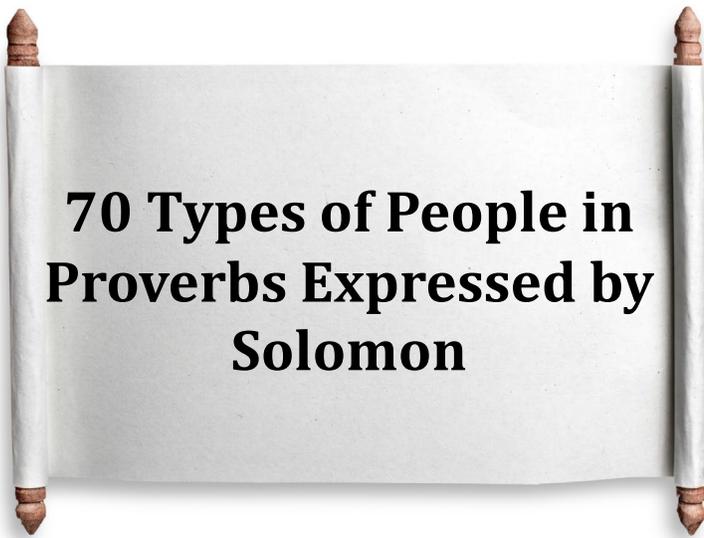

plastos (NT:4112) primarily denotes "formed, molded" (from plasso, to mold; Eng., "plastic"); then, metaphorically, "made up, fabricated, feigned," 2 Peter 2:3. Cf. plasma, "that which is molded," Rom 9:20.

HYPOCRISY

hupokrisis (NT:5272) primarily denotes "a reply, an answer" (akin to hupokrinomai, "to answer"); then, "play-acting," as the actors spoke in dialogue; hence, "pretence, hypocrisy"; it is translated "hypocrisy" in Matt 23:28; Mark 12:15; Luke 12:1; 1 Tim 4:2; the plural in 1 Peter 2:1. For Gal 2:13 and anupokritos, "without hypocrisy," in James 3:17, see DISSIMULATION.

Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words

Whisperer / Talebearer - Hebrew

halak "to go, walk, behave." This verb appears in most Semitic languages (although it has a different meaning in Arabic). It is attested in all periods of Hebrew. Old Testament Hebrew attests it about 1,550 times, while the Aramaic uses it a few times.

Essentially, this root refers to movement without any suggestion of direction in the sense of going, whether of man Gen 9:23, beasts Gen 3:14, or inanimate objects Gen 2:14 — the first occurrence of the word. In cases other than men (where it means "to walk") halak may be translated "to go." It is used sometimes with a special emphasis on the end or goal of the action in mind; men are but flesh, "a wind that passeth [goes] away, and cometh not again" Ps 78:39. Applied to human existence the word suggests "going to one's death," as in Gen 15:2, when Abraham says: "O Lord God, what wilt thou give me, since I am [going to my death] childless...?" (NASB). This verb can also be used of one's behavior, or the way one "walks in life." So he who "walks" uprightly shall be blessed of God Isa 33:15. This does not refer to walking upright on one's feet but to living a righteous life.

This root is used in various other special ways. It may be used to emphasize that a certain thing occurred; Jacob went and got the kid his mother requested, in other words, he actually did the action Gen 27:14. In Gen 8:3 the waters of the flood steadily receded from the surface of the earth. Sometimes this verb implies movement away from, as in Gen 18:33, when the Lord "departed" from Abraham.

God is said to "walk" or "go" in three senses. First, there are certain cases where He assumed some kind of physical form. For example, Adam and Eve heard the sound of God "walking" to and fro in the garden of Eden Gen 3:8. He "walks" on the clouds Ps 104:3 or in the heavens Job 22:14; these are probably anthropomorphisms (God is spoken of as if He had bodily parts). Even more often God is said to accompany His people Ex 33:14, to go to redeem (deliver) them from Egypt 2 Sam 7:23, and to come to save them Ps 80:2. The idea of God's "going" ("walking") before His people in the pillars of fire and cloud Ex 13:21 leads to the idea that His people must "walk" behind Him Deut 13:5. Quite often the people are said to have "walked" or to be warned against "walking behind" foreign gods Deut 4:3. Thus, the rather concrete idea of following God through the wilderness moves to "walking behind" Him spiritually. Some scholars suggest that "walking behind" pagan gods (or even the true God) arose from the pagan worship where the god was carried before the people as they entered the sanctuary. Men may also "walk... after the imagination of their evil heart," or act stubbornly Jer 3:17. The pious followed or practiced God's commands; they "walked" in righteousness Isa 33:15, in humility Mic 6:8, and in integrity Ps 15:2. They also "walk with God" Gen 5:22, and they live in His presence, and "walk before" Him Gen 17:1, in the sense of living responsibly before Him.

A Whisperer / Talebearer

Whisperer / Talebearer - Greek

WHISPERER, WHISPERING

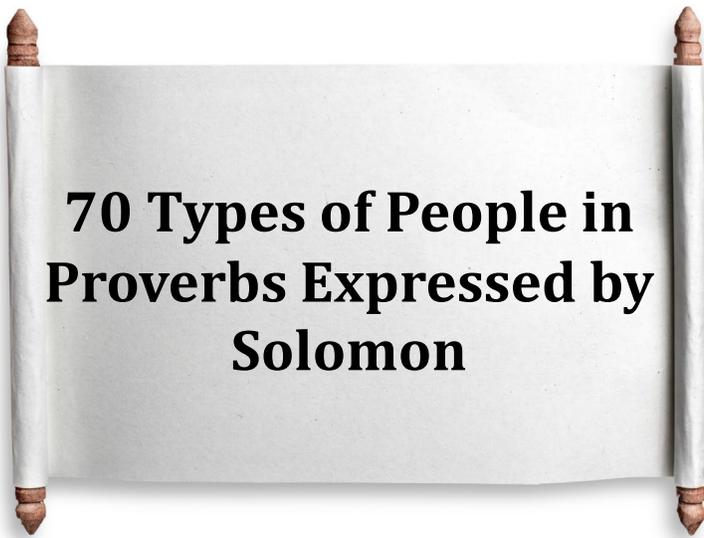

1. psithuristes "a whisperer," occurs in an evil sense in Rom 1:29.

2. psithurismos "a whispering," is used of "secret slander" in 2 Cor 12:20. In the Sept., Eccl 10:11, of "a murmured enchantment."

Note: Synonymous with No. 1 is katalalos, "a backbiter" Rom 1:30#, the distinction being that this denotes one guilty of open calumny, psithuristes, one who does it clandestinely.

The Restoration of Honour to the Church

As we walk through the teaching on a faithful person, the order will be a little different than our normal approach to 70 types of people in Proverbs.

Order of this teaching: We cover all verses in Proverbs on faithful and faithfulness; then the tie between faithful, honour and the fear of the Lord. Also in this insert are people in scripture called faithful; then the normal Hebrew and Greek analysis, followed by the word studies and dictionary definitions.

Proverbs 20:6

“Most men will proclaim everyone his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?”

Faithful Minister

Ephesians 6:21

“But that you also may know my affairs, and how I do, Tychicus, a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall make known to you all things:”

Colossians 1:2

“As ye also learned of Epaphras our dear fellow servant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ;”

Isaiah 2:35

“And I will raise me up a faithful priest...”

Proverbs 20:6

“Most men will proclaim everyone his own goodness; but a faithful man who can find?”

Matthew 24:45

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant who his Lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season.”

I Timothy 1:12

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry.”

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Faithful Person

The Fear of the Lord does not necessarily lead to Faithfulness

II Kings 17:33

“They feared the Lord and served their own Gods; after the manner of the nations whom they carried away from thence.”

Faithfulness however is critical if God is to use a person to affect many.

II Chronicles 19:9

“And he charged them, saying, thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Nehemiah 7:2

“That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.”

Matthew 24:45

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant who his Lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season.”

It is possible to restore the “Savour” to the church by restoration and growth of “The fear of the Lord.” The church is the salt. If the salt is restored with the fear of the Lord, it will once again influence the world (i.e., towards people).

*There are various functions of the church: to get people to accept the Lord, to serve the Lord, to fear the Lord and trust the Lord. It seems the church world has substantially lost the fear of the Lord.

If a person is to be “a sweet smelling savour unto the Lord” it will be because he is a “faithful” minister. When humility is added, he makes the best light to the world. (We are to be salt, i.e.: influence and light and truth is reflected in how we live. “Living Epistles known and read of all men.”)

*To fear the Lord is to understand truth and hate evil, not just to know truth. It is possible however, that one can still use truth vs. allow truth to change you in three areas: character, conduct and convictions. However, a faithful person accurately communicates truth in character, conduct and convictions. (see below)

Colossians 1:7 “As ye also learned of Epaphras our dear fellow servant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ.”

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Colossians 4:7 “All my state shall Tychicus declare unto you, who is a beloved brother and a faithful minister and fellow servant in the Lord.”

Colossians 4:9

“With Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall make known unto you all things which are done here.”

Titus 1:9

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers.”

II Peter 2:1-3

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.

And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not.”

(Parisago: “Privily shall bring in” i.e.) The ability to run parallel to truth. To have truth be there to benefit you “versus” how truth can affect you to benefit others.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

What is Faithfulness?

The Hebrew language gives us a series of words that helps us divide the understanding:

One of Character

One of Correct Conduct

eh-moon' --- meaning an accurate truthful communicator (i.e.: correct words)

One of Conviction

ah-man' --- meaning a mature mentor (i.e.: correct positions in life) (Convictions)

In effect the person is maturing in character, conduct and convictions in body, soul, and spirit. One of the great crises in Christianity today is a refusal to mature.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning - of knowledge. The beginning of wisdom, not the end. If the truth is applied to the life and accepted, then it can lead to a faithful person.

The result leads to honour. There are three perspectives or levels plus one additional perspective concerning the word honour. In Hebrew, one word is honour out of a correct will being applied to actions (the word is also rendered glory). A second word is honour out of correct conduct. The third Hebrew word is honour out of correct convictions. (Also glory.) (The fourth Hebrew word is a word that combines the meaning of all the other three.)

"...hath called us to glory and virtue..."

Hebrews 2:10

"...in bringing many sons unto glory..."

The result is then a fourth word in the Hebrew that combines the first three perspectives of character that leads to honour, conduct that leads to honour and convictions that lead to honour. This fourth word is the word for honour, but also MAJESTY. In his house should be a church where we see faithfulness. A church where maturity is being expressed. A place of character, correct conduct, and conviction. A house of honour. (i.e., MAJESTY)

Psalms 26:8

“Lord, I have loved the habitation of your house, and the place where your honour dwells.”

Faithfulness is the ability to focus on the little things of the job because the motive is to get the job done for the job's sake not personal gain or personal acknowledgment. This person can also do the big picture. However, the person who is doing any job not for the job's sake only, but to receive acknowledgment from people or praise or is focused on primarily personal gain or attention tends to have more of a problem getting the little things done. They somehow can get about 98% right or 98% done, but not totally complete.*

Luke 16:10

“He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.”

Matthew 24:45

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season?”

Matthew 25: 21

“His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.”

Luke 12:42

“And the Lord said, Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?”

“He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.”

Faithful in Money

Luke 16:11

“If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?”

Faithful with Another Person’s Assets

Luke 16:12

“And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man’s, who shall give you that which is your own?”

Visible Signs of a Faithful Person

Isaiah 22:23

“And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place; and he shall be for a glorious throne to his father’s house.” (Fasten/Character; Nail/The person’s conduct; Sure/The tree/conviction)

Faithful In All Areas Of Ministry

Numbers 12:7

“My servant Moses is not so, who is faithful in all mine house.”

Does All God Instructs

I Samuel 2:35

“And I will raise me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to that which is in mine heart and in my mind: and I will build him a sure house; and he shall walk before mine anointed for ever.

Obeys Authority

I Samuel 22:14

“Then Ahimelech answered the king, and said, And who is so faithful among all thy servants as David, which is the king’s son in law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine house?”

You Do Not Have To Check Them When They Handle Money

I Kings 12:15

“Moreover they reckoned not with the men, into whose hand they delivered the money to be bestowed on workmen: for they dealt faithfully.”

II Kings 22:7

“Howbeit there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, because they dealt faithfully.”

Those Who Are Faithful Have The Fear Of The Lord (To Have The Fear Of The Lord However Does Not Mean You Are Faithful)

II Chronicles 19:9

“And he charged them, saying, thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Nehemiah 7:2

“That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.”

It Becomes Obvious That The Lord Preserves Them

Psalms 31:23

“O love the Lord, all ye his saints: for the Lord perserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer.”

They Conceal Matters

Proverbs 11:13

“A talebearer revealeth secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter.”
(A prudent man conceals knowledge.)

Always Trying to Help You

Proverbs 13:17

“A wicked messenger falleth into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health.”

Will Not Lie

Proverbs 14:5

“A faithful witness will not lie: but a false witness will utter lies.”

They Are Hard To Find. Those Who Are Faithful Standout

Proverbs 20:6

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?”

Psalms 12:1

“Help, Lord; for the godly man ceaseth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.”

Handles A Matter Correctly For An Employer

Proverbs 25:13

“As the cold of snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithful messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soul of his masters.”

Can Confront Friends with a Real Desire to Help (No Hidden Motives)

Proverbs 27:6

“Faithful are the wounds of a friend; but the kisses of an enemy are deceitful.”

Through Trials God Helps Them to Survive Trouble

Proverbs 28:20

“A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent.”

Hard to Find Fault in the Person Even if They Search For It

Daniel 6:4

“Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.”

God Promotes Faithful People

Matthew 24:25

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season?”

Matthew 25:21

“His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of the lord.”

Luke 19:17

“And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities.”

Notes:

- It is required if we are to be stewards of Gods benefits, we are found faithful.
I Corinthians 4:2
“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful.”
- It is required to commit truth to faithful men.
I Timothy 2:2
“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.”
- The Lord looks for faithful people.
Psalms 101:6
“Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me.”
- Faithful people are hard to find (the scripture records a few people by name).
Proverbs 20:6
“Most men will proclaim everyone his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?”

Who can find a faithful minister?

Ephesians 6:21

“But that ye also may know my affairs, and how I do, Tychicus, a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall make known to you all things:”

II Chronicles 19:9 “And he charged them, saying, thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Faithfulness leads to honour when humility is maintained:

Proverbs 15:33

“The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour is humility.”

Proverbs 18:12

“Before destruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humility.”

HUMBLE/MEEK (gah-nahv')

Psalms 9:12

“When he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth them: he forgetteth not the cry of the humble.”

Psalms 10:17

“Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cause thine ear to hear:”

Psalms 22:26

“The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the Lord that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.”

Psalms 25:9

“The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.”

Psalms 37:11

“But the meek shall inherit the earth: and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.”

Psalms 69:32

“The humble shall see this and be glad: and your heart shall live that seek God.”

Psalms 76:9

“When God arose to judgment, to save all the meek of the earth. Selah.”

Psalms 147:6

“The Lord lifted up the meek: he casteth the wicked down to the ground.”

Proverbs 29:23

“A man’s pride shall bring him low: but honour shall uphold the humble in spirit.”

James 4:6

“But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble.”

Colossians 3:12-13

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; Forbearing one another and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.”

Colossians 4:6-7

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man. All my state shall Tychicus declare unto you, who is a beloved brother, and a faithful minister and fellow servant in the Lord:”

II Chronicles 19:7 & 9

“Wherefore now let the fear of the Lord be upon you; take heed and do it: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor taking of gifts. And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Restoration of Honour

Psalms 26:8

“Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.”

Proverbs 22:4

“By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honour and life.”

Nehemiah 7:2

“That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.”

II Chronicles 19:9

“And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the LORD, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Proverbs 15:33

“The fear of the LORD is the instruction of wisdom; and before honour is humility.”

Proverbs 18:12

“Before destruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humility.”

Perspectives of Honour

The Hebrew language helps us to see correct character leading to honour. Correct conduct leading to honour. Correct convictions leading to honour. When all of these are working together the other Hebrew word for honour shows up which is also the word for MAJESTY.

It is reflected as the truth in the parable of the sower of the seed in Matthew 13, Mark 4 and Luke 8. This one parable out of 70 is the opening parable as it says, “know you not this parable? and how then will you know parables?” The perspective is threefold as it is in faithfulness and then also here in honour. CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND CONVICTIONS. (The fear of the Lord is the beginning of these, and the fear of the Lord is greatly lacking in the church world.)

Insights Regarding Honour

(From the three primary Hebrew words)

Honour That Is A Result Of Character (A Correct Will)

Exodus 20:12

“Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.”

Psalms 91:15

“He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.”

Proverbs 3:9

“Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase:”

Proverbs 4:8

“Exalt her, and she shall promote thee: she shall bring thee to honour, when thou dost embrace her.”

Isaiah 29:13

“Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men:”

Isaiah 58:13

“If thou turn away thy foot from the sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honourable; and shalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words:”

Matthew 19:19

“Honour thy father and thy mother: and, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.”

John 5:23

“That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.”

Romans 2:10

“But glory, honour, and peace, to every man that worketh good, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile:”

Romans 12:10

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another;”

I Timothy 6:1

“Let as many servants as are under thy yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed.”

I Peter 3:7

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.”

Honour That Is A Result Of Correct Conduct

Genesis 49:6

“O my soul, come not thou into their secret; unto their assembly, mine honour, be not thou united: for in their anger they slew a man, and in their self-will they digged down a wall.”

I Chronicles 29:28

“And he died in a good old age, full of days, riches, and honour: and Solomon his son reigned in his stead.”

Psalms 26:8

“Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.”

Proverbs 3:16

“Length of days is in her right hand: and in her left hand riches and honour.”

Proverbs 15:33

“The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom; and before honour is humility.”

Proverbs 18:12

“Before destruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humility.”

Proverbs 20:3

“It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling.”

Proverbs 22:4

“By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honour, and life.”

Proverbs 25:2

“It is the glory of God to conceal a thing: but the honour of kings is to search out a matter.”

Honour That Is The Result Of Convictions

Deuteronomy 26:19

“And to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praise, and in name, and in honour; and that thou mayest be a holy people unto the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken.”

John 5:41 (Glory)

“I receive not honour from men.”

Colossians 1:27

“To whom God would make known what the riches of the glory of this mystery is among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory.”

I Timothy 1:17

“Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.”

Hebrew 2:9

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man.”

II Peter 1:3

“According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue.”

When all three Hebrew words above are melted together this leads to a (combined) Hebrew word that is a separate word also rendered honour. It is rendered majesty as the true meaning of the word. Therefore, when convictions and conduct and character are working together, it reveals Gods majesty.

Psalms 31:19-24

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee: which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men! Thou shalt hide them in the secret of thy presence from the pride of man: thou shalt keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues. Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed me his marvelous kindness in a strong city. For I said in my haste, I am cut off from before thine eyes: nevertheless thou heardest the voice of my supplications when I cried unto thee. O love the Lord, all ye his saints: for the Lord preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer. Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord.”

Psalms 33:18

“Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy:”

Psalms 34:7-9

“The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them. O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. O fear the Lord, ye his saints: for there is not want to them that fear him.”

I Chronicles 19:9

“And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.”

Nehemiah 7:2

“That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.”

Psalms 101:6

“Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me.”

Matthew 24:45

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season?”

I Timothy 5:17

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine.”

Proverbs 15:33

“The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom; and before honour is humility.”

Proverbs 22:4

“By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honour, and life.”

James 4:10

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.”

Philippians 2:3-15

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father. Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. Do all things without murmurings and disputings: That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world;”

I Peter 5:1-6

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed: Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; Neither as being lords over Gods heritage, but being ensamples to the flock. And when the Chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away. Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud and giveth grace to the humble. Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time;”

A Wise Woman

II Samuel 20:15-22

“And they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth-maachah, and they cast up a bank against the city, and it stood in the trench: and all the people that were with Joab battered the wall, to throw it down. 16 Then cried a wise woman out of the city, Hear, hear; say, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may speak with thee. 17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman said, Art thou Joab? And he answered, I am he. Then she said unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he answered, I do hear. 18 Then she spake, saying, They were wont to speak in old time, saying, They shall surely ask counsel at Abel: and so they ended the matter. 19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Israel: thou seekest to destroy a city and a mother in Israel: why wilt thou swallow up the inheritance of the LORD? 20 And Joab answered and said, Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy. 21 The matter is not so: but a man of mount Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, hath lifted up his hand against the king, even against David: deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab, Behold, his head shall be thrown to thee over the wall. 22 Then the woman went unto all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and cast it out to Joab. And he blew a trumpet, and they retired from the city, every man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jerusalem unto the king.”

Onesimus

Colossians 4:9

“With Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall make known unto you all things which are done here.”

Philemon 10

“I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds:”

Philemon 12

“Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is, mine own bowels:”

ONESIMUS

[oh NESS ih muss] (useful) - a slave of Philemon and an inhabitant of Colossae (Col 4:9; Philem 10). When Onesimus fled from his master to Rome, he met the apostle Paul. Paul witnessed to him, and Onesimus became a Christian. In his letter to Philemon, Paul spoke of Onesimus as “my own heart” (Philem 12), indicating that Onesimus had become like a son to him.

Paul convinced Onesimus to return to his master, Philemon. He also sent a letter (the Epistle to Philemon) with Onesimus, encouraging Philemon to treat Onesimus as a brother rather than a slave. Paul implied that freeing Onesimus was Philemon's Christian duty, but he stopped short of commanding him to do so. Onesimus accompanied Tychicus, who delivered the Epistle to the Colossians as well as the Epistle to Philemon.

Some scholars believe this Onesimus is Onesimus the bishop, praised in a letter to the second-century church at Ephesus from Ignatius of Antioch.

The Apostolic Constitutions (7:46) make him to have been consecrated bishop of Berea by Paul, and martyred at Rome. Ignatius (Ep. ad Ephes.) makes an Onesimus the Bishop of the Ephesians.

Faithful Person - Hebrew

FAITHFULNESS

A. Noun.

‘emunah "faithfulness." This word occurs in Punic as emanethi ("certainty"). In the Hebrew Old Testament, the noun occurs 49 times, mainly in the Book of Psalms (22 times). The first occurrence of the word refers to Moses' hands: "But Moses' hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon; and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side and the other on the other side; and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun" Ex 17:12.

The basic meaning of ‘emunah is "certainty" and "faithfulness."

Man may show himself "faithful" in his relations with his fellow men 1 Sam 26:23. But generally, the Person to whom one is "faithful" is the Lord Himself

II Chron 19:9 – "And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart."

The Lord has manifested His "faithfulness" to His people: "He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgments: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" Deut 32:4

Ps 33:4 "All his works reveal his "faithfulness."

"His commandments are an expression of his "faithfulness" Ps 119:86; "those who seek them are found on the road of "faithfulness": "I have chosen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me" Ps 119:30

The Lord looks for those who seek to do His will with all their hearts. Their ways are established and His blessing rests on them: "A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent" Prov 28:20.

The assurance of the abundance of life is in the expression quoted in the New Testament Rom 1:17; Gal 3:11 from Hab 2:4: "Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith."

The word °emunah is synonymous with tsedeq ("righteousness" — cf. Isa 11:5), with chesed ("lovingkindness" — cf. Ps 98:3, NASB), and with mishpat ("justice" cf. Jer 5:1).

The relationship between God and Israel is best described by the word

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Faithful Person

hesed ("love"); but as a synonym, 'emunah fits very well. Hosea portrays God's relation to Israel as a marriage and states God's promise of "faithfulness" to Israel: "And I will betroth thee unto me forever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in loving-kindness, and in mercies. I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulness: and thou shalt [acknowledge] the Lord" Hos 2:19-20. In these verses, the words "righteousness," "judgment" ("justice"), "loving-kindness," "mercies," and "faithfulness" bear out the conclusion that the synonyms for 'emunah are covenantal terms expressive of God's "faithfulness" and "love." The assurance of the covenant and the promises is established by God's nature; He is "faithful."

Man's acts Prov 12:22 and speech 12:17 must reflect his favored status with God. As in the marriage relationship, "faithfulness" is not optional. For the relation to be established, the two parties are required to respond to each other in "faithfulness." Isaiah and Jeremiah condemn the people for not being "faithful" to God: "Run ye to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and see now, and know, and seek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man, if there be any that executeth judgment, that seeketh the truth; and I will pardon [this city]" Jer 5:1; cf. Isa 59:4; Jer 7:28; 9:3.

Faithfulness will be established in the messianic era Isa 11:5. The prophetic expectation was fulfilled in Jesus Christ, as his contemporaries witnessed in Him God's grace (cf. cheded) and truth (cf. 'emunah): "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" John 1:18. It is significant that John puts these two terms side by side, even as they are found together in the Old Testament.

The Septuagint translations are: aletheia ("truthfulness; dependability; uprightness; truth; reality") and pistos ("trustworthy; faithfulness; reliability; rest; confidence; faith"). The KJV gives these translations: "faithfulness; truth; set office; faithfully; faithful. "

B. Verb.

‘aman, "to be certain, enduring; to trust, believe." This root is found in Akkadian, Ugaritic, and Phoenician. In the Old Testament, the word occurs fewer than 100 times.

Three words are derived from this verb: ‘amen ("amen" — 30 times; e. g., Ps 106:48), ‘emet ("true" — 127 times; e. g., Isa 38:18), and ‘emunah ("faithfulness").

TO BELIEVE

A. Verb.

‘aman OT:539, "to be firm, endure, be faithful, be true, stand fast, trust, have belief, believe." Outside of Hebrew, this word appears in Aramaic (infrequently), Arabic, and Syriac. It appears in all periods of biblical Hebrew (about 96 times) and only in the causative and passive stems.

In the passive stem, ‘aman has several emphases. First, it indicates that a subject is "lasting" or "enduring," which is its meaning in Deut 28:59: "Then the Lord will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues, and of long continuance, and sore sicknesses, and of long continuance." It also signifies the element of being "firm" or "trustworthy." In Isa 22:23, ‘aman refers to a "firm" place, a place into which a peg will be driven so that it will be immovable. The peg will remain firmly anchored, even though it is pushed so hard that it breaks off at the point of entry Isa 22:25. The Bible also speaks of "faithful" people who fulfill their obligations (cf. 1 Sam 22:14; Prov 25:13).

The nuance meaning "trustworthy" also occurs: "He that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter" Prov 11:13; cf. Isa 8:2. An officebearer may be conceived as an "entrusted one": "He removeth away the speech of the trusty [entrusted ones], and taketh away the understanding of the aged" Job 12:20. In this passage, ‘aman is synonymously parallel (therefore equivalent in meaning) to "elders" or "officebearers." Thus, it should be rendered "entrusted ones" or "those who have been given a certain responsibility (trust)." Before receiving the trust, they are men "worthy of trust" or "trustworthy" (cf. 1 Sam 2:35; Neh 13:13).

In Gen 42:20 (the first biblical appearance of this word in this stem), Joseph requests that his brothers bring Benjamin to him; "so shall your words be verified," or "be shown to be true" (cf. 1 Kings 8:26; Hos 5:9). In Hos 11:12, ‘aman contrasts Judah's actions ("faithful") with those of Ephraim and Israel ("deceit"). So here ‘aman represents both

A Faithful Person

"truthfulness" and "faithfulness" (cf. Ps 78:37; Jer 15:18). The word may be rendered "true" in several passages 1 Kings 8:26; 2 Chron 1:9; 6:17.

A different nuance of 'aman is seen in Deut 7:9: "...the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy..." There is a good reason here to understand the word 'aman as referring to what God has done ("faithfulness"), rather than what He will do ("trustworthy"), because He has already proved Himself faithful by keeping the covenant. Therefore, the translation would become, "...faithful God who has kept His covenant and faithfulness, those who love Him kept..." (cf. Isa 47:7).

In the causative stem, 'aman means "to stand fast," or "be fixed in one spot," which is demonstrated by Job 39:24: "He [a war horse] swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage: neither believeth he that it is the sound of the trumpet."

Even more often, this stem connotes a psychological or mental certainty, as in Job 29:24: "If I laughed on them, they believed it not." Considering something to be trustworthy is an act of full trusting or believing. This is the emphasis in the first biblical occurrence of 'aman: "And [Abram] believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteousness" Gen 15:6. The meaning here is that Abram was full of trust and confidence in God, and that he did not fear Him v. 1. at was not primarily in God's words that he believed, but in God Himself. Nor does the text tell us that Abram believed God so as to accept what He said as "true" and "trustworthy" (cf. Gen 45:26), but simply that he believed in God. In other words, Abram came to experience a personal relationship to God rather than an impersonal relationship with His promises. Thus, in Ex 4:9 the meaning is, "if they do not believe in view of the two signs," rather than, "if they do not believe these two signs." The focus is on the act of believing, not on the trustworthiness of the signs. When God is the subject or object of the verb, the Septuagint almost always renders this stem of 'aman with pisteuo ("to believe") and its composites. The only exception to this is Prov 26:25.

FAITHFUL, FAITHFULLY, FAITHLESS

1. pistos, a verbal adjective, akin to peitho (see FAITH), is used in two senses, (a) passive, "faithful, to be trusted, reliable," said of God, e. g., I Cor 1:9; 10:13; II Cor 1:18 (KJV, "true"); II Tim 2:13; Heb 10:23; 11:11; I Peter 4:19; I John 1:9; of Christ, e. g., II Thess 3:3; Heb 2:17; 3:2; Rev 1:5; 3:14; 19:11; of the words of God, e. g., Acts 13:34, "sure"; I Tim 1:15; 3:1 (KJV, "true"); 4:9; 2:11; 1:9; 3:8; 21:5; 22:6; of servants of the Lord, Matt 24:45; 25:21,23; Acts 16:15; I Cor 4:2,17; 7:25; Eph 6:21; Col 1:7; 4:7,9; I Tim 1:12; 3:11; II Tim 2:2; Heb 3:5; I Peter 5:12; III John 5; Rev 2:13; 17:14; of believers, Eph 1:1; Col 1:2; (b) active, signifying "believing, trusting, relying," e. g., Acts 16:1 (feminine); II Cor 6:15; Gal 3:9 seems best taken in this respect, as the context lays stress upon Abraham's "faith" in God, rather than upon his "faithfulness." In John 20:27 the context requires the active sense, as the Lord is reproaching Thomas for his want of "faith." See No. 2.

Regarding believers, they are spoken of sometimes in the active sense, sometimes in the passive, i.e., sometimes as believers, sometimes as "faithful." See Lightfoot on Galatians, p. 155.

Note: In 3 John 5 the RV has "thou doest a faithful work," for KJV, "thou doest faithfully." The lit rendering is "thou doest (poieo) a faithful thing, whatsoever thou workest (ergazo)." That would not do as a translation. To do a "faithful" work is to do what is worthy of a "faithful" man. The KJV gives a meaning but is not exact as a translation. Westcott suggests "thou makest sure (piston) whatsoever thou workest" (i.e., it will not lose its reward). The change between poieo, "to do," and ergazo, "to work," must be maintained. Cf. Matt 26:10 (ergazo and ergon).

2. apistos is used with meanings somewhat parallel to No. 1; (a) "untrustworthy" (a, negative, and No. 1), not worthy of confidence or belief, is said of things "incredible," Acts 26:8 (b) "unbelieving, distrustful," used as a noun, "unbeliever," Luke 12:46; I Tim 5:8 (RV, for KJV, "infidel"); in Titus 1:15 and Rev 21:8, "unbelieving"; "faithless" in Matt 17:17; Mark 9:19; Luke 9:41; John 20:27. The word is most frequent in 1 and 2 Corinthians. See BELIEVE, INCREDIBLE, INFIDEL, UNBELIEVER, UNFAITHFUL. (In the Sept., Prov 17:6; 28:25; Isa 17:10.)

GRACE

(A Short Testimony)

Over a period of time, I have studied and restudied the words: grace, gracious, and graciousness. Some years ago, after several months with mostly daily study, I thought I had a good concept of what grace was (over about one hundred twenty hours of study) but all I had was limited knowledge and little understanding.

Let me describe the difference between knowledge and understanding.
I “know” the sun is up there but I do not “understand” how it is there.
I had much knowledge and little understanding.

I was asked by my pastor to go to upper Michigan to handle a Sunday church service of a start up church, as that pastor was going to our church in Green Bay to preach and gain support for the start-up work. On the way to upper Michigan, I was explaining to another person riding with me what grace was when the Lord opened the door of my heart to understanding. I started to cry so hard I could not drive. It must have gone on for more than 30 minutes.

Be careful when you think you understand and all you have is knowledge.
Knowledge puffs up. Understanding is at the end to see a thing in a simple way.

GRACE

The standard definition of grace is “God’s unmerited favor”. This is correct; however I wonder how many even grasp this concept. Many of these 70-word studies have been designed to be a starting point for a person to study, not only to read as a teaching.

In regards to the Greek word Charis, (generally rendered grace) I have decided to encourage you to memorize and meditate on all the scripture so that you may go from knowledge to understanding which will set you free. Hopefully as you read these insights into the Greek word Charis you will be encouraged to study and meditate more on your own.

TO BE GRACIOUS, SHOW FAVOR

A. Verb.

chanan, "to be gracious, considerate; to show favor." This word is found in ancient Ugaritic with much the same meaning as in biblical Hebrew. But in modern Hebrew chanan seems to stress the stronger meaning of "to pardon or to show mercy." The word occurs around 80 times in the Hebrew Old Testament, the first time in Gen 33:5: "The children which God hath graciously given thy servant." Generally, this word implies the extending of "favor," often when it is neither expected nor deserved. Chanana may express "generosity," a gift from the heart Ps 37:21. God especially is the source of undeserved "favor" Gen 33:11, and He is asked repeatedly for such "gracious" acts as only He can do Num 6:25; Gen 43:29. The psalmist prays: "...grant me thy law graciously" Ps 119:29.

God's "favor" is especially seen in His deliverance from one's enemies or surrounding evils Ps 77:9; Amos 5:15. However, God extends His "graciousness" in His own sovereign way and will, to whomever He chooses Ex 33:19.

In many ways, chanan combines the meaning of the Greek haris (with the general classical Greek sense of "charm" or "graciousness") and the New Testament sense of "undeserved favor" or "mercy."

B. Noun.

chen, "favor; grace." The root with the meaning "to favor someone" is a common Semitic term. In Akkadian, the verb enenu ("to have compassion") is related to hinnu ("favor"), which occurs only as a proper noun. The Hebrew noun chen occurs 69 times, mainly in the Pentateuch and in the historical books through Samuel. The word's frequency increases in the poetic books, but it is rare in the prophetic books. The first occurrence is in Gen 6:8: "But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord."

The basic meaning of chen is "favor." Whatever is "pleasant and agreeable" can be described by this word. When a woman is said to have chen, she is a "gracious" woman Prov 11:16; or the word may have the negative association of being "beautiful without sense" Prov 31:30. A person's speech may be characterized by "graciousness": "He that loveth pureness of heart, for the grace of his lips the king shall be his friend" Prov 22:11; cf. Ps 45:2.

Chen also denotes the response to whatever is "agreeable." The verbs used with "favor" are: "give favor" Gen 39:21, "obtain favor" Ex 3:21, and "find favor" Gen 6:8, RSV. The idioms are equivalent to the English verbs "to like" or "to love": "[She] said to him, Why have I found favor in your eyes, that you should take notice of me, when I am a foreigner?" Ruth 2:10, RSV.

The Septuagint translations are: charis ("grace; favor; graciousness; attractiveness") and eleos ("mercy; compassion; pity").

C. Adjective.

channun "gracious." One of the word's 13 occurrences is in Ex 34:6: "And the Lord passed by before him [Moses], and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth...."

GRACIOUS

chrestos is rendered "gracious" in I Peter 2:3, as an attribute of the Lord. See EASY, GOOD, KIND.

Note: Euphemos, "fair-sounding" (eu, "well," pheme, "a saying, or report"), "of good report," Phil 4:8, is rendered "gracious" in the RV marg.

GRACE

1. charis has various uses, (a) objective, that which bestows or occasions pleasure, delight, or causes favorable regard; it is applied, e. g., to beauty, or gracefulness of person, Luke 2:40; act, 2 Cor 8:6, or speech, Luke 4:22, RV, "words of grace" (KJV, "gracious words"); Col 4:6; (b) subjective, (1) on the part of the bestower, the friendly disposition from which the kindly act proceeds, graciousness, loving-kindness, goodwill generally, e. g., Acts 7:10; especially with reference to the divine favor or "grace," e. g., Acts 14:26; in this respect there is stress on its freeness and universality, its spontaneous character, as in the case of God's redemptive mercy, and the pleasure or joy He designs for the recipient; thus it is set in contrast with debt, Rom 4:4,16, with works, 11:6, and with law, John 1:17; see also, e. g., Rom 6:14,15; Gal 5:4; (2) on the part of the receiver, a sense of the favor bestowed, a feeling of gratitude, e. g., Rom 6:17 ("thanks"); in this respect it sometimes signifies "to be thankful," e. g., Luke 17:9 ("doth he thank the servant?" lit., "hath he thanks to"); 1 Tim 1:12; (c) in another objective sense, the effect of "grace," the spiritual state of those who have experienced its exercise, whether (1) a state of "grace," e. g., Rom 5:2; I Peter 5:12; II Peter 3:18, or (2) a proof thereof in practical effects, deeds of "grace," e. g., 1 Cor 16:3, RV, "bounty" (KJV, "liberality"); 2 Cor 8:6,19 (in 2 Cor 9:8 it means the sum of earthly blessings); the power and equipment for ministry, e. g., Rom 1:5; 12:6; 15:15; 1 Cor 3:10; Gal 2:9; Eph 3:2,7.

To be in favor with is to find "grace" with, e. g., Acts 2:47; hence it appears in this sense at the beginning and the end of several epistles, where the writer desires "grace" from God for the readers, e. g., Rom 1:7; 1 Cor 1:3; in this respect it is connected with the imperative mood of the word chairo, "to rejoice," a mode of greeting among Greeks, e. g., Acts 15:23; James 1:1 (marg.); 2 John 10,11, RV, "greeting" (KJV, "God speed").

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Gracious Person

The fact that "grace" is received both from God the Father, 2 Cor 1:12, and from Christ, Gal 1:6; Rom 5:15 (where both are mentioned), is a testimony to the deity of Christ. See also 2 Thess 1:12, where the phrase "according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ" is to be taken with each of the preceding clauses, "in you," "and ye in Him."

In James 4:6, "But He giveth more grace" (Greek, "a greater grace," RV, marg.), the statement is to be taken in connection with the preceding verse, which contains two remonstrating, rhetorical questions, "Think ye that the Scripture speaketh in vain?" and "Doth the Spirit (the Holy Spirit) which He made to dwell in us long unto envying?" (see the RV). The implied answer to each is "it cannot be so." Accordingly, if those who are acting so flagrantly, as if it were so, will listen to the Scripture instead of letting it speak in vain, and will act so that the Holy Spirit may have His way within, God will give even "a greater grace," namely, all that follows from humbleness and from turning away from the world. See BENEFIT, BOUNTY, LIBERALITY, THANK.

Note: The corresponding verb charitoo, "to endue with divine favor or grace," is used in Luke 1:28, "highly favored" (marg., "endued with grace") and Eph 1:6, KJV, "hath made... accepted"; RV, "freely bestowed" (marg., "endued.").

2. euprepeia, "comeliness, goodly appearance," is said of the outward appearance of the flower of the grass chara; cheerfulness, i.e. calm delight: KJV - gladness, ^xgreatly, (X be exceeding) joy (-ful, -fully, -fulness, -ous).

1. Xara/ occurs 59 times in the NT, and is esp. common in Matthew (6 occurrences), Luke (8), John (9), and in Paul (19, 5 each in II Corinthians and Philippians, none in I Corinthians). Although in most NT occurrences joy is a primary mode of the appropriation of the eschatological event of salvation by human beings, it can also be the reaction of God or of his representatives to this appropriation.

2. If "Spirit" constitutes God's most characteristic presence in the world, then joy is to a large extent the result of God's presence among human beings. The Spirit generates joy, along with righteousness and peace, as its fruit (Gal 5:22; Rom 14:17). It enables a person to endure joyfully the suffering and trials of Christian existence (1 Thess 1:6). Being filled with joy and the Spirit is itself a sign of the legitimacy of the mission to the Gentiles (Acts 13:52 after 13:47f., 50f.). Cf. also Luke 10:21 (exultation in the Holy Spirit over the criteria for election) and the inspiration of joy according to Philo (Som. ii.249; Abr. 201). Hence joy in this world is viewed as a witness to the activity of God himself. Cf. also 1 Clem. 63:2 [ET]; Herm. Vis. iii.13.2 [ETT] (renewal of the pneuma through joy).

3. NT use of "joy" shows particularly that the addressee is a constituent part of the revelatory event itself and participates in it within the mode of (divinely induced) joy. Thus "the word" is "received" with joy (Mark 4:16 par.; 1 Thess 1:6). One accepts with joy the renunciations that accompany conversion (1 Thess 1:6; Heb 10:34). Heb 10:34 and Matt 13:44 speak of the joy that can accompany even the loss of one's possessions. The good news or words of authority can call forth joy (Luke 2:10: eu)aggeli/zomai; 1 John 1:4; 2 John 12). According to 2 Cor 1:24 and Phil 1:25 joy and faith run parallel, or joy is the way in which faith is present apart from "progress."

Those who see visions react with joy (Matt 28:8; Luke 24:41,52, after the ascension). Joy can also be the reaction to miraculous signs: a star (Matt 2:10), the apostles' own deeds (Luke 10:17), or miracles (Acts 8:7f.; 12:14). The mission to the Gentiles is a miraculous process and thus results in joy (Acts 15:3; Rom 15:32; cf. Acts 13:52). The formulation in I Peter 1:8 shows to what degree joy is understood as divinely effected participation in the heavenly world: "Without having seen him you believe and rejoice with unutterable and glorious joy."

Thus prayer and joy are intimately connected (Phil 1:4; Col 1:11f.). Luke 1:14 says about John the Baptist that "he will be your joy and your gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth," thus identifying him as a prophet of revelation (cf. Bib. Ant. 51:6f. [on Samuel]: "Sing praises . . . because of the miracles God has performed for you. . . . Sing praises for the Lord's miracles. . . . And they departed and went out with mirth, rejoicing and exulting in heart for all the glory that God had brought about for them. . . . Let the prophet live among the people. . . .")

4. Like the vb. the noun xara/ can also be used in imperatives (fruit of the Spirit, Gal 5:22; with righteousness in Rom 14:17; further Phil 2:18f., cf. v. 2). Thus, in disagreement with the prevailing modern understanding, joy primarily refers not to an involuntary and internal "emotion" but, like "righteousness" and "peace," to comprehensive, value-centered, complex behavior (such as friendliness, generosity, self-sacrifice, overcoming of adversity), which like "righteousness" can stand for the sum of Christian behavior (e.g., 2 Cor 1:24; also 13:11). Cf. also Philo Mut. 167 (whoever has virtue also has constant joy).

5. Again like the noun is used of Christian behavior in the face of unjust suffering and tribulation as the overcoming of such adversity: joy in the midst of grief and temptation and perseverance in faith as the result of faith itself (I Peter 1:6-8); joy in time of temptation and testing of faith, often with patience (James 1:2 [like I Peter 1]); joy overcoming the affliction that accompanies acceptance of the word (1 Thess 1:6 [like I Peter and James referring to the consequences of conversion]); joyous renunciation of possessions — probably loss of property resulting from conversion (Heb 10:34).

According to Pauline dialectic (wretchedness as the prerequisite for God's merciful activity) the apostle, too, can thus experience joy for just this reason amid all affliction (2 Cor 7:4). For the Church also, perseverance amid affliction has resulted in joy, and poverty has resulted in a wealth of generosity (8:2). Similarly, in Col 1:11 joy stands next to the power of patience and endurance.

Heb 12:2 views Christ's suffering as a preliminary stage toward the joy that lay before him, and v. 11 applies this to the Church's present discipline (similar to 1QH 9:24f.). Yet these two instances are different from the Pauline passages precisely because they do not refer to the joy that is able to overcome even now, in the present.

In contrast, Matt 5:11f.; James 1:2,12; I Peter 4:13f. emphasize again that there is an intimate relationship between a pronouncement of blessing for the present suffering of the righteous and the accompanying element of joy.

The fundamental theological concept behind all these statements about "joy in suffering" (or joy after suffering) is that in view of the antithesis between this unrighteous age and the coming age of righteousness the present suffering and persecution of the righteous constitutes for them a reason for joy. Righteousness virtually proves itself in such persecution. But this understanding does not always maintain a connection to the suffering and glory of Christ (though I Peter 1:11 does, after 1:6-8); we are dealing here with two mutually independent parallel ideas that found expression in various ways, including in the idea of the election of the poor and humble.

6. Joy is the subjective component of appropriation of the eschatological salvation promise. The term is thus parallel to "the kingdom of God," as seen in the correspondence between Matt 25:21,23 ("Enter into the joy of your master") and Rom 14:17 ("The kingdom of God consists in . . . joy . . .") and as attested by Heb 12:2. The relationship between joy and crown in 1 Thess 2:19f. and Phil 4:1 clearly refers to the parousia (judgment; thus also to the advent of the kingdom). Concerning joy as a salvation promise cf. K. Berger, ZNW 65 (1974) 198 n.33 (sources), esp. also 1 Enoch (Greek) 5:9 ("years of their joy filled in exultation and peace"); 103:3 (joy and honor for the souls of the deceased righteous).

7. Joy is also the reaction of the one who brings or effects salvation to the acceptance of that salvation, whether that be God (Luke 15:7,10, cf. Ezek 18:23; antithetical example in t. Sanh. 14:10), the bridegroom and his friend in joy over the wedding = time of salvation (John 3:29), on the part of the apostle over his congregation (1 Thess 3:9; 2 Cor 2:3; 7:13; Phil 1:4; 2:2; 4:1; cf. also Heb 13:17; Philem 7).

8. Joy is viewed negatively when as a sign of penitence and humility it should turn to weeping (James 5:9). Thus the joy of the unrighteous who have not yet repented stands over against the present sorrow of the righteous (John 16:20-22) and the joy of the righteous in suffering (2 Cor 7:5).

9. "Joy" often appears with plhro/w: Persons are often filled with joy, or joy is made "perfect" (i.e., endowed with eschatological quality). Qli=yi$ is the antithesis of joy (2 Cor 7:4; 8:2; John 16:21), which also appears in phrases with the root periss- (2 Cor 7:4; 8:2).

charisma (khar'-is-mah); from NT:5483; a (divine) gratuity, i.e. deliverance (from danger or passion); (specifically) a (spiritual) endowment, i.e. (subjectively) religious qualification, or (objectively) miraculous faculty: KJV - (free) gift.

1. Occurrences in the NT and usage outside the NT — 2. Charisma as an individual gift — 3. Charisma as a fundamental gift — 4. General and individual gift

1. Xa/risma occurs 17 times in the NT, all in the letters: those of Paul (6 times in Romans, 7 in I Corinthians, and 2 Cor 1:11), the Pastorals (1 Tim 4:14; 2 Tim 1:6), and I Peter 4:10.

Before the NT the word apparently occurred only rarely. Philo (All. iii.78: "For all things in the world and the world itself is a free gift [dwrea/] and act of kindness [eu)ergesi/a] and grace [xa/risma] on God's part" — parallel to xa/ri$) and Alciphro (iii.17.4: xa/risma dou\ $ e&xein) are the most important attestations, to which perhaps also T. Sol. recension C 13:14 may be added (magical gifts beneficial to health and wealth); although Sib. Or. ii.154 is probably contemporaneous with Christianity (the soul as divine xa/risma may not be defiled), its substance is not comprehensible from the perspective of the NT.

2. The oldest Christian usage of xa/risma in the sense of individual gifts occurs throughout I Corinthians and in Rom 12:6; I Peter 4:10. The basic premise is that there are different charismata (I Peter 4:10: "varied grace"; Rom 12:6: "different charismata") and that each person (e%kasto, I Peter 4:10; 1 Cor 7:7; 12:7: "to each") has his own (i&dio, 1 Cor 7:7). These texts exhibit a tendency toward sequential enumeration of various charismata (1 Cor 1:5: speech and knowledge; 12:8-10,28,29f. [in all three lists in 1 Cor 12 xari/smata is used only of healing]; Rom 12:6-8; I Peter 4:11: speech and service).

The variety of charismata can also be summarized under a unity. In 1 Cor 12:4 this is the one Spirit (cf. v. 7: to each is given the revelation of the Spirit) and in v. 5 the one Lord; the one Spirit apportions to each as he wills (v. 11). In Rom 12:4f. this unity is (as in 1 Cor 12:12) likened to one body with many members. I Peter 4:11 focuses on the glorification of God by all. The agreement between Rom 12:6f. and I Peter 4:11 extends further, since each (with w($ or e)n) provides the standard according to which the charismata are to be realized. Furthermore, in Rom 12:6 the first-mentioned, "prophecy" and "service," correspond to "speech" and "service" in I Peter 4:11.

Xa/ri is also a uniquely employed quantity in these texts (Rom 12:6; I Peter 4:10; 1 Cor 1:4); its concrete development is the individual charisma. The model for this division is the tradition following Isa 11:2 concerning the various spiritual gifts (cf. K. Berger, Exegese des NT [UTB 658, 2¹⁹⁸³] 46-48), of which the most familiar development is Armenian Ps.-Philo De Sampson (German tr. by F. Siegert [1980] 24f.). The connection between charismata and Spirit is also attested by 1 Cor 12:4,9,11 as well as by the designation pneumatika/ in 12:1 and 14:1. Only in these two instances, however, does Paul cautiously call charismata pneumatika/, which he otherwise calls simply xari/smata, probably in order to distinguish adequately the Spirit as the effective cause and mediator of the individual effects from the charismata themselves.

These findings show that 2 Tim 1:6f. also belongs to this textual group; the relationship between spiritual gifts and charismata is the reverse of that in 1 Cor 12: The one charisma subdivides into the Spirit of power, love, and understanding. Outside this tradition, Rom 1:11 also associates the Spirit with xa/risma.

The gifts of healing apparently played a special role in Corinth, since in 1 Cor 12 (vss. 9,28,30) only they are called charismata, and probably bestowed special standing (since they were most useful; cf. the Gospel tradition). 12:31 should be understood either as a critical indicative, such that such striving is countered by love as the sign of all true spiritual gifts, or as an imperative portraying love as the principle of the other charismata. In any case, 1 Cor 14 is a concretization of 12:31a.

3. Rom 5:15f.; 6:23; 11:29 are quite closely related, since although they all focus on concrete and historically ascertainable gifts from God (as in ¶¶2), the reference is to gifts of a fundamental and general nature. Rom 11:29 speaks of the irrevocable gifts associated with Israel's election (i.e., the covenantal provisions spoken of in 9:4), and Rom 5-6 speaks correspondingly of the comparable new concrete dispensations; to be sure, the antithesis between trespass and gift of grace in 5:15 is not that between deed and consequence, since this gift of grace has of course been realized in Jesus' own counter-deed of obedience (v. 19). A surprising juxtaposition emerges between 5:15 (antithesis: death), 6:23 (eternal life/death), and 2 Cor 1:11: Everywhere in the charisma the God is at work who raises the dead and gives life. It has been suggested that xa/risma in 6:23 refers to the donativum, the special wage paid on the ascension of a new ruler. More likely, however, "wages" and the antithesis charisma suggest the opposition presented in 4:4.

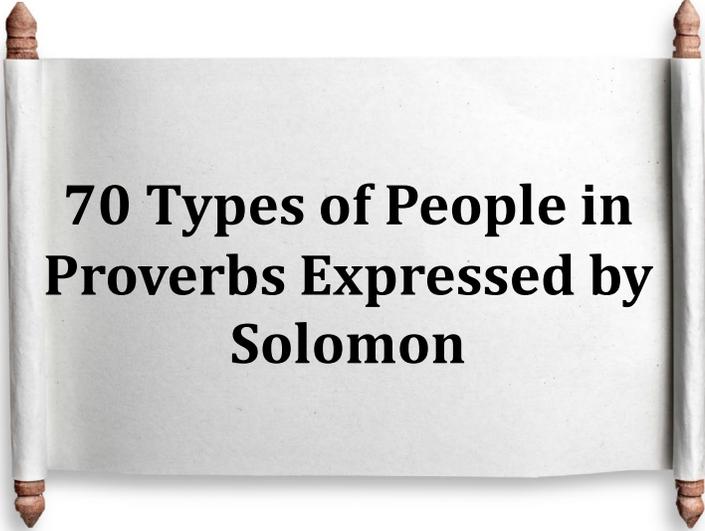

4. Hence for Paul the same holds true for xa/risma as for pneu=ma and pneumatika/: In addition to that which applies to everyone and is given to them at baptism or at the proclamation of the gospel itself (thus is Rom 1:11 to be understood; cf. also 15:27), there are also individual spiritual gifts and individual charismata. Just how structurally similar these two conceptions are can be seen not only in the fact that in both cases charisma is associated with calling (1 Cor 7:7,17,20; Rom 11:29), but also in the fact that according to 1 Cor 1:7 the individual charismata are provisional gifts anticipating the revelation of Jesus Christ in the same way that the Spirit common to all Christians is according to Rom 8:19-27.

Whereas the Spirit of baptism (the a)parxh/ in Rom 8:23; the a)rrabw/n in 2 Cor 1:22) is only indirectly visible in fruits at present, to be fully visible esp. at the resurrection (2 Cor 5:5-10), the best definition of individual charisma is that it is a "manifestation of the Spirit" even now (1 Cor 12:7). Thus it certainly does not include just any activity, but rather activity that astonishes and directs attention vertically. It thus probably includes, e.g., being unmarried as opposed to being married (1 Cor 7:7) and perhaps extraordinary demonstrations of God's power (2 Cor 1:11; note that the proemium in both Rom 1 and II Corinthians speaks of xa/risma).

One should not hastily disqualify as "charisma of office" the xa/risma which Timothy is granted through prophecy and the laying on of hands (by the elders/"Paul") and which he is called on to rekindle within himself (1 Tim [1:18] 4:14; 2 Tim 1:6), since it is probably no different from what was already common among the so-called congregation-apostles and also in the case of Paul (cf. Acts 13:1-3) and which through prophecy/speech of the Pneuma exhibits no lack of spirituality. The fact that the Pastorals do not speak in a general fashion about the charismata of the baptized does not allow us, given the nature of the genre (among other things, personal addressees), to draw any reliable conclusions.

Brutish-An amazing word. Because of the implication for misunderstanding on various perspectives I feel to address this subject first one verse at a time for you to study. Yes, you then draw your own conclusions. Then after I address Insights, I shall also draw conclusions for your review. Therefore, this first part is a series of verses with insights. (Part 2 is conclusions.)

There are two (2) Hebrew words and basically one (1) Greek word rendered brutish or brute.

Hebrew ba`ar (bah'-ar) consumed, stupid, foolish, brutish ba`ar (baw-ar') consume, heat, fire, waste, brutish

Greek alogos (al'-og-os) Irrational, brute, unreasonable

ba`ar (bah'-ar) This word shows up only 3 times.

Fool and brutish similar (poor planners)

Psalms 49:10

For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others.

Brutish: not knowing correct thought (i.e.) ignorant (poor thinkers)

Psalms 73:22

So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee.

Brutish do not sense the depth of truth in God. A Brutish person does not know and a fool does not understand. (Poor perspective of truth in God.)

Psalms 92:5-6

O LORD, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep. 6. A brutish man knoweth not; neither doth a fool understand this.

Brutish as ignorant and not understanding the things of God. (Poor study habits)

Proverbs 30:2-7

Surely I am more brutish than any man, and have not the understanding of a man. 3 I neither learned wisdom, nor have the knowledge of the holy. 4 Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fists? who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath established all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his son's name, if thou canst tell? 5 Every word of God is pure: he is a shield unto them that put their trust in him. 6 Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar. 7 Two things have I required of thee; deny me them not before I die:

ba`ar (baw-ar') This Hebrew word is rendered in different perspectives;

Numbers 11:3

And he called the name of the place Taberah: because the fire of the LORD burnt among them.

Numbers 24:22

Nevertheless the Kenite shall be wasted, until Asshur shall carry thee away captive.

Deuteronomy 9:15

So I turned and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire: and the two tables of the covenant were in my two hands.

II Samuel 22:13

Through the brightness before him were coals of fire kindled.

Esther 1:12

But the queen Vashti refused to come at the king's commandment by his chamberlains: therefore was the king very wroth, and his anger burned in him.

Psalms 2:12

Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him

Psalms 83:14

As the fire burneth a wood, and as the flame setteth the mountains on fire;

Psalms 94:8

Pastors

To back off to their own thoughts and not seek the Lord is to be brutish. It hurts them financially and over time to accomplish things. Their ministry will not be one of a real flock but make believe. ---Scary thought---

Jeremiah 10:21

For the pastors are become brutish, and have not sought the LORD: therefore they shall not prosper, and all their flocks shall be scattered.

Which opens a profound insight into the Greek word used for brute.

{alogos (al'-og-os)} The Greek word logos is the word for "word" A in front of the word is negative or to be apart from (i.e.) apart from the word.

Acts 25:27

- ✓ They tear down what they do not know about
- ✓ They deal with natural things and create their own ways that tend to be false and corrupt their own ways
- ✓ They not only do not know proper things they do not understand. This leads to getting hurt in the corrupt ways they follow. The end is trouble.

Conclusions

It is possible to have an ignorant approach to life and ministry. It can lead to poor thinking, poor planning and ignorant of what works. However they can stumble into positions of authority for a while and feel they are wise. It can tear them up inside as they struggle with stubbornness and anger. They exaggerate. They tend to be disloyal and sow strife. They develop a life and spiritual philosophy that does not work but pride keeps them from doing what is right. They are unreasonable and they tear down others and avoid doing things right.

II Peter 2:1-22

1 But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.

2 And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

3 And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not.

4 For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment;

5 And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;

6 And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrha into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;

7 And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked:

8(For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds;)

9 The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished:

10 But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. Presumptuous are they, selfwilled, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.

11 Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not railing accusation against them before the Lord.

12 But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption;

13 And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you;

14 Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children:

15 Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;

16 But was rebuked for his iniquity: the dumb ass speaking with man's voice forbade the madness of the prophet.

17 These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever.

18 For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error.

19 While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.

20 For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.

21 For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them.

22 But it is happened unto them according to the true proverb, The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire.

Jude

1 Jude, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace, and love, be multiplied.

3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.

4 For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.

6 And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

7 Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despise dominion, and speak evil of dignities.

9 Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 But these speak evil of those things which they know not: but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 Woe unto them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.

12 These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;

13 Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.

14 And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, 15 To execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, having men's persons in admiration because of advantage.

17 But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ;

18 How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts.

19 These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit.

20 But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, 21 Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.

22 And of some have compassion, making a difference:

23 And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.

24 Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy,

25 To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen.

BRUTISH – Hebrew

BRUTISH

(Heb. baʿar, "to be like an animal"). A KJV term applied to one whose mental and moral perceptions are dulled by ignorance (Prov 12:1), idolatry (Jer 10:8,14,21). "The word must be explained from Ps 92:6, 'brutish,' foolish, always bearing in mind that the Hebrew associated the idea of godlessness with folly, and that cruelty naturally follows in its train" (Keil, Com., on Ezek 21:31). The NASB and NIV render "stupid."

Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words

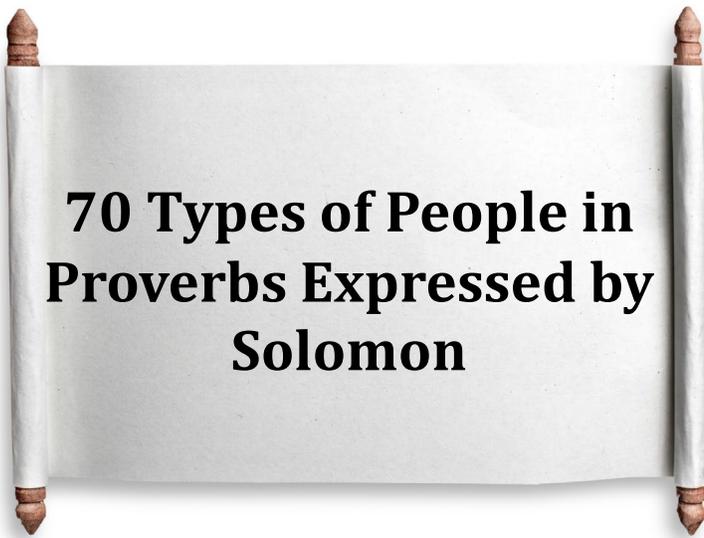

BRUTISH – Greek

BRUTE

alogos, translated "brute" in the KJV of 2 Peter 2:12 and Jude 10, signifies "without reason," RV, though, as J. Hastings points out, "brute beasts" is not at all unsuitable, as "brute" is from Latin brutus, which means "dull, irrational"; in Acts 25:27 it is rendered "unreasonable".

PERVERSE – Hebrew

'awah "to do iniquity." This verb appears in the Bible 17 times. In Arabic this verb appears with the meaning "to bend" or "to deviate from the way." 'Awah is often used as a synonym of chata', "to sin," as in Ps 106:6: "We have sinned [chata' with our fathers, we have committed iniquity ['awah], we have done wickedly [rasha']."

B. Nouns.

'awon "iniquity; guilt; punishment." This noun, which appears 231 times in the Old Testament, is limited to Hebrew and biblical Aramaic. The prophetic and poetic books employ 'awon with frequency. The Pentateuch as a whole employs the word about 50 times. In addition to these, the historical books infrequently use 'awon. The first use of 'awon comes from Cain's lips, where the word takes the special meaning of "punishment": "And Cain said unto the Lord, My punishment is greater than I can bear" Gen 4:13.

The most basic meaning of 'awon is "iniquity." The word signifies an offense, intentional or not, against God's law. This meaning is also most basic to the word chatta't, "sin," in the Old Testament, and for this reason the words chatta't and 'awon are virtually synonymous; "Lo, this [the live coal] hath touched thy [Isaiah's] lips; and thine iniquity ['awon] is taken away, and thy sin [chatta't] purged" Isa 6:7.

"Iniquity" as an offense to God's holiness is punishable. The individual is warned that the Lord punishes man's transgression: "But every one shall die for his own iniquity: every man that eateth the sour grape, his teeth shall be set on edge" Jer 31:30. There is also a collective sense in that the one is responsible for the many: "Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me" Ex 20:5. No generation, however, was to think that it bore God's judgment for the "iniquity" of another generation: "Yet say ye, Why? doth not the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my statutes, and hath done them, he shall surely live. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him" Ezek 18:19-20.

Israel went into captivity for the sin of their fathers and for their own sins: "And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity; because they trespassed against me, therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword" Ezek 39:23.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Perverse Person

Serious as "iniquity" is in the covenantal relationship between the Lord and His people, the people are reminded that He is a living God who willingly forgives "iniquity": "Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation" Ex 34:7. God expects confession of sin: "I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin" Ps 32:5, and a trusting, believing heart which expresses the humble prayer: "Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin" Ps 51:2.

Isa 53 teaches that God put upon Jesus Christ our "iniquities" v. 6, that He having been bruised for our "iniquities" v. 5 might justify those who believe on Him: "He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities" Isa 53:11.

The usage of 'awon includes the whole area of sin, judgment, and "punishment" for sin. The Old Testament teaches that God's forgiveness of "iniquity" extends to the actual sin, the guilt of sin, God's judgment upon that sin, and God's punishment of the sin. "Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile" Ps 32:2.

In the Septuagint the word has the following renderings: adikia ("wrongdoing; unrighteousness; wickedness"); hamartia ("sin; error"); and anomia ("lawlessness"). In the English versions the translation "iniquity" is fairly uniform. The RSV and NIV give at a few places the more specialized rendering "guilt" or the more general translation "sin."

'awen "iniquity; misfortune." This noun is derived from a root meaning "to be strong," found only in the Northwest Semitic languages. The word occurs about 80 times and almost exclusively in poetic-prophetic language. The usage is particularly frequent in the poetical books. Isaiah's use stands out among the prophets. The first occurrence is in Num 23:21: "He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: the Lord his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them."

The meaning of "misfortune" comes to expression in the devices of the wicked against the righteous. The psalmist expected "misfortune" to come upon him: "And if he come to see me, he speaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to itself; when he goeth abroad, he telleth it" Ps 41:6. 'Awen in this sense is synonymous with 'ed, "disaster" Job 18:12. In a real sense 'awen is part of human existence, and as such the word is identical with 'amal, "toil," as in Ps 90:10: "The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away."

'Awen in a deeper sense characterizes the way of life of those who are without God: "For the vile person will speak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice hypocrisy, and to utter error against the Lord, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail" Isa 32:6. The being of man is corrupted by "iniquity." Though all of mankind is subject to 'awen ("toil"), there are those who delight in causing difficulties and "misfortunes" for others by scheming, lying, and acting deceptively. The psalmist puts internalized wickedness this way: "Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived mischief, and brought forth falsehood" Ps 7:14; cf. Job 15:35.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Those who are involved in the ways of darkness are the "workers of iniquity," the doers of evil or the creators of "misfortune" and disaster. Synonyms for 'awen with this sense are ra', "evil," and rasha', "wicked," opposed to "righteousness" and "justice." They seek the downfall of the just Ps 141:9. Between Ps 5:5 and 141:9 there are as many as 16 references to the workers of evil (cf. "The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: thou hatest all workers of iniquity" — Ps. 5:5>). In the context of Ps 5, the evil spoken of is falsehood, bloodshed, and deceit v. 6. The qualitative aspect of the word comes to the best expression in the verbs with 'awen. The wicked work, speak, beget, think, devise, gather, reap, and plow 'awen, and it is revealed ("comes forth") by the misfortune that comes upon the righteous. Ultimately when Israel's religious festivals Isa 1:13 and legislation Isa 10:1 were affected by their apostate way of life, they had reduced themselves to the Gentile practices and way of life. The prophetic hope lay in the period after the purification of Israel, when the messianic king would introduce a period of justice and righteousness Isa 32 and the evil men would be shown up for their folly and ungodliness.

The Septuagint has several translations: anomia ("lawlessness"); kopos ("work; labor; toil"); mataios ("empty; fruitless; useless; powerless"); poneria ("wickedness; maliciousness; sinfulness"); and adikia ("unrighteousness; wickedness; injustice"). The KJV has these translations: "iniquity; vanity; wickedness."

hapak "to turn, overturn, change, transform, turn back." A common word throughout the various periods of Hebrew, this term occurs in other Semitic languages, including ancient Akkadian. It is found almost 100 times in biblical Hebrew. Used for the first time in the biblical text in Gen 3:24, the Hebrew verb form there indicates reflexive action: "...a flaming sword which turned every way [NAB, "revolving"; NEB, "whirling"]..."

In its simplest meaning, hapak expresses the turning from one side to another, such as "turning" one's back Josh 7:8, or "as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down" 2 Kings 21:13. Similarly, Hosea refers to Israel as being "a cake not turned" Hos 7:8. The meaning of "transformation" or "change" is vividly illustrated in the story of Saul's encounter with the Spirit of God. Samuel promised that Saul would "be changed into another man" 1 Sam 10:6, JB, and when the Spirit came on him, "God changed his heart" 1 Sam 10:9, JB. Other examples of change are the "changing" of Pharaoh's mind Ex 14:5; literally, "the heart of Pharaoh... was turned"; the "turning" of Aaron's rod into a serpent Ex 7:15; dancing "turned" to mourning Lam 5:14; water "turned" into blood Ex 7:17; and the sun "turned" to darkness and the moon to blood Joel 2:31. Ps 41:3 presents a difficult translation problem in its use of hapak. Literally, it reads: "All his bed you [Yahweh] change in his sickness." In view of the poetic parallelism involved, restoration of health must be meant. Thus, the RSV translates: "In his sickness thou healest all his infirmities." Perhaps only a refreshing of the bed is meant, so the NEB translates: "He turns his bed when he is ill."

Perverse Person

The KJV rendering of Isa 60:5 sounds strange to our modern ears: "The abundance of the sea shall be converted unto thee...." A slight improvement is given by the RSV, which reads: "The abundance of the sea shall be turned to you." The meaning is best captured by the JB: "The riches of the sea shall be lavished upon you."

cabab "to turn, go around, turn around (change direction)." This verb occurs only in Hebrew (including post-biblical Hebrew) and Ugaritic. Nouns using these radicals appear in Arabic and Akkadian. Biblical Hebrew attests the word in all periods and about 160 times.

Basically this verb represents a circular movement — "to take a turning." First, it refers to such movement in general. The first occurrence of cabab having this emphasis is in Gen 42:24, where Joseph "turned himself about" from his brothers and wept. Here the verb does not tell the precise direction of his departure, only that he left their presence. Similarly, when Samuel was told that Saul went to Carmel and "is gone about, and passed on, and gone down to Gilgal" 1 Sam 15:12, we are not told that he reversed direction in order to get from his origin to Carmel and Gilgal. God led Israel out of the way (by an out-of-the-way route) when He took them into the Promised Land. He wanted to avoid having them face war with the Philistines, an event that was unavoidable if they proceeded directly north from Egypt to Palestine. Therefore, He led them through the wilderness — a back route into the land: "But God led the people about, through the way of the wilderness of the Red Sea..." Ex 13:18. Perhaps one of the passages where this meaning is clearest is Prov 26:14, which speaks of the "turning" of a door on its hinges. An extension of this meaning occurs in 1 Sam 5:8-9, "to remove, to take away": "And they answered, Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about [taken away] unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about thither" (cf. 2 Kings 16:18).

A second emphasis of cabab is "to go around," in the sense of to proceed or be arranged in a circle. Joseph tells his family: "...lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf" Gen 37:7. They moved so as to surround his sheaf. This is the action pictured when Israel besieged Jericho, except with the further nuance of encircling in a processional and religious march: "And ye shall compass the city, all ye men of war, and go round about the city once" Josh 6:3. "To travel" and "to return" are used together to represent traveling a circuit. It is said of Samuel that he used to go annually "in circuit" 1 Sam 7:16. Another variation of this emphasis is "to go around" a territory in order to avoid crossing through it: "And they journeyed from mount Hor by the way of the Red Sea, to compass [go around] the land of Edom: and the soul of the people was much discouraged because of the way" Num 21:4.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Perverse Person

Cabab is also used of the completion of this movement, the state of literally or figuratively surrounding something or someone. The very first biblical occurrence of the word carries this force (according to many scholars): "The name of the first is Pison: that is it which compasseth [flows around] the whole land of Havilah..." Gen 2:11. Judg 16:2, where the Gazites "compassed [Samson] in, and laid wait for him all night in the gate of the city," represents another occurrence of this nuance. When David spoke of the cords (as a trap) of Sheol "surrounding" him 2 Sam 22:6, he meant that they actually touched him and held him fast. Cabab can be used of sitting down around a table. So Samuel told Jesse to fetch David, "for we will not sit down till he come hither" 1 Sam 16:11.

A third use of this verb is "to change direction." This can be a change of direction toward: "Neither shall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe..." Num 36:9; the usual direction of passing on an inheritance is down family lines, and God's commandment that the daughters of Zelophehad marry within their father's families would make certain that this movement of things not be interrupted. This emphasis appears more clearly in 1 Sam 18:11: "And David [escaped] out of his presence twice"; it is certain that David is putting as much space between himself and Saul as possible. He is "running away or turning away" (cf. 1 Sam 22:17). Cabab may also refer to a change of direction, as in Num 34:4: "And your border shall turn...."

There are three special nuances under this emphasis. First, the verb may mean "to roam through" as a scout looking for water: "...and they fetched a compass [made a circuit] of seven days' journey: and there was no water for the host, and for the cattle that followed them" 2 Kings 3:9. Some scholars suggest that this is the idea expressed in Gen 2:11 that the Pison meandered through Havilah rather than flowed around it. Second, cabab may be used of "turning something over" to someone. So Adonijah said of Solomon: "...the kingdom was mine,... howbeit the kingdom is turned about, and is become my brother's..." 1 Kings 2:15. Third, cabab may be used of "changing or turning one thing into another": "And the land shall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem..." Zech 14:10.

B. Nouns.

cabib "area round about; circuit." This word appears about 336 times in biblical Hebrew. The word can be used as a noun, but it usually occurs as an adverb or preposition. In 1 Chron 11:8 cabib refers to the "parts round about": "And he built the city round about, even from Millo round about..." The word may also be used for "circuits": "...and the wind returneth again according to his circuits" Eccl 1:6. The first biblical appearance of the word is in Gen 23:17, and it refers to "within the circuit of."

Other nouns are related to the verb cabab. Cibbah and necibbah both refer to "turn of affairs"; cibbah is found in 1 Kings 12:15 and necibbah in 2 Chron 10:15. Mucab occurs once with the meaning of "circular passage": "...for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house..." Ezek 41:7. Mecab occurs 4 times, and it refers to "that which surrounds or is round." Mecab refers to a "round table" Song 1:12 and to "places round about" Jerusalem 2 Kings 23:5.

Perilous Times

A TEACHING ON “THE PROGRESIVE GROWTH” OF VANITY BY A VAIN PERSON

As we go through these scriptures, we will first do so with three different translations of the Bible. Then we will come back and give you a series of visible signs that are progressive in nature on how to be able to tell if a man has this problem in his life and if he does not change, what the result will be.

II Timothy 3:1-2

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves.

We have heard: “He needs to love himself more.”

The Bible says that perilous times will be when men shall be lovers of their own selves.

We have heard: “He needs to manage his problem attitude.”

The Bible would have him resolve the problem.

II Timothy 3:1-9

1. This know also that in the last days perilous times shall come. (When we read this, it is often thought to mean something like earthquakes, earth shattering things, or nuclear war but the Bible says in the following verse):

2. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3. Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good,

4. Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;

5. Having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

We know we are told to love ourselves, but the Bible says “perilous times” will come when men love themselves. We have a false philosophy in life. We think it is important to accept yourself as God has made you, but when you fall in love with just yourself and just what makes you happy, then you have a problem. We have been told that this person needs to manage his attitude, but the Bible says to resolve that attitude, not to manage it.

6. For of this sort are they, which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts,

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Vain Person

7. Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8. Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith. (These two men were magicians and tried to give Moses a hard way to go.)

9. But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was.

II Timothy 3: 1-9 (J. B. Phillips Version)

But you must realize that in the last days the times will be full of danger. Men will become utterly self-centered, greedy for money, full of big words. They will be proud and abusive, without any regard for what their parents taught them. They will be utterly lacking in gratitude, reverence, and normal human affections. They will be remorseless, scandalmongers, uncontrolled and violent and haters of all that is good. They will be treacherous, reckless and arrogant, loving what gives them pleasure instead of loving God. They will maintain a façade of “religion”, but their life denies its truth. Keep clear of people like that.

From their number comes those creatures who worm their way into people’s houses and find easy prey in silly women with an exaggerated sense of sin and assorted desires—who are always anxious to learn and yet never able to grasp the truth. These men are as much enemies to the truth as Jannes and Jambres were to Moses. Their minds are distorted, and they are traitors to the faith. But in the long run they will not get very far. Their folly will become as obvious to everybody as did that of Moses’ opponents.

II Timothy 3: 1-9 (Barkley Version)

You must realize this—that in the last days difficult times will set in. For men will live a life that is centered in self; they will be lovers of money, braggarts, arrogant, lovers of insult, disobedient to their parents, thankless, regardless even of the ultimate decencies of life, without human affection, implacable in hatred, reveling in slander, ungovernable in their passions, savage, not knowing what the love of good is, treacherous, headlong in word and action, inflated with pride, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God. They will maintain the outward form of religion, but they will deny its power. Avoid such people. In the same way as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these also oppose the truth, men whose minds are corrupt, and whose faith is counterfeit. But they will not get much further, for their folly will be as clear to all as that of those ancient imposters.

We include the Barkley version of this scripture as it is interesting how he pulled it all together.

Let us look at this outline and review how it works. This is a progressive outline. This may be a new thought for you. All the 24 points are progressive steps in one's life. The man goes from stage to stage, like being a young child growing up and all the way through life, all through progressive stages. This outline shows stages and visible signs of a person falling in love with himself.

Let us now come back and show the end of the story. The end of the story is mentioned at the beginning. The end of the story says, "Men shall be lovers of themselves," and that also is the end, or last, of these 24 progressive stages.

We will address in this outline what it means when he says, "Men shall be lovers of themselves." The phrase, "in love with themselves" is from the Greek word "Phil-autos." "Phil" means loving and "Autos," means to be reflective of oneself and to express distinction from others and then to act in exclusion of others. Just thinking of oneself.

Progressive Stages	Greek Word	Insights into the Greek Word	Visible Signs	Conflicts
1. Covetous (an attitude of wanting “vs” giving)	philarguros	Wanting what another has. I Samuel:15:23	While growing up the person gets stubborn . It leads to wanting one’s own way and wanting what others have.	Inner Conflict
2. Boaster (an attitude that glories in vanity)	alazon	This is the word for braggart and vagrant. Their bragging makes them into an outsider.	The person “gets” stuff and brags about it. They tend to further remove themselves from responsibility.	Inner Conflict
3. Proud (an attitude of being superior)	huperephanos	To appear above others.	They now act haughty .	Inner Conflict
4. Blasphemer (an attitude of being verbally abusive)	blasphemous	To rail on others. To use anger to get one’s way.	They tear others up who disagree with them and their ways.	Inner Conflict
5. “Disobedient” to parents (an attitude of not being open to instruction but claim they are)	apeithes	Cannot be persuaded by those in authority.	They are determined to throw off authority . They become closed off to instruction.	Inner Conflict
6. Unthankful (an attitude of being apart from grace [graceless])	acharistos A=negative charis=Greek word for “grace”	Thankless	They now see little reason to be grateful. They tend to only be grateful if it is to their advantage. (“Gratefulness is the gateway to stop backsliding.”)	Inner Conflict

7. Unholy (an attitude of being negative about holy things but in a subtle way)	anosios A=Negative N=Euphonic hoslos=holy	To act separate from God's ways.	The person now throws off rules of behavior. They expect others to accept this.	Inner Conflict
8. Without natural affection. (All 3 words are one Greek word.) (a negative attitude of expressing affection towards spouse)	astorgos (used as a fanciful etymology that associated the word with stork and baby stories)	"Cannot cherish affectionately." The transition to fully loving themselves is near its fullness. This leaves little room for natural affection.	They now develop deeper conflicts in relationships because they become hard-hearted. It is hard "at times" to be around them, like "walking on eggs."	Relationship Conflicts
9. Trucebreakers (an attitude of being untrue to a promise because of entering into it up front as a lie)	aspondos A=Negative sponde=wit h a truce	Truceless. Implacable. To agree but not mean it.	Their promise or commitment to change themselves or their behavior and to improve a relationship means—nothing! They can say they will change their actions but have no interest in changing themselves.	Relationship Conflicts
10. False Accusers (an attitude that always accuses others to hide their real problem)	diabolos	Greek word for devil or slanderer. They blame others for what they do.	They develop a full-scale ability and desire to blame others or to blame circumstances for their faults. The process they use is diabolos. It is to be satanically influenced.	Relationship Conflicts
11. Incontinent (an attitude of unrestraint)	akrates	Without self-control. Powerless.	It is common to buy on impulse, to overextend, and be self-centered even at the expense of family. It is common to be powerless to resist temptation.	Relationship Conflicts

12. Fierce (an attitude from one who forgets God and is not tame [i.e., not gentle])	anemeros	From a negative particle. To make lame, savage. People who have been around them leave feeling “drained.”	It is to attack anyone who disagrees. These are “ verbal abusers ” to the family. They can be savage in their anger.	Relationship Conflicts
13. “Despiser” of those that are good. (All these words are one Greek word). (an attitude of despising those they cannot live like)	aphilagathos A=Negative phileo=love agathos=good	Hostile to virtue. To feel superior to others.	When confronted and encouraged to act morally correct and to be gracious is to have this person “look down their nose” and to despise those that are good.	Relationship Conflicts
14. Traitor (an attitude that expresses oneself as a friend but turns against you)	prodotes Luke 6:16 uses word as a title for Judas	Betrayer. You cannot put your hope or trust in this person. Untrustworthy. Deceiver.	Just when they show times of “surrender,” to change their ways, they betray people who are trying to work with them. Untrustworthy!	Relationship Conflicts
15. Heady (an attitude of making headstrong, reckless decisions)	propetes	To fall head-long into one’s ways. --Rash— To make quick impulse decisions as a fool.	The person now is “Rash” with their actions. They do extreme things to get their way or to prove they can get their way.	Relationship Conflicts
16. High-minded (an attitude that wraps the person in conceit and speaks in tempestuous ways “like the wind talking”)	tuphoo From Greek word “tuphos”- smoke-	To inflate with self-conceit. To envelope with smoke.	Because the person is caught up in self-conceit, they wrap themselves in smoke or to hide who they really are. They now talk with words that are manipulative and out of conceit. Master manipulators, until they get found out.	Relationship Conflicts

17. Lover of Pleasure (an attitude of lusting for one's own way at the expense of others)	philedonos	Fond of pleasure. To focus on things that bring short-term pleasure versus wise long-term planning.	Because of "loving themselves," they focus on buying for their desires even at the expense of family. They see their needs as primary.	Relationship Conflicts
18. Having a form of Godliness (an attitude that can agree with Christian teaching, but it does not change this person)	para-eisago- "Privily" To run alongside truth and to "use" truth for their benefit	It is somewhat easy to get into tradition. Para-dosis. Para=to run alongside. Dosis=giving. "To make believe they are giving themselves."	They can get into Religion "vs" Christianity. This has a temporary good feeling, but it is hypocritical. What they believe does not work.	Advanced Conflicts with God
19. But denying the power thereof. (an attitude that forsakes the right way and refuses that which is right)	----	----	They can know "about" God but deny God's ways and deny God. They lack the fear of the Lord.	Advanced Conflicts with God
20. They creep into houses. (an attitude of clothing oneself with manipulative deception to trick people to enter their "world")	enduno	An attitude of clothing oneself with manipulative deception. To trick people to get into their company or family.	They learn the art of hiding anger through manipulation, "they creep." They "Act" okay but lie and deceive their way into relationships.	Advanced Conflicts with God
21. They resist the truth. (an attitude of opposing doing the right thing)	anthistemi Anti=against histemi=to stand	To withstand.	To confront them with the truth is to see them "resist" and be the victim.	Advanced Conflicts with God
22. Men of corrupt minds. (an attitude of handling people deceitfully and dishonestly to get one's way)	katphtheiko	To spoil quality relationships entirely. (a huckster for sordid personal advantage)	They set out to destroy relationships. They have the amazing ability to spoil entirely what is best for them to continue to love themselves.	Advanced Conflicts with God

(an attitude from a mind God cannot approve and is rejected by God)	adokimos (The reference is to the great test as to if Christ is in the person, i.e., men whose moral sense is perverted and whose minds are clouded with their own speculation.)	Unapproved, rejected. "A" means negative, "dokimos" means, approved negatively. Not standing a test.	They are like a castaway. Rejected, unapproved. They will sacrifice all to love themselves. Depression is common.	Conflict with God and Man
24. Manifest (an attitude of full denial and no acceptance of guilt)	ekdelos (An intensive form of the Greek word, to signify "quite" evident.)	Wholly evident. To be exposed.	They will become exposed to all that their manipulation was totally self-serving , and their anger was to control others.	Conflict with God and Man

Oswald Chambers said that “depression is the result Of the heart getting knocked out of love with itself.”

The solution is to not only change the person’s ways but to change the person. (Anger resolution-not anger management) If, however, the choice is made to stay in love with oneself, then it will be at the expense of relationships and financial hindrance or loss.

II Timothy 3: 1-9 (J. B. Phillips Version)

But you must realize that in the last days the times will be full of danger. Men will become utterly self-centered, greedy for money, full of big words. They will be proud and abusive, without any regard for what their parents taught them. They will be utterly lacking in gratitude, reverence and normal human affections. They will be remorseless, scandalmongers, uncontrolled and violent and haters of all that is good. They will be treacherous, reckless and arrogant, loving what gives them pleasure instead of loving God. They will maintain a façade of “religion”, but their life denies its truth. Keep clear of people like that.

From their number comes those creatures who worm their way into people’s houses and find easy prey in silly women with an exaggerated sense of sin and assorted desires—who are always anxious to learn and yet never able to grasp the truth. These men are as much enemies to the truth as Jannes and Jambres were to Moses. Their minds are distorted, and they are traitors to the faith. But in the long run they will not get very far. Their folly will become as obvious to everybody as did that of Moses’ opponents.

II Timothy 3 (KJV)

3:1 This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good,

4 Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;

5 Having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers' lusts,

7 Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8 Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was.

A Vain Person - Hebrew

BREATH/Vanity

hebel OT:1892, "breath; vanity; idol." Cognates of this noun occur in Syriac, late Aramaic, and Arabic. All but 4 of its 72 occurrences are in poetry (37 in Ecclesiastes).

First, the word represents human "breath" as a transitory thing: "I loathe it; I would not live always: let me alone; for my days are vanity [literally, but a breath]" Job 7:16.

Second, hebel means something meaningless and purposeless: "Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity" Eccl 1:2.

Third, this word signifies an "idol," which is unsubstantial, worthless, and vain: "They have moved me to jealousy with that which is not God; they have provoked me to anger with their vanities..." Deut 32:21 — the first occurrence act emptily, become vain. Denominative verb.

vapor, breath.

The denominative verb appears five times in the OT, four times in the Qal and once in the Hiphil (Jer 23:16). Of particular interest here are the parallel verses Jer 2:5 and II Kings 17:15; They went after vanities and "became vain." (Niv: "They followed worthless idols and became worthless themselves.") Two inexorable principles are illustrated here: (1) every man takes on to some degree the character and nature of the God he worships; (2) the characteristic of all false gods is that they destroy their worshippers.

hebel. Vapor, breath, vanity. This substantive is translated almost exclusively by the KJV as "vanity." Except for the passages in Eccl, where the RSV concurs with the KJV, the RSV generally leans to the translation "breath" or "worthless." The noun appears seventy-one times in the OT. Thirty-six times it is used in Eccl, where it occurs at least once in each of the twelve chapters except chapter ten.

The proper name, Abel, the second son of Adam, is also written hebel. Whether or not there is a connection between this and the substantive under discussion is another matter. Most of the Hebrew lexicons have connected "Abel" with the cognate Akkadian word ablu/ aplu "son." One will note that Abel is named in Gen 4 without any explanation, a fact that can hardly be without significance since almost all the proper names in Genesis are explained by assonances.

The basic meaning of hebel is "wind" or "breath." This is illustrated best in Isa 57:13, "The wind (rûaḡ) will carry them off, a breath (hebel) will take them away," and Prov 21:6, "The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a fleeting vapor (hebel nidd¹p)." The verb nad¹p, meaning "to drive," is most often used in connection with the wind as the driving force (e.g., Ps 1:4; Ps 68:3 *).

There are three basic categories or contexts in which hebel is used. First, it is used as a designation for false gods worshipped by the people of God and hence is usually translated in this context by the RSV as "idols": Deut 32:21; I Kings 16:13,26; II Kings 17:15; Jer 2:5; Jer 8:19 (parallel to pesel); Jer 10:8,15; Jer 51:18; Jonah 2:9 ; Ps 31:7 *.

Secondly, the term represents the individual and sometimes exasperating sentiments of individuals: Isa 49:4 where the servant Israel says, "I have labored in vain (rîq); I have spent my strength for nothing (tœhû) and vanity (hebel)." Job complains about the brevity and uncertainty of his life (Job 7:16). Cf. the similar idea in the Psalter: Ps 39:6 Ps 39:7 Ps 39:12 *; Ps 62:10 *; Ps 78:33 (in which hebel is parallel to beh¹lâ, from the root b¹hal "to hasten"): Ps 94:11; Ps 144:4 (hebel parallel to sel). Hence, hebel seems to mean here "short-lived."

Third is the cluster of references found in Ecclesiastes (thirty-six). These may be grouped into several subdivisions. First are those passages in which the author states his inability to find fulfillment in work, both in his failure to be creative and in his lack of control over the privilege of free disposition of his possessions; this is "vanity": Eccl 2:11,19,21,23; Eccl 4:4,8; Eccl 6:2. Second are those verses in which the author struggles with the idea that the connection between sin and judgment, righteousness and final deliverance is not always direct or obvious. This is an anomaly about life, and it is "vanity": Eccl 2:15; Eccl 6:7-9; Eccl 8:10-14. The meaning of hebel here would be "senseless." Thirdly are those verses in which the author laments the shortness of life; this is "vanity": Eccl 3:19; Eccl 6:12; Eccl 11:8,10. Life, in its quality, is "empty" or "vacuous" (and thus unsubstantial), and in its quantity is "transitory."

Rather than the above observations being final conclusions about life by the author of Eccl, perhaps they reveal something of his method and his concealed premise. He may be attempting to demonstrate man's inability to find meaning to life unaided by divine revelation and interruption. This solo quest will always end in futility.

A Simple Person - Greek

VAIN, IN VAIN, VAINLY

A. Adjectives.

1. kenos "empty," with special reference to quality, is translated "vain" (as an adjective) in Acts 4:25; 1 Cor 15:10,14 (twice); Eph 5:6; Col 2:8; James 2:20; in the following the neuter, kenon, follows the preposition eis, "in," and denotes "in vain," 2 Cor 6:1; Gal 2:2; Phil 2:16 (twice); 1 Thess 3:5. See EMPTY, B, where the applications are enumerated.

2. mataios "void of result," is used of (a) idolatrous practices, Acts 14:15, RV, "vain things" (KJV, "vanities"); (b) the thoughts of the wise, 1 Cor 3:20; (c) faith, if Christ is not risen, 1 Cor 15:17; (d) questionings, strifes, etc., Titus 3:9; (e) religion, with an unbridled tongue, James 1:26; (f) manner of life, 1 Peter 1:18. For the contrast between No. 1 and No. 2 see EMPTY.

Note: For mataiologoi, Titus 1:10, see TALKERS (vain).

B. Verbs.

1. mataioo "to make vain, or foolish," corresponding in meaning to A, No. 2, occurs in Rom 1:21, "became vain."

2. kenoo "to empty," corresponding to A, No. 1, is translated "should be in vain" in 2 Cor 9:3, KJV. See EFFECT, EMPTY, VOID.

C. Adverbs.

1. maten properly the accusative case of mate, "a fault, a folly," signifies "in vain, to no purpose," Matt 15:9; Mark 7:7.

2. dorean the accusative of dorea, "a gift," is used adverbially, denoting (a) "freely" (see FREE, D); (b) "uselessly," "in vain," Gal 2:21, KJV (RV, "for nought"). See CAUSE, A, under "without a cause."

VANITY

mataiotes "emptiness as to results," akin to mataios (see EMPTY, VAIN), is used (a) of the creation, Rom 8:20, as failing of the results designed, owing to sin; (b) of the mind which governs the manner of life of the Gentiles, Eph 4:17; (c) of the "great swelling words" of false teachers, 2 Peter 2:18.

Note: For mataios, in the neut. plur. in Acts 14:15, "vanities," see VAIN, A, No. 2 (a).

Daniel 9:23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee; for thou art greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision.	The thoughts of a non-prudent person tends to be brutish (i.e.) digging their heels in on their way through life.
5. A prudent person investigates fully before moving ahead.	biyn (bene) Kal and Hiphil (future).	A tense of the word to discern.	The person’s thoughts move to discover or investigate details. Proverbs 14:15 The simple believeth every word: but the prudent man looketh well to his going. Proverbs 23:1 When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee:	The thoughts of a non-prudent person are to get limited details and supplement the rest with opinion.
6. A prudent person is able to grasp the real issues on a subject.	biyn (bene) Niphal – Participle	A word for being discreet and to make wise choices.	The person is now able to make wise choices. Proverbs 14:6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easy unto him that understandeth.	The thoughts of a non-diligent person is to choose at random and maybe get part right— huge risk.

A Prudent Person – Hebrew

TO UNDERSTAND

sakal "to be prudent, act wisely, give attention to, ponder, prosper." This word, which is common to both ancient and modern Hebrew, is found approximately 75 times in the text of the Hebrew Bible. Its first use in the text, in Gen 3:6, contributes to an interesting paradox, for while the forbidden fruit was "to be desired to make one wise," it was a very unwise thing to take it!

The basic meaning of sakal seems to be "to look at, to give attention to," as illustrated in this parallelism: "That they may see, and know, and consider, and understand..." Isa 41:20. From this develops the connotation of insight, intellectual comprehension: "Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom... But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me..." Jer 9:23-24. As here, it is frequently used along with and in parallelism to the Hebrew yada±, "to know" (primarily experientially). As is true of chakam, "to be wise," sakal never concerns abstract prudence, but acting prudently: "Therefore the prudent shall keep silence..." Amos 5:13; "...he hath left off to be wise..." Ps 36:3.

bin "to understand, be able, deal wisely, consider, pay attention to, regard, notice, discern, perceive, inquire." This verb, which occurs 126 times in biblical Hebrew, has cognates in Ugaritic, Arabic, Ethiopic, late Aramaic, and Syriac. Bin appears in all periods of biblical Hebrew.

Bin appears in Jer 9:12 with the meaning "to understand": "Who is the wise man, that may understand this?" In Job 6:30 the word means "to discern," and in Deut 32:7 it means "to consider."

B. Nouns.

binah "understanding." Binah appears 37 times and in all periods of biblical Hebrew even though it belongs primarily to the sphere of wisdom and wisdom literature.

This noun represents the "act of understanding": "And in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians..." Dan 1:20.

Elsewhere binah signifies the faculty "understanding": "...the spirit of my understanding causeth me to answer" Job 20:3.

In other passages the object of knowledge, in the sense of what one desires to know, is indicated by binah: "Keep therefore and do them [God's laws]: for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, which shall hear all these statutes..." Deut 4:6; cf. 1 Chron 22:12. God's law, therefore, is wisdom and "understanding" — what one should know.

A Prudent Person

This word is sometimes personified: "Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding; if thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures..." Prov 2:3-4.

tebunah, "understanding." This word, which occurs 42 times, is also a wisdom term. Like binah, it represents the act Job 26:12, faculty Ex 31:3, object Prov 2:3, and personification of wisdom Prov 8:1.

maskil, "didactic psalm (?)." this noun form, derived from sakal, is found in the title of 13 psalms and also in Ps 47:7. Scholars are not agreed on the significance of this term, but on the basis of the general meaning of sakal, such psalms must have been considered didactic or teaching psalms.

TO DIVINE, PRACTICE DIVINATION

qacam "to divine, practice divination." Cognates of this word appear in late Aramaic, Coptic, Syriac, Mandaean, Ethiopic, Palmyran, and Arabic. This root appears 31 times in biblical Hebrew: 11 times as a verb, 9 times as a participle, and 11 times as a noun.

Divination was a pagan parallel to prophesying: "There shall not be found among you anyone who makes his son or daughter pass through the fire, one who uses divination.... For those nations, which you shall dispossess, listen to those who practice witchcraft and to diviners, but as for you the Lord your God has not allowed you to do so. The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your countrymen; you shall listen to him" Deut 18:10,14-15 — first occurrence.

Qacam is a seeking after the will of the gods, in an effort to learn their future action or divine blessing on some proposed future action Josh 13:22. It seems probable that the diviners conversed with demons 1 Cor 10:20.

The practice of divination might involve offering sacrifices to the deity on an altar Num 23:1ff.. It might also involve the use of a hole in the ground, through which the diviner spoke to the spirits of the dead 1 Sam 28:8. At other times, a diviner might shake arrows, consult with household idols, or study the livers of dead animals Ezek 21:21.

Divination was one of man's attempts to know and control the world and the future, apart from the true God. It was the opposite of true prophecy, which essentially is submission to God's sovereignty Deut 18:14.

Perhaps the most perplexing uses of this word occur in Num 22-23 and Prov 16:10, where it seems to be an equivalent of prophecy. Balaam was well-known among the pagans as a diviner; at the same time, he recognized Yahweh as his God Num 22:18. He accepted money for his services and probably was not beyond adjusting the message to please his clients.

PRUDENCE, PRUDENT

A. Nouns.

1. phronesis akin to phroneo, "to have understanding" (phren, "the mind"), denotes "practical wisdom, prudence in the management of affairs." It is translated "wisdom" in Luke 1:17; "prudence" in Eph 1:8. See WISDOM.

2. sunesis "understanding," is rendered "prudence" in 1 Cor 1:19, RV (KJV, "understanding"); it suggests quickness of apprehension, the penetrating consideration which precedes action. Cf. B, in the same verse. See KNOWLEDGE, UNDERSTANDING.

B. Adjective.

sunetos signifies "intelligent, sagacious, understanding" (akin to suniem, "to perceive"), translated "prudent" in Matt 11:25, KJV (RV, "understanding"); Luke 10:21 (ditto); Acts 13:7, RV, "(a man) of understanding"; in 1 Cor 1:19, "prudent," RV and KJV. Cf. asunetos, "without understanding."

WISDOM

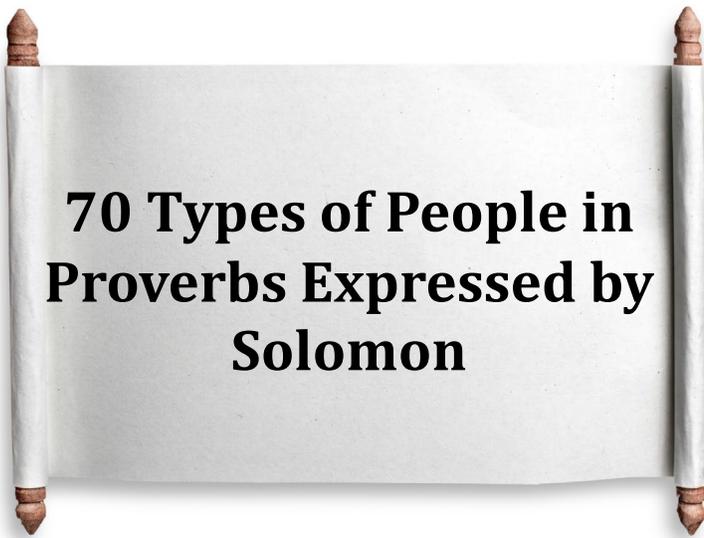

1. sophia is used with reference to (a) God, Rom 11:33; 1 Cor 1:21,24; 2:7; Eph 3:10; Rev 7:12; (b) Christ, Matt 13:54; Mark 6:2; Luke 2:40,52; 1 Cor 1:30; Col 2:3; Rev 5:12; (c) "wisdom" personified, Matt 11:19; Luke 7:35; 11:49; (d) human "wisdom" (1) in spiritual things, Luke 21:15; Acts 6:3,10; 7:10; 1 Cor 2:6 (1st part); 12:8; 1:8,17; 1:9, RV, "(spiritual) wisdom," 28; 3:16; 4:5; 5; 3:13,17; 15; 18; 17:9; (2) in the natural sphere, Matt 12:42; Luke 11:31; Acts 7:22; 1 Cor 1:17,19,20,21 (twice), 22; 2:1,4,5,6 (2nd part), 13; 3:19; 12; 23; (3) in its most debased form, James 3:15, "earthly, sensual, devilish" (marg., "demoniacal").

2. phronesis "understanding, prudence," i. e., a right use of phren, "the mind," is translated "wisdom" in Luke 1:17. See PRUDENCE.

Note: "While sophia is the insight into the true nature of things, phronesis is the ability to discern modes of action with a view to their results; while sophia is theoretical, phronesis is practical" (Lightfoot). Sunesis, "understanding, intelligence," is the critical faculty; this and phronesis are particular applications of sophia.

Psalms 44:18

Our heart is not turned back, neither have our steps declined from thy way;

Psalms 53:3

Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

Proverbs 14:14

The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways: and a good man shall be satisfied from himself.

Isaiah 42:17

They shall be turned back, they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in graven images, that say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

Jeremiah 3:14

Turn, O backsliding children, saith the LORD; for I am married unto you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion:

Jeremiah 3:22

Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God.

Hosea 14:4

I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

Zephaniah 1:6

And them that are turned back from the LORD; and those that have not sought the LORD, nor inquired for him.

Matthew 23:28

Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.

Matthew 24:12

And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold.

Romans 6:19

I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness.

Acts 8:23

For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity.

II Timothy 2:19

Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity.

One stage is the advanced degree of stubbornness. In I Samuel 15:23, it shows that stubbornness is the same as iniquity.

The 5 progressive stages of iniquity are similar to the 5 progressive stages of fools. In the New Testament it says covetousness is as iniquity.

carar (saw-rar'); to turn away, i.e. (morally) be refractory:

KJV - away, backsliding, rebellious, revolter (-ing), slide back, stubborn, withdrew.

Deuteronomy 21:18

If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father, or the voice of his mother, and that, when they have chastened him, will not hearken unto them:

Deuteronomy 21:20

And they shall say unto the elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton, and a drunkard.

Nehemiah 9:29

And testifiedst against them, that thou mightest bring them again unto thy law: yet they dealt proudly, and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but sinned against thy judgments, (which if a man do, he shall live in them;) and withdrew the shoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear.

Psalms 66:7

He ruleth by his power for ever; his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah.

Psalms 68:6

God setteth the solitary in families: he bringeth out those which are bound with chains: but the rebellious dwell in a dry land.

Psalms 68:18

Thou hast ascended on high, thou hast led captivity captive: thou hast received gifts for men; yea, for the rebellious also, that the LORD God might dwell among them.

Psalms 78:8

And might not be as their fathers, a stubborn and rebellious generation; a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not stedfast with God.

While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage. For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled, therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning. For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them. INIQUITY

A. Verb.

±awah OT:5753, "to do iniquity." This verb appears in the Bible 17 times. In Arabic this verb appears with the meaning "to bend" or "to deviate from the way." ±Awah is often used as a synonym of chata°, "to sin," as in Ps 106:6: "We have sinned [chata° with our fathers, we have committed iniquity [±awah], we have done wickedly [rasha±]."

B. Nouns.

±awon OT:5771, "iniquity; guilt; punishment." This noun, which appears 231 times in the Old Testament, is limited to Hebrew and biblical Aramaic. The prophetic and poetic books employ ±awon with frequency. The Pentateuch as a whole employs the word about 50 times. In addition to these, the historical books infrequently use ±awon. The first use of ±awon comes from Cain's lips, where the word takes the special meaning of "punishment": "And Cain said unto the Lord, My punishment is greater than I can bear" Gen 4:13.

The most basic meaning of ±awon is "iniquity." The word signifies an offense, intentional or not, against God's law. This meaning is also most basic to the word chatta°t, "sin," in the Old Testament, and for this reason the words chatta°t and ±awon are virtually synonymous; "Lo, this [the live coal] hath touched thy [Isaiah's] lips; and thine iniquity [±awon] is taken away, and thy sin [chatta°t] purged" Isa 6:7.

"Iniquity" as an offense to God's holiness is punishable. The individual is warned that the Lord punishes man's transgression: "But every one shall die for his own iniquity: every man that eateth the sour grape, his teeth shall be set on edge" Jer 31:30. There is also a collective sense in that the one is responsible for the many: "Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me" Ex 20:5. No generation, however, was to think that it bore God's judgment for the "iniquity" of another generation: "Yet say ye, Why? doth not the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my statutes, and hath done them, he shall surely live. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him" Ezek 18:19-20.

INIQUITY

1. anomia, lit., "lawlessness" (a, negative, nomos, "law"), is used in a way which indicates the meaning as being lawlessness or wickedness. Its usual rendering in the NT is "iniquity," which lit. means unrighteousness. It occurs very frequently in the Sept., especially in the Psalms, where it is found about 70 times. It is used (a) of iniquity in general, Matt 7:23; 13:41; 23:28; 24:12; Rom 6:19 (twice); 2 Cor 6:14, RV, "iniquity" (KJV, "unrighteousness"); 2 Thess 2:3, in some mss.; the KJV and RV follow those which have hamartia, "(man of) sin"; 2:7, RV, "lawlessness" (KJV, "iniquity"); Titus 2:14; Heb 1:9; 1 John 3:4 (twice), RV, "(doeth)... lawlessness" and "lawlessness" (KJV, "transgresseth the law" and "transgression of the law"); (b) in the plural, of acts or manifestations of lawlessness, Rom 4:7; Heb 10:17 (some inferior mss. have it in 8:12, for the word hamartia). See LAWLESSNESS, TRANSGRESSION, UNRIGHTEOUSNESS.

Note: In the phrase "man of sin," 2 Thess 2:3, the word suggests the idea of contempt of Divine law, since the Antichrist will deny the existence of God.

2. adikia denotes "unrighteousness," lit., "unrightness" (a, negative, dike, "right"), a condition of not being right, whether with God, according to the standard of His holiness and righteousness, or with man, according to the standard of what man knows to be right by his conscience. In Luke 16:8 and 18:6, the phrases lit. are, "the steward of unrighteousness" and "the judge of injustice," the subjective genitive describing their character; in 18:6 the meaning is "injustice" and so perhaps in Rom 9:14. The word is usually translated "unrighteousness," but is rendered "iniquity" in Luke 13:27; Acts 1:18; 8:23; 1 Cor 13:6, KJV (RV, "unrighteousness"); so in 2 Tim 2:19; James 3:6.

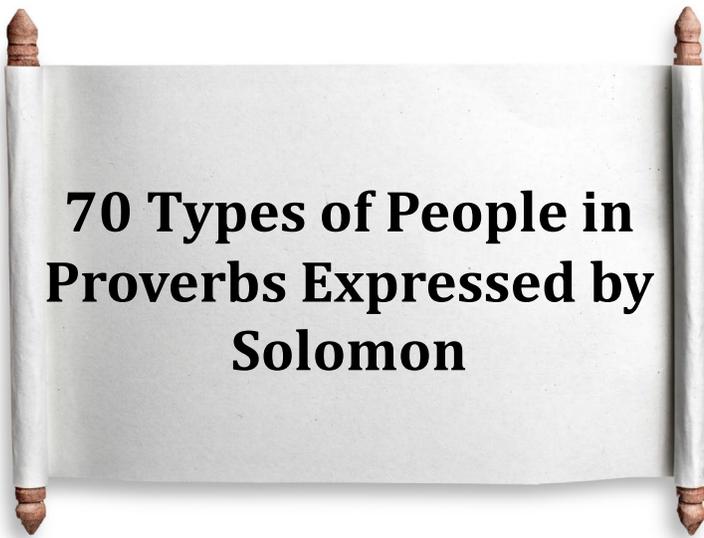

3. adikema denotes "a wrong, injury, misdeed" (akin to No. 2; from adikeo, "to do wrong"), the concrete act, in contrast to the general meaning of No. 2, and translated "a matter of wrong," in Acts 18:14; "wrongdoing," 24:20 (KJV, "evil-doing"); "iniquities," Rev 18:5. See EVIL, WRONG.

4. poneria, akin to poneo, "to toil" (cf. poneros, "bad, worthless"; see BAD), denotes "wickedness," and is so translated in Matt 22:18; Mark 7:22 (plural); Luke 11:39; Rom 1:29; 1 Cor 5:8; Eph 6:12; in Acts 3:26, "iniquities." See WICKEDNESS. Cf. kakia, "evil."

5. paranomia "lawbreaking" (para, "against," nomos, "law"), denotes "transgression," so rendered in 2 Peter 2:16, for KJV, "iniquity."

THE GOAL IS ANGER RESOLUTION NOT ANGER MANAGEMENT

This teaching expresses various perspectives on Anger and specifically narrows it down to 10 progressive levels of Anger. Additionally, it reflects on the difference between Anger and Wrath.

Insights Into an Angry Man's Life

Today the trend is for anger management, however we are told in scripture to have anger resolution (i.e.) to put off.

Colossians 3:8

But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth.

Ephesians 4:31

Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice:

Matthew 5:22

But I say unto you, that whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.

An Angry Person

Insights into an Angry Man's Life

As the person grows into an adult there is at times an over discipline or under discipline. This plus picking up some of our parent's traits and "the nature all are born with" is a combination that can start a person on the road to being an angry person.

If there were a national crisis today it would be angry men and impatient women. As this person grows into an adult, he seeks attention, acceptance, and acknowledgement. To the degree this is not received is the degree of frustration.

Therefore one finds various ways to get attention, acceptance, and acknowledgement. It can be by being foolish, mean, or wise in one's own conceit, and other various ways. This works for a while but there soon comes a "reaction" from other people which in turn also brings a reaction. Slowly the ropes are tying the person in stubbornness.

I Samuel 15:23

For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.) This reaction leads a person to resist instruction.

Proverbs 1:30

They would none of my counsel: they despised all my reproof.

Proverbs 5:12

And say, How have I hated instruction, and my heart despised reproof;) This is all on the path to being an angry person.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

An Angry Person

There are progressive levels of iniquity and related levels of fools which shows how this person goes through reactions. Occasionally they learn how to quell the anger and at times are passive aggressive.

The early stages put them at odds with authority.

Proverbs 15:5

A fool despiseth his father's instruction: but he that regardeth reproof is prudent.

Proverbs 16:14

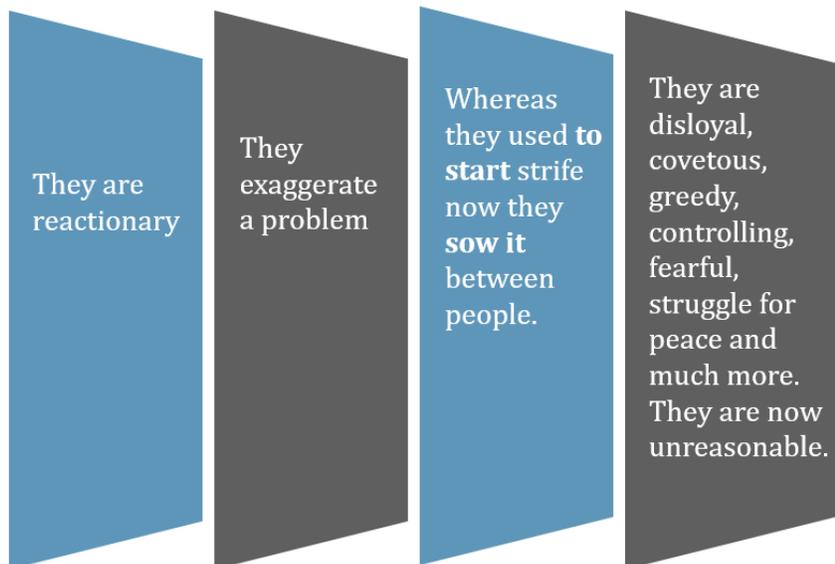

The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacify it.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Insights into an Angry Man's Life

As stubbornness develops in their life it shows up in visible ways:

Proverbs 16:28

A froward man soweth strife: and a whisperer separateth chief friends. (Forward equals unreasonable.)

Proverbs 27:4

Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?

Proverbs 15:1

A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger.

Proverbs 15:18

A wrathful man stirreth up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife.

Proverbs 16:32

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.

Proverbs 19:11

The discretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

An Angry Person

When a person is in this stage, problems start to develop.

At first the person struggles with authority, and they kindle strife.

Proverbs 26:21

As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife.

However, in this stage they sow strife. The result is that their stubbornness leads this person to make poor financial decisions. They may be successful for some time but grow to distrust people and they want to get their way. It is difficult to reason with them and ironically, they gather bad council around themselves. Their focus on control draws them to added mistakes.

Proverbs 14:17

He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated.) Here they are fearful and disloyal.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Insights into an Angry Man's Life

Then a person enters yet a greater level of anger. So much that they may have a tough time sleeping.

Proverbs 22:8

He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity: and the rod of his anger shall fail.

Proverbs 29:22

An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

In the previous level, a person sows strife.

In this level, a person stirs up strife (Body, soul, and spirit).

If a person does not address this issue, it will get worse into yet another level. Although anger is different than wrath there is an ironic issue.

First as an issue on it's own it is possible to struggle with wrath and express wrath. It may look like anger but may not be. (See the teaching on Wrath.) Then on yet another separate issue it is possible to struggle with anger and go through phases on the way to wrath. Here are insights on the transition:

The below shows anger and wrath as different yet related:

Deuteronomy 9:19

For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure, wherewith the LORD WAS wroth against you to destroy you. But the LORD hearkened unto me at that time also.

Deuteronomy 29:28

If a person refuses to do right and continues in anger (hiding it on occasion), many times this leads the person to a crisis of anger and into wrath. His anger many times leads to physical problems and serious destruction in people. This is a real crisis. This in turn can lead to doctors and other medical attempts to solve the problem which are not the root cause. There is an “End” visible sign. Sooner or later, almost all those a wrathful person deals with are “cut off”. Listed below are verses pertaining to this difficult stage. See also the teaching on wrath for the 7 physical medical stages. This stage of moving into wrath is terrible.

Psalms 55:3

Because of the voice of the enemy, because of the oppression of the wicked: for they cast iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me.

Psalms 37:8

Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil.

Proverbs 19:19

A man of great wrath shall suffer punishment: for if thou deliver him, yet thou must do it again.

Proverbs 12:16

A fool's wrath is presently known: but a prudent man covereth shame.

Proverbs 27:3

A stone is heavy, and the sand weighty; but a fool's wrath is heavier than them both.

Proverbs 11:4

Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteousness delivereth from death.

Proverbs 11:23

The desire of the righteous is only good: but the expectation of the wicked is wrath.

Proverbs 21:24

Proud and haughty scorner is his name, who dealeth in proud wrath.

Proverbs 29:22 An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.	'aph This is an interesting Hebrew word for anger but also in a few places for grace and longsuffering. It is mostly used to express Gods perspective. A word for a type of anger that acts out of power mostly reserved for righteous issues. It mostly has in it a longsuffering to people. The best thing to do is to submit (i.e.) fall on your face.	Proverbs 22:24 Make no friendship with an angry man; and with a furious man thou shalt not go:	Proverbs 15:1 A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger .	Proverbs 14:29 He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding; but he that is hasty of spirit exalteth folly.
Proverbs 14:17 He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated.		Proverbs 25:15 By long forbearing is a prince persuaded, and a soft tongue breaketh the bone.	Proverbs 27:4 Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?	Proverbs 19:11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger ; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression. Isaiah 10:25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation shall cease, and mine anger in their destruction.
Hosea 14:4 I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.	Psalms 145:8 The LORD is gracious, and full of compassion; slow to anger , and of great mercy.	Jeremiah 10:24 O LORD, correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger , lest thou bring me to nothing.	Proverbs 15:18 A wrathful man stirreth up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife.	Jonah 4:2 And he prayed unto the LORD, and said, I pray thee, O LORD, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country?
	Proverbs 16:32 He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.		Proverbs 29:8 Scornful men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turn away wrath .

An Angry Person – Hebrew

ANGER, BURNING

A. Verb.

charah "to get angry, be angry." This verb appears in the Bible 92 times. In the basic stem, the word refers to the "burning of anger" as in Jonah 4:1. In the causative stem, charah means "to become heated with work" or "with zeal for work" Neh 3:20.

B. Noun.

charon "burning anger." The 41 occurrences of this word cover every period of the Bible. This word refers exclusively to divine anger as that which is "burning." Charon first appears in Ex 32:12: "Turn from thy fierce wrath [charon], and repent of this evil against thy people."

NOSE

anap "to be angry." This verb, which has cognates in most of the Semitic languages, occurs 39 times in biblical Hebrew and in all periods. The verb appears in Isa 12:1: "O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me...."

TO PROVOKE (ANGER)

ka^oas, "to provoke, vex, make angry." This word is common throughout the history of Hebrew and is used in modern Hebrew in the sense of "to be angry, to rage." It occurs some 55 times in the Hebrew Old Testament.

A word that is characteristic of the Book of Deuteronomy, it seems fitting that ka^oas is found for the first time in the Old Testament in that book: "...to provoke him to anger" Deut 4:25. The word is characteristic also of the books of Jeremiah and Kings. A review of the uses of this verb shows that around 80 percent of them involve Yahweh's "being provoked to anger" by Israel's sin, especially its worship of other gods. One such example is in II Kings 23:19: "And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord to anger, Josiah took away...."

TO BE WROTH, ANGRY

qatsap "to be wroth, angry." This verb appears 34 times and is found mainly in the Pentateuch and in the prophets, and a few times in the historical books and the poetic literature. The word is used in rabbinic Hebrew, but its use in modern Hebrew has been displaced by other verbs. It is an ancient Canaanite word; as a gloss it appeared in the Amarna Tablets with the meaning "to become worried," or according to others, "to be embittered." The relation with the Arabic cognate qasafa is doubtful.

The general meaning of qatsap is a strong emotional outburst of anger, especially when man is the subject of the reaction. The first usage of the word brings this out: "And Pharaoh was wroth against two of his officers... and he put them in [custody]..." Gen 40:2-3; cf. 41:10. Moses became bitterly angry with the disobedient Israelites Ex 16:20. The leaders of the Philistines "were wroth" with Achish 1 Sam 29:4, and Naaman was strongly irritated by Elisha's lack of a sense of protocol II Kings 5:11. Elisha expressed his anger with Joash, king of Israel II Kings 13:19. King Ahasuerus deposed Vashti in his anger Est 1:12. In these examples an exalted person (generally a king) demonstrated his royal anger in radical measures against his subjects. He was in a position "to be angered" by the response of his subjects. It is rarer for a person "to become angry" with an equal. It is even rarer for a subject "to be angry" with his superior: "...two of the king's chamberlains... were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus" Est 2:21.

WROTH

The noun derived from qatsap particularly refers to God's anger. The verb qatsap is used 11 times to describe man's anger and 18 times to refer to God's anger. This fact, coupled with the observation that the verb generally is an expression of a superior against a subject, explains why the biblical text more frequently uses qatsap to describe God's anger. The object of the anger is often indicated by the preposition ±al ("against"). "For I was afraid of the anger [±ap] and hot displeasure [chemah], wherewith the Lord was wroth [qatsap] against [°al] you to destroy you" Deut 9:19. The Lord's anger expresses itself against disobedience Lev 10:6 and sin Eccl 5:5ff. However, people themselves can be the cause for God's anger Ps 106:32. In the wilderness the Israelites provoked God to wrath by their disobedience and lack of faith: "Remember, and forget not, how thou provokedst the Lord thy God to wrath in the wilderness: from the day that thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against the Lord" Deut 9:7; cf. vv. 8,22. Moses spoke about God's wrath against Israel's disobedience which would in time be the occasion for the Exile Deut 29:27, and the prophets amplify Moses' warning of God's coming "wrath" Jer 21:5. After the Exile,

God had compassion on Israel and turned His anger against Israel's enemies Isa 34:2.

In the Greek version we find the following translations: orgizomai ("to be angry") and lupew ("to grieve, to pain, to be sad").

WROTH

B. Noun.

qetsep "wrath." This noun occurs 28 times in biblical Hebrew and generally with reference to God. One occurrence of God's "wrath" is in 2 Chron 29:8: "Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem..." An example of man's "wrath" appears in Est 1:18: "Likewise shall the ladies of Persia and Media say this day unto all the king's princes, which have heard of the deed of the queen. Thus shall there arise too much contempt and wrath" (cf. Eccl 5:17).

An Angry Person - Greek

ANGER, ANGRY (TO BE)

orge originally any "natural impulse, or desire, or disposition," came to signify "anger," as the strongest of all passions. It is used of the wrath of man, Eph 4:31; Col 3:8; 1 Tim 2:8; James 1:19-20; the displeasure of human governments, Rom 13:4-5; the sufferings of the Jews at the hands of the Gentiles, Luke 21:23; the terrors of the Law, Rom 4:15; "the anger" of the Lord Jesus, Mark 3:5; God's "anger" with Israel in the wilderness, in a quotation from the OT, Heb 3:11; 4:3; God's present "anger" with the Jews nationally, Rom 9:22; 1 Thess 2:16; His present "anger" with those who disobey the Lord Jesus in His gospel, John 3:36; God's purposes in judgment, Matt 3:7; Luke 3:7; Rom 1:18; 2:5,8; 3:5; 5:9; 12:19; Eph 2:3; 5:6; Col 3:6; 1 Thess 1:10; 5:9. See INDIGNATION, VENGEANCE, WRATH.

Notes: (1) Thumos, "wrath" (not translated "anger"), is to be distinguished from orge, in this respect, that thumos indicates a more agitated condition of the feelings, an outburst of wrath from inward indignation, while orge suggests a more settled or abiding condition of mind, frequently with a view to taking revenge. Orge is less sudden in its rise than thumos, but more lasting in its nature. Thumos expresses more the inward feeling, orge the more active emotion. Thumos may issue in revenge, though it does not necessarily include it. It is characteristic that it quickly blazes up and quickly subsides, though that is not necessarily implied in each case.

(2) Parorgismos, a strengthened form of orge, and used in Eph 4:26, RV margin, "provocation," points especially to that which provokes the wrath, and suggests a less continued state than No. (1). "The first keenness of the sense of provocation must not be cherished, though righteous resentment may remain" (Westcott). The preceding verb, orgizo, in this verse implies a just occasion for the feeling. This is confirmed by the fact that it is a quotation from Ps 4:4 (Sept.), where the Hebrew word signifies to quiver with strong emotion.

ANGER

Thumos is found eighteen times in the NT, ten of which are in the Apocalypse, in seven of which the reference is to the wrath of God; so in Rom 2:8, RV, "wrath (thumos) and indignation" (orge); the order in the KJV is inaccurate. Everywhere else the word thumos is used in a bad sense. In Gal 5:20, it follows the word "jealousies," which when smoldering in the heart break out in wrath. Thumos and orge are coupled in two places in the Apocalypse, 16:19, "the fierceness (thumos) of His wrath" (orge); and 19:15, "the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God." See WROTH (be).

(3) Aganaktesis originally signified "physical pain or irritation" (probably from agan, "very much," and achomai, "to grieve"), hence, "annoyance, vexation," and is used in 2 Cor 7:11, "indignation."

B. Verbs.

1. orgizo "to provoke, to arouse to anger," is used in the middle voice in the eight places where it is found, and signifies "to be angry, wroth." It is said of individuals, in Matt 5:22; 18:34; 22:7; Luke 14:21; 15:28, and Eph 4:26 (where a possible meaning is "be ye angry with yourselves"); of nations, Rev 11:18; of Satan as the Dragon, 12:17 See WRATH.

2. parorgizo is "to arouse to wrath, provoke" (para, used intensively, and No. 1); Rom 10:19, "will I anger"; Eph 6:4, "provoke to wrath." See PROVOKE.

3. cholao connected with chole, "gall, bile," which became used metaphorically to signify bitter anger, means "to be enraged," John 7:23, "wroth," RV, in the Lord's remonstrance with the Jews on account of their indignation at His having made a man whole on the Sabbath Day.

Notes: (1) Thumomacheo (from thumos, "wrath," machomai, "to fight") originally denoted to fight with great animosity, and hence came to mean "to be very angry, to be exasperated," Acts 12:20, of the anger of Herod, "was highly displeased.

(2) Thumoo, the corresponding verb, signifies "to provoke to anger," but in the passive voice "to be wroth," as in Matt 2:16, of the wrath of Herod, "was exceeding wroth.

ANGER

(3) Aganakteo, see A, Note (3), is rendered in various ways in the seven places where it is used; "moved with indignation," Matt 20:24 and 21:15, RV (KJV, "sore displeased"); "had indignation," Matt 26:8; Mark 14:4. In Mark 10:14 the RV has "was moved with indignation" (KJV, "was much displeased"), said of the Lord Jesus. The same renderings are given in v. 41. In Luke 13:14 (KJV, "with indignation"), the RV rightly puts "being moved with indignation." These words more particularly point to the cause of the vexation. See DISPLEASE, INDIGNATION.

(4) In Col 3:21, erethizo signifies "to provoke." The RV correctly omits "to anger."

C. Adjective.

orgilos, "angry, prone to anger, irascible" (see B, Nos. 1, 2), is rendered "soon angry" in Titus 1:7.

The Very Elect

Process (How)	Preoccupation (Motive)	Predestination (Attitude/Thinking)	Precautions (Insights)
1. Mature trust.	To be willing and obedient to truth (giving attitude).	To do what God Wants.	Seek the Lord.
2. Pressures Come.	To help others draw close to Truth.	Increasing the doing to the expense of being.	Mark 4:19 And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful. (Be Careful)
3. Change priorities.	To help others do truth.	Pride of accomplishment. Obadiah 3 The pride of thy heart hath deceived thee.	When you think you stand lest you fall.
4. Hears Truth.	Wants to embrace truth but now uses truth rather than truth becoming a part of Him. Paratruth - Paragiving	Passes on knowledge not understanding. A-LOGOS	We should judge ourselves against Truth. (Not be brutish) i.e., not receiving reproof.)
5. Accept teaching and ideas that "Do" for God or where God must perform. Ephesians 4:19	To get truth working for me. II Peter 3:17 Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness. 6. —	No inner stability brings fear easily.	They start to listen when others are disciplined.	Proverbs 19:25 Smite a scorner, and the simple will beware: and reprove one that hath understanding, and he will understand knowledge. Proverbs 21:11 When the scorner is punished, the simple is made wise: and when the wise is instructed, he receiveth knowledge.
7. —	Believe that only good should happen.	They do not stop at God's signs and are punished.	Proverbs 22:3 A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished. Proverbs 27:12 A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself; but the simple pass on, and are punished.
8. —	Has no conception that her desire for attention and power is taken away by her loudness.	A clamorous woman is simple.	Proverbs 9:13 A foolish woman is clamorous: she is simple, and knoweth nothing.

Ways a simple person cannot be deceived and grow

Psalms 19:7

The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple.

Psalms 116:6

The LORD preserveth the simple: I was brought low, and he helped me.

Psalms 119:130

The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple.

Proverbs 1:4

To give subtilty to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion.

Proverbs 9:6

Forsake the foolish, and live; and go in the way of understanding.

A Deceiver

We Deceive Ourselves

When the struggle between good and evil becomes all there is then we can think good is winning in our life, then we could despise others: but if we think others are doing evil, we tend to judge them. We are to be humble (not think we are good) and not judge (krino) others but judge ourselves and then learn how to judge (diakrino) correctly.

We Deceive Ourselves

WHEN WE GET TO THE PLACE OF HAVING OR DOING CHRISTIANITY IN OUR OWN STRENGTH, OUR HEART DECEIVES US.
JEREMIAH 17:9

Process (How)	Preoccupation (Motive)	Predestination (Attitude/Thinking)	Precautions (Insights)
1. Pride	Think we are something.	Talk about others.	Galatians 6:3 For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself.
2. Will not.	If I am special, why should I say I am wrong?	More spiritual and as a church person can turn into a "Super Spook."	I John 1:8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
3. In pride we think we are wise.	About things to only go my way.	A wife here can get into an internal struggle if her husband gets saved, especially if she is used to getting things her way and his focus is being adjusted.	I Corinthians 3:18 Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise.

4. Talk about others.	How special I am.	As this person judges and condemns, he has the same problems he says others have. Thus his religion is worth little as it does not work as it should in his own life because he will generally not accept truth.	James 1:26 If any man among you seems to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain.
5. Sees problems, not solutions.	Sees bad in people.	Is a hearer— not a doer.	James 1:22 But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.

DECEIVER – Hebrew

FALSEHOOD

sheqer OT:8267, "falsehood; lie." The presence of this root is limited to Hebrew and Old Aramaic. The word sheqer occurs 113 times in the Old Testament. It is rare in all but the poetic and prophetic books, and even in these books its usage is concentrated in Psalms (24 times) Proverbs (20 times), and Jeremiah (37 times). The first occurrence is in Ex 5:9: "Let there more work be laid upon the men, that they may labor therein: and let them not regard vain words [lies]."

In about thirty-five passages, sheqer describes the nature of "deceptive speech": "to speak" Isa 59:3, "to teach" Isa 9:15, "to prophesy" Jer 14:14, and "to lie" Mic 2:11. It may also indicate a "deceptive character," as expressed in one's acts: "to deal treacherously" 2 Sam 18:13 and "to deal falsely" Hos 7:1.

Thus sheqer defines a way of life that goes contrary to the law of God. The psalmist, desirous of following God, prayed: "Remove from me the way of lying: and grant me thy law graciously. I have chosen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me" Ps 119:29-30; cf. vv. 104,118,128. Here we see the opposites: "falsehood" and "faithfulness." As "faithfulness" is a relational term, "falsehood" denotes "one's inability to keep faith" with what one has said or to respond positively to the faithfulness of another being. The Old Testament saint was instructed to avoid "deception" and the liar: "Keep thee far from a false matter; and the innocent and righteous slay thou not: for I will not justify the wicked" Ex 23:7; cf. Prov 13:5.

The Septuagint has these translations: adikos/adikia ("unjust; unrighteous; wrongdoing; wickedness") and pseudēs ("falsehood; lie"). The KJV gives these meanings: "lie; falsehood; false; falsely."

DECEIT

Shaw' OT:7723, "deceit; deception; malice; falsity; vanity; emptiness." The 53 occurrences of shaw' are primarily in poetry.

The basic meaning of this word is "deceit" or "deception," "malice," and "falsehood." This meaning emerges when shaw' is used in a legal context: "Put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness" Ex 23:1. Used in cultic contexts, the word bears these same overtones but may be rendered variously. For example, in Ps 31:6 the word may be rendered "vain" (KJV, "lying"), in the sense of "deceitful" (cf. Ezek 12:24). Eliphaz described the ungodly as those who trust in "emptiness" or "deception," though they gain nothing but emptiness as a reward for that trust Job 15:31.

DECEIVER – Greek

DECEIVER

1. planos (NT:4108) is, properly, an adjective, signifying "wandering, or leading astray, seducing," 1 Tim 4:1, "seducing (spirits)", used as a noun, it denotes an impostor of the vagabond type, and so any kind of "deceiver" or corrupter, Matt 27:63; 2 Cor 6:8; 2 John 7 (twice), in the last of which the accompanying definite article necessitates the translation "the deceiver," RV. See SEDUCE.

2. phrenapates (NT:5423), akin to C, No. 3, under DECEIVE, lit., "a mind-deceiver," is used in Titus 1:10.

Note: For "the deceiver," in Rev 12:9, see DECEIVE, C, No. 6.

CRAFTINESS, CRAFTY

A. Noun.

panourgia (NT:3834), lit., "allworking," i. e., doing everything (pan, "all," ergon, "work"), hence, "unscrupulous conduct, craftiness," is always used in a bad sense in the NT, Luke 20:23; 1 Cor 3:19; 2 Cor 4:2; 11:3; Eph 4:14, KJV, "cunning craftiness." See SUBTLETY. In the Sept. it is used in a good sense, Prov 1:4; 8:5; indifferently in Num 24:22 and Josh 9:4.

B. Adjective.

panourgos (NT:3835), "cunning, crafty," is found in 2 Cor 12:16, where the apostle is really quoting an accusation made against him by his detractors. In the Sept. it is used in a good sense in Prov 13:1; 28:2.

C. Noun.

dolos (NT:1388), primarily, "a bait," hence, "fraud, guile, deceit," is rendered "craft" in the KJV of Mark 14:1 (RV "subtilty"). See DECEIT, GUILLE, SUBTLETY.

DECEIT, DECEITFUL, DECEITFULLY, DECEITFULNESS, DECEIVE, DECEIVABLENESS

A. Nouns.

1. apate (NT:539), "deceit or deceitfulness" (akin to apatao, "to cheat, deceive, beguile"), that which gives a false impression, whether by appearance, statement or influence, is said of riches, Matt 13:22; Mark 4:19; of sin, Heb 3:13. The phrase in Eph 4:22, "deceitful lusts," KJV, "lusts of deceit," RV, signifies lusts excited by "deceit," of which "deceit" is the source of strength, not lusts "deceitful" in themselves. In 2 Thess 2:10, "all deceit of unrighteousness," RV, signifies all manner of unscrupulous words and deeds designed to "deceive" (see Rev 13:13-15). In Col 2:8, "vain deceit" suggests that "deceit" is void of anything profitable.

Note: In 2 Peter 2:13, the most authentic texts have "revelling in their love-feasts," RV (agapais), for KJV, "deceivings" (apatais).

2. dolos (NT:1388), primarily "a bait, snare"; hence, "craft, deceit, guile," is translated "deceit" in Mark 7:22; Rom 1:29. See CRAFT, GUILE, SUBTILTY.

Notes: (1) Plane, rendered "deceit" in 1 Thess 2:3, KJV, signifies wandering (cf. Eng., "planet"), hence, "error" (RV), i. e., a wandering from the right path; in Eph 4:14, "wiles of error, KJV, "to deceive." See DELUDE, ERROR. (2) For dolioo, "to use deceit," see C, No. 4.

B. Adjective.

dolios (NT:1386), "deceitful," is used in 2 Cor 11:13, of false apostles as "deceitful workers"; cf. A, No. 2 and Note (2).

C. Verbs.

1. apatao (NT:538), "to beguile, deceive" (see A, No. 1), is used (a) of those who "deceive" "with empty words," belittling the true character of the sins mentioned, Eph 5:6; (b) of the fact that Adam was "not beguiled," 1 Tim 2:14, RV (cf. what is said of Eve; see No. 2 below); (c) of the "self-deceit" of him who thinks himself religious, but bridles not his tongue, James 1:26.

2. exapatao (NT:1818), ek (ex), intensive, and No. 1, signifies "to beguile thoroughly, to deceive wholly," 1 Tim 2:14, RV. See BEGUILE.

3. phrenapatao (NT:5422), lit., "to deceive in one's mind" (phren, "the mind," and No. 1), "to deceive by fancies" (Lightfoot), is used in Gal 6:3, with reference to self-conceit, which is "self-deceit," a sin against common sense. Cf. James 1:26 (above).

Note: Cf. phrenapates, No. 2, under DECEIVE.

4. dolioo (NT:1387), "to lure," as by a bait (see A, No. 2), is translated "have used deceit" in Rom 3:13.

5. doloo (NT:1389), a short form of No. 4, primarily signifies "to ensnare"; hence, "to corrupt," especially by mingling the truths of the Word of God with false doctrines or notions, and so handling it "deceitfully," 2 Cor 4:2. Cf. kapeleuo, "to corrupt by way of hucksterizing," 2:17. For the difference between the words see CORRUPT, A, No. 1.

6. planao (NT:4105), akin to plane, A, Note (1) (Eng., "planet"), in the passive form sometimes means "to go astray, wander," Matt 18:12; 1 Peter 2:25; Heb 11:38; frequently active, "to deceive, by leading into error, to seduce," e. g., Matt 24:4,5,11,24; John 7:12, "leadeth astray," RV (cf. 1 John 3:7). In Rev 12:9 the present participle is used with the definite article, as a title of the Devil, "the Deceiver," lit., "the deceiving one." Often it has the sense of "deceiving oneself," e. g., 1 Cor 6:9; 15:33; Gal 6:7; James 1:16, "be not deceived," RV, "do not err," KJV. See ERR, LEAD (astray), SEDUCE, WANDER, WAY (be out of the).

7. paralogizomai (NT:3884); see BEGUILE, No. 3.

DELUDE, DELUSION

A. Verb.

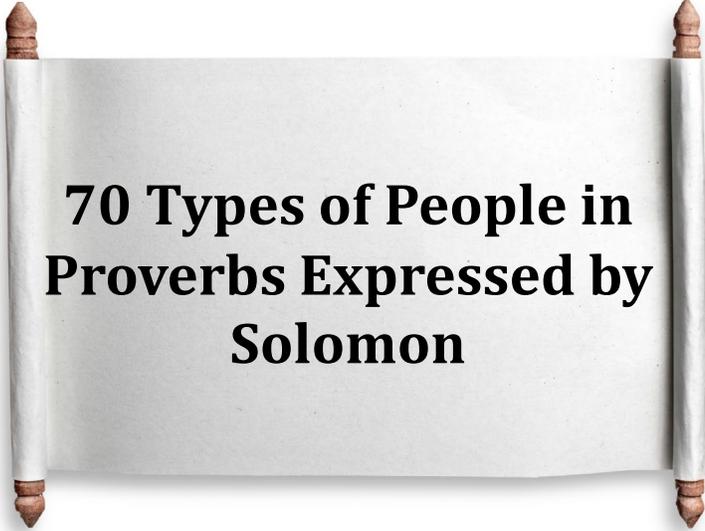

paralogizomai (NT:3884): see BEGUILE.

B. Noun.

plane (NT:4106), lit., "a wandering," whereby those who are led astray roam hither and thither, is always used in the NT, of mental straying, wrong opinion, error in morals or religion. In 2 Thess 2:11, KJV, it is translated delusion, RV, error. See DECEIT, ERROR.

“A Crises in Defining Hasty”

It has become obvious that our perception of the English word hasty creates a massive false misunderstanding of the real meaning of the Biblical word hasty. We think hasty is to hurry (to do so for good or to be hasty for bad.) There is an old saying “haste makes waste.” Of the five (5) Hebrew words rendered hasty, one word is for urgent (it only shows up twice in the Bible). There is a Hebrew word for emotional excitement that makes an individual hurry; a Hebrew word for being hasty to make a decision prematurely; a Hebrew word to be impatient and hurry and a Hebrew word that reflects the true Hebrew definition of the word hasty. So if you could allow for all the above in the below definition then lets explore the full meaning. (Actually in this word hasty is a crisis that is wide spread in many people.)

Note in the following pages 7 progressive stages that can at the end get into a person’s spirit (body, soul, spirit)

Definition

It is to get to the place in life where one is absorbed (I almost used the word consumed) by having to obtain something (obsessed with success; and/ or control; and/or possessions.) It can be about a person, thing or objective. It creates a struggle with the fear of man (being a hindrance); the fear of loss; and the fear of failure. It is to be in and out of obsession. The end is to be a challenge to others as it shows up in wrath. When they are challenged in power, position or possessions wrath can show up. “All” of this is the “end” for a person who is hasty of spirit. It leads to bad decisions. To be around them is like walking on eggs at times. There are times they are OK and actually nice, but the problem part will return soon. They are hardly happy and can’t be satisfied.

Proverbs 14:29

He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding: but he that is hasty of spirit exalteth folly.

Proverbs 21:5

The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness; but of every one that is hasty only to want.

Proverbs 28:20

A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent.

Proverbs 28:22

He that hasteth to be rich hath an evil eye, and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him.

10 Visible Signs

Be Careful: This list below can show up one at a time or all at once in people who are not hasty. However, if a person is hasty in spirit then all the below items are in the persons life. Some of these are hardly visible yet some are obvious. Also, at various times some will be more obvious.

1. They are quick to be negative of someone else.

Proverbs 1:16

For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood.

2. They are quick to evil (4 parts in evil: pride, arrogance, manipulative way; and an unreasonable mouth).

Proverbs 6:18

An heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief,

3. They are reactionary. Quick to be uptight.

Proverbs 14:17

He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated.

Ecclesiastes 7:9

Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools.

4. They talk of success without the pain of life.

Proverbs 20:21

An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning; but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

5. They make decisions based on false goals in life.

Proverbs 21:5

The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness; but of every one that is hasty only to want.

6. Always looking for that illusive deal or position to springboard them ahead.

Proverbs 28:20

A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent.

7 Progressive Stages Of Hastily Going Towards Trouble

Insights	Scripture
1. A person has a focus on “things.” They set aside two (2) things: (1) What God “has done” and (2) wise council from God’s authority structure. They are in a haste to set things aside. Trusting the Lord is fleeting as their personal desire to succeed struggles against what is right.	Psalms 106:13 They soon forgot his works; they waited not for his counsel:
2. Thoughts consume them. They do not realize this problem is spreading beyond their mind to their spirit.	Proverbs 21:5 The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness; but of every one that is hasty only to want.
3. Impatience to succeed pushes them to want their heritage now. An inheritance is that which I do not work for. It is to want now (i.e.) today, future success and they cannot be satisfied or happy no matter what happens.	Proverbs 20:21 An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning; but the end thereof shall not be blessed.
4. Thoughts lead to words. False conclusions lead to hasty words.	Proverbs 29:20 Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words? there is more hope of a fool than of him.
Words that conclude current status as failure or even evil versus God’s hand. (Who the Lord loves he chastens.)	Ecclesiastes 5:2 Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few.
Their thoughts are in iniquity. “There are 5 progressive stages of iniquity” Stubbornness is one stage of iniquity that shows up in the fear of man; the fear of loss; and the fear of failure. I Samuel 15:23 For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.	Isaiah 59:7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; wasting and destruction are in their paths. Job 4:5 But now it is come upon thee, and thou faintest; it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled. Job 21:6 Even when I remember I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my flesh. Job 22:10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and sudden fear troubleth thee;
Leads to hasty words of not being happy in life because God allows trouble.	Ecclesiastes 5:2 Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few.

5. Frustration leads to iniquity or stubbornness which leads to really being uptight which leads to anger which can settle into one's spirit. "Now" the goal is to get my future inheritance now which is symbolic of wanting future success today. It turns to financial success as the person see's money as a measuring stick of how people perceive them. They would mostly not agree this is how they feel.	Ecclesiastes 7:9 Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools. Proverbs 14:17 He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated. Proverbs 14:29 He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding: but he that is hasty of spirit exalteth folly.

6. The goal now is to pursue success (Their decision is how they define success), even at the expense of others. Their feet move – action is now "pushing".	Isaiah 59:7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; wasting and destruction are in their paths. Proverbs 19:2 Also, that the soul be without knowledge, it is not good; and he that hasteth with his feet sinneth. Proverbs 6:18 An heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, Proverbs 1:16 For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood.

CONFUSION/ENVY/DOUBLE-MINDEDNESS

Greek word - Akatastasia

Definition – one of two types of confusion is from the Greek word Akatastasia. This Greek word has three (3) parts:

A	negative
Kata	down
Stasia	a troubled spirit
Stasis	has been rendered insurrection, sedition, dissension, uproar, standing. This Greek tense when added to A and Kata produces Akatastasia .

Akatastasia

Luke 21:9

But when ye shall hear of wars and commotions, be not terrified: for these things must first come to pass; but the end is not by and by.

I Corinthians 14:33

For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.

II Corinthians 6:5

in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labours, in watchings, in fastings;

II Corinthians 12:20

For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults:

James 3:16

For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.

This has been rendered: commotions, confusion, tumults, (explained in more detail later in this outline.)

Akatastatos (one time) – James 1:8 “A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.”

To get the real meaning of this type of confusion, we must also review the context and word intent as it is revealed in all the verses. Thus, the need to read the context around each verse.

Stasis:

Mark 15:7 “And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.”

Mark 15:8 “And the multitude crying aloud began to desire him to do as he had even done unto them.”

Mark 15:10 “For he (Pilate) knew that the chief priests had delivered him for ‘envy’.” (see James 3:14)

Mark 15:11 (“This verse is quoted from the original Greek: -) “But the chief priests stirred up the crowd that rather Barabbas he might release to them.”

Luke 23:19 (Barabbas) “Who for a certain sedition made in the city, and for murder was cast in prison.”

Luke 23:25 “And he released unto them him that for sedition and murder was cast into prison, whom they had desired; but he delivered Jesus to their will.”

Acts 15:1-2 “And certain men which came down from Judaea taught the brethren, and said, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved. ² When therefore Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and disputation with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain other of them, should go up to Jerusalem unto the apostles and elders about this question.”

As Paul and Barabbas go on, the Bible says, “they caused joy” (verse 3) then when they came to Jerusalem (verse 4) to meet the apostles and elders, there arose certain of the sect of the Pharisees (verse 5) over the same issue. In verse 6, they came together to consider the matter and verse 7 says, “there was much disputing,” but not dissension. They had dissension (stasis) from the Jews, but among themselves only disputing (verse 7).

Peter then says in verse 10 “to add to truth” is to tempt God.

Greek word -Sunkusis

Another type of confusion (Sunkusis):

Acts 19:40 - This story starts out (verse 29) with the whole city in “confusion.”

Sunkusis, which is “a pouring or mixing together.” (sun, with cheo, to pour); hence, a disturbance, confusion, a tumultuous disorder, as of riotous persons. This is found in Acts 19:29 and is the noun. The verb sunched or sunchunno or sunchuno is to pour together, commingle, hence (said of persons), means to trouble or confuse, to stir up as in Acts 19:32 (said of the mind); to be in confusion, 21:31 (Revised Version). (New International Version, “was in an uproar”); 21:27, (“stirred up”); Acts 2:6, 9:22; “confounded.”

- A. Sunkeo - Acts 21:27 - stirred up all the people, and laid hands.
- B. Sunkraomaai - John 4:9 - For the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans.
- C. Sunkuno - Acts 2:6 “The multitude came together, and were confounded, because . . .”
Acts 9:22 “... And confounded the Jews which dwelt at . . .”
Acts 19:32 “...For the assembly was confused . . .”

D. Sunsisis - Acts 19:29 - Whole city was filled confusion.

Back to the story in chapter 19 of Acts, verse 29, the whole city was in confusion; they then hear Paul's message (verse 30). They stop Paul from going after his friends. In the city, some cried one thing, and some another; for the assembly was confused. (sunkuno) "And the more part knew not wherefore they were come together. . ."

E. Sunkuno Is when you have something to do and you don't know how to go about it - mixing up, confused.

As the story continues the underlying reason begins to surface. In verse 33 they drew out a man called Alexander to quiet the crowd, but it got worse. Then in verse 35, the town clerk appeased the people.

When confusion sets in, a person of logic is not necessarily the right person, especially if he is from the group they are confused about. (Alexander).

The town clerk, a person who settled the crowd down, was one of authority, one on their side, one who used fear of authority or fear of consequence to settle them. But the people were not yet clear as to the reason for the confusion.

F. Stasis: In Acts 19:40, the word for confusion changes to stasis. In verse 40, the town clerk said, "for we are in danger to be called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this concourse. And when he had thus spoken, he dismissed the assembly."

Further insights on stasis:

Acts 23:7, 10 - the story starts where Paul is brought to the high priest and the council. Then Paul perceived (verse 6) that the one part was Sadducees and the other Pharisees, and he cried out in the council, "men and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee; of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question" (verse 7) . . . "and when he had so said, there arose dissension (stasis) between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the multitude was divided" (verses 8-9), "and there arose a great cry (verse 10) and there arose a great dissension." Paul, seeing that both sides were there, took a side that he knew would divide and it resulted in (stasia) dissension, confusion, as talked about in James as akatastasis.

Acts 24:5 - They are now accusing Paul before Felix, the ruler, and said: "For we have found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mover of 'sedition' among all the Jews, throughout the world, and a ring leader of the sect of the Nazarenes."

Hebrews 9:8- “The Holy Ghost this signifying, that the way into the holiest of all was not yet made manifest, while as the first tabernacle was yet standing.” (stasis)

To restate the far worse type of confusion - Akatastasia

As to this confusion, the word again is Akatastasia. Notice stasia is the last part of the word:

A - negative

Kata - down

Stasis: - insurrection, sedition, dissension, uproar, standing

Luke 21:9

But when ye shall hear of wars and commotions, be not terrified: for these things must first come to pass; but the end is not by and by.

I Corinthians 14:29, 30,31 33

(verse 29) “Let the prophets speak two or three and let the other judge.” (verse 30) “If anything be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.” (verse 31) “For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted.” (verse 33) “For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.”

II Corinthians 6:4-5 - Paul talks about problems they encountered (verse 4)

But in all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, (verse 5) In stripes, in imprisonments, in “tumults,” in suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned.

II Corinthians 12:20

For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults:

James 3:16 - talks about the tongue (verses 1-12). Verse 11 talks about the tongue and bitterness. Then in verse 13, It starts a comparison of a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you. Let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.

(verse 14) But if you have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth. This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish. (verse 16) For where envying and strife is, there is “confusion” and every evil work. (verse 17) But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy. (verse 18) And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace.

So, confusion in this verse is the result of:

1. Envy (bitter envy)
2. Strife (contention)

People then:

1. Glory (actual Greek says, “not to boast against and lie against the truth.”)
2. Lie against the truth.

It is referred to as:

1. Wisdom not from above

This type of “wisdom” is:

1. Earthy (earthly) (body) (wrong desires)
2. Sensual (natural) (soul) (wrong attitudes)
3. Devilish (devilish) (spirit) (wrong nature)

Bitter envying and strife:

First bitterness (that a person does not know they have), then envying.

Envy - Does not want what you have, but it does want the glory or results of what you have, or it is threatened when someone presents them with the truth. Acts 19:38-40

This results in coming against a person. On the surface it looks as being the opposite, yet, the underlying desire is to have the results or glory, thus, they stir strife to get it.

The high priests were full of envy according to Pilate. They did not want what Christ had, but the glory or recognition he was getting. Mark 15:10.

Confusion - (Sunkusis) - The pouring together, to mix untruth with untruth or to mix untruth with truth. When this type of confusion sets in, the first thing to do is:

1. Define the problem carefully
2. Then apply truth to solve it

If people continue in confusion (Sunkusis) and act, it will open them up to standing for something they have no real idea of why they stand. Thus, they can wind up in an uproar or stasis. Acts 19:30, 40. This is basically standing for something without conviction for standing.

If people are in stasis (uproar, insurrection, sedition, etc.), then it will “be started” not from those in confusion (Sunkusis), but from those in the worst confusion (Akatastasia). (stasis is standing for a conclusion with a wrong spirit.) To solve this kind of confusion, do not place a man of logic who is on the side of those being attacked by the majority, but a man of authority to solve confusion (Sunkusis and stasis). But “look” for those who really started it who are in confusion (Akatastasia). Remember strife that is the result of confusion is not a result of obvious reason or reason you see, but of a hidden motive or person who is in Akatastasia.

Akatastasia is the standing for conclusions not based in truth. It is the believing of error. It is the result of a wrong spirit of two parts. (James 3:16 “For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.”)

1. Two hidden motives:
 - A. Bitterness
 - B. Envy
2. It then results in:
 - A. Strife

It is in that person who has bitterness or hurt (allowing it to grow without forgiving). Combined with this now secret hurt “he” adds envy or desiring the glory or recognition or personal gain it brings others. This person then “stirs up strife.”

They boast and lie against the truth. The trouble is they think this is wisdom, but it is a warped form of truth. The Bible calls it earthy (of the flesh) and sensual or natural (of mind or logic conclusion) and devilish or of satanic influence. (Note: a person who only deals in logic tries to explain things as they are, not why they are.)

Wrath is cruel, anger is outrageous, but who can stand before envy?

1. Wrath is taking a firm stand for a perception of truth with the wrong spirit (law or truth worketh wrath when apart from love). Wrath can surface when confronted in the area of position, possession, or power.
2. Anger is the reaction to being confronted to truth or untruth. It can be of one’s spirit or of the emotions. If it blows quickly, then cools off and feels foolish. It is of the emotions. At times the person apologizes for blowing up. When of the spirit, it simmers for a time and anger builds; then it blows, and stays blown. This is much worse. (Two primary types of anger).
3. Envy is the standing against truth, but thinks he has truth. However, he has a secret desire to have what truth brings another. Of the five types of fools, one of the worst types hates Wisdom, yet seeks after it because he has envy and sees the results it can bring another but has no heart to receive real wisdom.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

An Envious Person

A person who has envy does not look like they want what you have but they do want the glory from what you have or who you are. Therefore the “High Priest envied Christ.”

How to handle confusion (Akatastasia)

1. First, to have such firm convictions, you will stand against error like Paul and Barabbas. Acts 15:1-5. This is provided, it is your place to do so.
2. The issue then must go to authority for intervention and the application of truth.
3. We are instructed not to be afraid of this confusion. Luke 21:9
4. A factor must be introduced into any such meeting and that is order. I Corinthians 14:33
5. People must be instructed to judge with truth what is said. I Corinthians 14:29
6. They must be instructed to hold their peace until their turn. I Corinthians 14:30
7. People must be accountable to authority. II Corinthians 12:20
8. The person who confronts the issue must be a man of wisdom and endued with knowledge. Let him show proper actions with a good conversation in meekness of wisdom. James 3:13, 17.
9. Prior to starting such a meeting, proper defining of confusion must be made; proper actions predetermined and held by a man of proper spirit.

Also, it is important to define the real source of confusion. (Envy comes from a person wanting the recognition, power or glory that it brings another, not necessarily what a person has or envying what he does.) (The idol makers stirring up the people.)

Granted, there are situations where envy is most difficult to deal with, especially when it is in authority structures. For instance David and Saul. Saul was envious of David and wanted the praise people gave David. There was no authority to settle this other than God, and God did. (Christ was envied by the high priest – was killed but became the king of kings). David did not raise his hand against Saul and became king.

Insights

- A. Men at times “try” to get rid of good quality people that are with them, or associated with them, or at times over them. (Matthew. 27:18) “For he knew that for envy they had delivered.
- B. Some men do good things to get the glory and recognition it brings because of their envy. I heard a psychologist tell some preachers one time that much of the reason we do what we do is not for others necessarily, but for us. Philippians 1:15 “Some indeed preach Christ even of envy and strife; and some also of good will.
- C. A person “caught up” in the “tradition” of business or church can become proud and out of that can arise envy towards anyone who tends to take their glory or recognition “even if this person works for them.” When the person under them continues to be creative and produces results they can be even more envious (David winning battles). So instead of the boss being happy and grateful, he is discouraged and filled with envy.

I Timothy 6:4 “He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmising,”

Galatians 5:21 “Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.”

Romans 1:29 “Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers,”

I Peter 2:1 “Wherefore laying aside all malice and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speaking,”

- D. A person without truth (silly-simple) can be with envy. Job 5:2 “For wrath killeth the foolish man, and envy slayeth the silly one.”
- E. Envy has a deep physical effect on a man. I wonder if some cancer is not the result of this. Proverbs 14:30 “A sound heart is the life of the flesh; but envy the rottenness of the bones.”

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

An Envious Person

- F. Because envy is mistaken many times for wanting “to be like the person” rather than the “truth” that they want the “recognition of what the person has or does. Thus, it is difficult to “stand before envy” because the person says and acts totally contrary to another and you think he does not want what the other has, but this is not true as they want the recognition, thus they lie against the truth.

Proverbs 27:4 “Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous, but who is able to stand before envy?”

James 3:14-16 “But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth. This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish. For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.”

- G. For you to do good can create envy. Ecclesiastes 4:4 “Again, I considered all travail, and every right work, that for this a man is envied of his neighbour. This is also vanity and vexation of spirit.”

Double-minded

It says a double-minded man is unstable. The word unstable is Akatastatos as mentioned earlier. Double-minded is the Greek word Dipsukos, used twice:

James 1:8 “A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways.”

James 4:8 “Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double-minded.”

It literally means two-souled (dis-twice and psuche-a-soul). Results in being double tongued. I Timothy. 3:8 “Likewise must the deacons be grave, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre;”

Conclusions

- To be double-minded results in constant change. This creates confusion for employees or others. It is out of a heart locked into its own desires that for constant change and avoiding responsibility cannot obtain those desires.
- For anyone else to receive the attention this person wants (but does not obtain or believe they deserve) results in hurts which can turn to bitterness and envy. James 3:16 “For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.”
- Then they struggle to sort out truth and any attempt for the person they are against to be creative, positive, or who wants to succeed, can result in their being negative (A), cast down (kata), and against it (statis), or (akatastatis), which is confusion.
- This happened between King Saul and David. In an organization it can create confusion, change, and can hinder the level of success that could have been obtained as the head person has “no heart” to further allow things to happen that will create success. The only way he will allow new things (or take the time to think about present ways to succeed) will be if it is his program so he gets the praise. However, others being creative does not solve his problem.

James 4:8-10, 1-17

Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double-minded, be afflicted, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up. But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil. Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

James 1:8

A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways.

James 3:13-18

Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? Let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom. But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth. This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish. For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work. But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without hypocrisy. Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words

An Envious Person - Hebrew

Qana' OT:7065, "to be jealous; to be zealous." This verb, derived from the noun qin'ah, occurs 34 times in the Old Testament. The root appears in several Semitic languages with the meaning "to be zealous" (Aramaic and Ethiopic). In Ugaritic and Arabic the root occurs, but it is questionable if the root is related to the meaning "to be zealous"; the meaning in Ugaritic text is uncertain, and the meaning in Arabic, "became intensely red," is not to be explained etymologically. The verb qana' appears in rabbinic Hebrew.

At the interhuman level qana' has a strongly competitive sense. In its most positive sense the word means "to be filled with righteous zeal or jealousy." The law provides that a husband who suspects his wife of adultery can bring her to a priest, who will administer a test of adultery. Whether his accusation turns out to be grounded or not, the suspicious man has a legitimate means of ascertaining the truth. In his case a spirit of jealousy has come over him, as he "is jealous" of his wife Num 5:30. However, even in this context Num 5:12-31, the jealousy has arisen out of a spirit of rivalry which cannot be tolerated in a marriage relationship. The jealousy must be cleared by a means ordained by the law and administered by the priests. Qana', then, in its most basic sense is the act of advancing one's rights to the exclusion of the rights of others: "...Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim" Isa 11:13. Saul sought to murder the Gibeonite enclave "in his zeal to the children of Israel and Judah" 2 Sam 21:2. Next, the word signifies the attitude of envy toward an opponent. Rachel in her barren state "envied her sister" Gen 30:1 and in the state of envy approached Jacob: "Give me children, or else I die." The Philistines envied Isaac because of the multitude of his flocks and herds Gen 26:14.

The Bible contains a strong warning against being envious of sinners, who might prosper and be powerful today, but will be no more tomorrow: "Do not envy a violent man or choose any of his ways" Prov 3:31, NIV; cf. Ps 37:1.

In man's relation to God, the act of zeal is more positively viewed as the act of the advancement of God and His glory over against substitutes. The tribe of Levi received the right to service because "he was zealous for his God" Num 25:13. Elijah viewed himself as the only faithful servant left in Israel: "I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant... And I, even I only, am left..." 1 Kings 19:10. However, the sense of qana' is "to make jealous," that is, "to provoke to anger": "They provoked him to jealousy with strange gods, with abominations provoked they him to anger" Deut 32:16.

God is not tainted with the negative connotation of the verb. His holiness does not tolerate competitors or those who sin against Him. In no single passage in the whole Old Testament is God described as envious. Even in those texts where the adjective "jealous" is used, it might be more appropriate to understand it as "zealous." When God is the subject of the verb qana', the meaning is "be zealous," and the preposition le ("to, for") is used before the object: His holy name Ezek 39:25; His land Joel 2:18; and His inheritance Zech 1:14. Cf. Zech 8:2: "This is what the Lord Almighty says: I am very jealous for Zion; I am burning with jealousy for her" (NIV), where we must interpret "jealous [y]" as "zealous" and "zeal."

In the Septuagint the word zelos ("zeal; ardor; jealousy") brings out the Hebrew usage. In the English versions similar translations are given: "to be jealous" or "to be zealous" (KJV, RSV, NASB, NIV) and to be envious (KJV and NIV)

A. Noun.

Qin'ah OT:7068, "ardor; zeal; jealousy." This noun occurs 43 times in biblical Hebrew. One occurrence is in Deut 29:20: "The Lord will not spare him, but then the anger of the Lord and his jealousy shall smoke against that man...."

B. Adjectives.

Qanna' OT:7067, "jealous." This adjective occurs 6 times in the Old Testament. The word refers directly to the attributes of God's justice and holiness, as He is the sole object of human worship and does not tolerate man's sin. One appearance is in Ex 20:5: "...for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me."

The adjective qanno' also means "jealous." This word appears only twice, with implications similar to qanna'. Josh 24:19 is one example: "And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the Lord: for he is a holy God; he is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins." Nah 1:2 contains the other occurrence of qanno'.

An Envious Person - Greek

ENVY, ENVYING

A. Noun.

phthonos "envy," is the feeling of displeasure produced by witnessing or hearing of the advantage or prosperity of others; this evil sense always attaches to this word, Matt 27:18; Mark 15:10; Rom 1:29; Gal 5:21; Phil 1:15; 1 Tim 6:4; Titus 3:3; 1 Peter 2:1; so in James 4:5, where the question is rhetorical and strongly remonstrative, signifying that the Spirit (or spirit) which God made to dwell in us was certainly not so bestowed that we should be guilty of "envy."

Note: Zelos, "zeal or jealousy," translated "envy" in the KJV, in Acts 13:45; Rom 13:13; 1 Cor 3:3; 2 Cor 12:20; James 3:14,16, is to be distinguished from phthonos, and, apart from the meanings "zeal" and "indignation," is always translated "jealousy" in the RV. The distinction lies in this, that "envy" desires to deprive another of what he has, "jealousy" desires to have the same or the same sort of thing for itself See FERVENT, INDIGNATION, JEALOUSY, ZEAL.

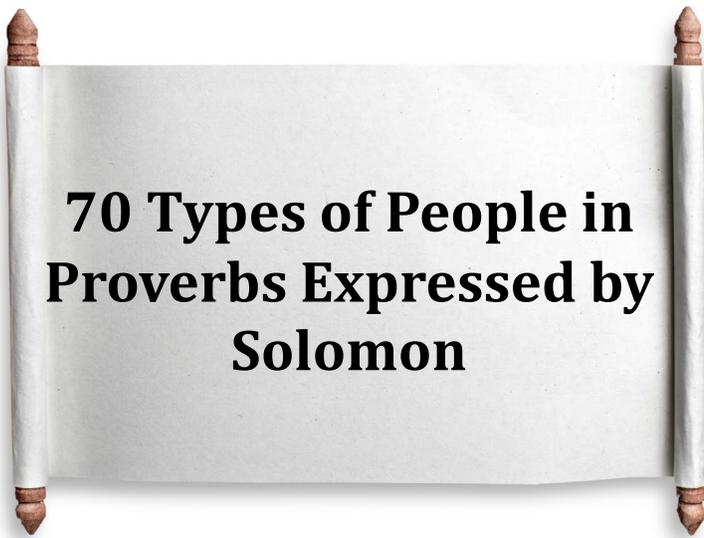

B. Verbs.

1. phthoneo "to envy" (akin to A.), is used in Gal 5:26.

2. zeloo denotes "to be zealous, moved with jealousy," Acts 7:9 and 17:5, RV, "moved with jealousy" (KJV, "moved with envy"); both have "envieth" in 1 Cor 13:4. See the Note under A. See AFFECT, COVET, DESIRE, JEALOUS, ZEALOUS.

WRATH IS CRUEL

Proverbs 27: 4

Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy

Genesis 49: 7

Cursed be their anger, for it was fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel: I will divide them in Jacob, and scatter them in Israel.

Deuteronomy 32:33

Their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps.

Deuteronomy 32: 24

They shall be burnt with hunger, and devoured with burning heat, and with bitter destruction: I will also send the teeth of beasts upon them, with the poison of serpents of the dust.

Psalms 58:2-4

Yea, in heart ye work wickedness; ye weigh the violence of your hands in the earth. The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies. Their poison is like the poison of a serpent: they are like the deaf adder that stoppeth her ear;

Psalms 140:1-3

Deliver me, O LORD, from the evil man: preserve me from the violent man; Which imagine mischiefs in their heart; continually are they gathered together for war. They have sharpened their tongues like a serpent; adders' poison is under their lips. Selah.

ANTI SERUM AVAILABLE

The Following Are 7 Basic Progressive Symptoms Of Getting A Snake Bite From This Kind Of Adder Or Having A Wrathful Man Project His Wrath On You.

THE SAME 7 STAGES HAPPEN TO YOU WHEN EITHER GOES AFTER YOU.

Jeremiah 48: 30

I know his wrath, saith the LORD; but it shall not be so; his lies shall not so affect it.

1) LOCAL EDEMA: Swelling and abnormal accumulation of serious fluid in connective tissue causing puffy swelling or in a serious cavity causing compression of the contents.

WRATH CAUSES: A person is generally caught off guard by unreasonable words from another. It can cause a puffing up (pride) as to react to these unreasonable words. However many times the person taking the wrath will compress their thoughts and feelings or withhold a proper response because of surprise and because most of the comments are true. With 80% of the comments being true and confusion thus created by the other person expressing the wrath (through words) it leaves you shocked. To get bitten by a wrathful person and to react out of pride will risk the wrath or venom to go to various cavities in yourself (i.e.: to your soul and/or your spirit).

Psalms 76:10

Surely the wrath of man shall praise thee: the remainder of wrath shalt thou restrain.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

2) NECROSIS: To make dead, or to mortify

- A) Death of LIVING tissue
- B) Death by loss of blood
- C) Burning

WRATH CAUSES: It deadens ones feelings and you are stunned. You feel like something is draining from you. There is the feeling of an inner burning sensation. The venom from the wrath is designed to drain LIFE from you. For the next couple of hours you feel really troubled. Sometimes it lasts for days.

3) SLOUGHING OF THE TISSUES.

- A) To Slip
- B) The skin of a snake or other animal that sheds its skin
- C) To crumble and fall away
- D) To diminish in significance
- E) To get rid of, abandon or discard as irksome, objectionable
- F) To cast some away as an ulcer

WRATH CAUSES: At this stage there is a strong desire to slip away from the person expressing wrath. A serious withdrawal process in all areas of relationship. This could be church or social or work or business related. Whatever outward expression (skin) was made by that person is now shed and you now are starting to see whom they really are. Your thinking about it leaves you to want to abandon or discard or shed any relationship with this irksome person with this objectionable wrathful behavior. It will in many cases affect your stomach.

4) RESTLESSNESS: inner turmoil

WRATH CAUSES: You have a hard time resting as it troubles you.

The more you think about it the more problem you have with restlessness. When you are again getting ready to see the person you become more restless as the time draws near.

Psalms 55: 3

Because of the voice of the enemy, because of the oppression of the wicked: for they cast iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me.

5) RESPIRATORY DISTRESS: Your system is not normal and you have poor sleep and stomach and respiratory problems.

WRATH CAUSES: The longer the process goes on before it peaks or the more involvement one must have with the person the more it will raise your anxiety level and in some cases your blood pressure. It will even affect your respiratory process. You spend much time trying to evaluate what is going on and what you are doing wrong. The wrathful person seems normal most of the time and in fact at times can be ok to be around. When, however, they feel concerned over their position or power or possessions they can strike out and bite. You find yourself staying a little further away so as not to get bitten.

Psalms 138: 7

Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me: thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me.

6) GASTROINTESTINAL HEMORRHAGES

A) Including both stomach and intestines (Inflammation) (Absorption)

B) Copious discharge of blood from the blood vessels

WRATH CAUSES: If this is not dealt with the stomach problems can over time turn to bleeding ulcers.

Romans 12: 19

Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord.

7) DEATH: To cease to function

WRATH CAUSES: If this problem goes unresolved it can lead to bitterness and a dying spiritually. It can also lead to much distress and can cause much mental and physical grief. It can with some lead to an early death. Therefore we see spiritual effects and a dying of the soul and even an early physical death being possible.

II Chronicles 36: 16

But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD arose against his people, till there was no remedy.

HOW TRUTH IS HANDLED BY A WRATHFUL MAN VERSES HOW GOD WOULD HAVE US HANDLE TRUTH

GODS WAY	THE WAY OF A WRATHFUL MAN
1) Creates Truth	Manufactures Truth
2) Truth for our good	Their truth for their good
3) God evaluates people as to their response to help them.	The wrathful man watches for violations to the truth that they created
4) God sends those to give counsel when they are violating His truth.	The wrathful man sends himself with mean partial truth and subtle comments designed to control you.
5) God judges Righteously	A wrathful man judges by impressions then tries to gather loose facts to convict you.
6) God sends out wrath at times i.e. fire to burn off the false truth we take on. He always has your best interest in mind. However if His wrath is towards an evil or wicked person it is still to protect others.	A wrathful man sends out wrath out of pride As poison to attack and create pain, loss and death
Job 6:4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poison whereof drinketh up my spirit: the terrors of God do set themselves in array against me.	Psalms 140:3 They have sharpened their tongues like a serpent; adders' poison is under their lips. Selah.

Psalms 58: 4

Their poison is like the poison of a serpent: They are like the deaf adder that stoppeth her ear:

Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words

Wrath(ful) – Hebrew

ANGER, BURNING

A. Verb.

charah "to get angry, be angry." This verb appears in the Bible 92 times. In the basic stem, the word refers to the "burning of anger" as in Jonah 4:1. In the causative stem, charah means "to become heated with work" or "with zeal for work" Neh 3:20.

B. Noun.

charon "burning anger." The 41 occurrences of this word cover every period of the Bible. This word refers exclusively to divine anger as that which is "burning." Charon first appears in Ex 32:12: "Turn from thy fierce wrath [charon], and repent of this evil against thy people."

A. Noun.

chemah "wrath; heat; rage; anger." This noun occurs in Semitic languages with the meanings "heat, wrath, poison, venom." The noun, as well as the verb yacham, denotes a strong emotional state. The noun is used 120 times, predominantly in the poetic and prophetic literature, especially Ezekiel.

The first usage of chemah takes place in the story of Esau and Jacob. Jacob is advised to go to Haran with the hope that Esau's "anger" will dissipate: "And tarry with him a few days, until thy brother's fury turn away" Gen 27:44.

The word indicates a state of anger. Most of the usage involves God's "anger." His "wrath" is expressed against Israel's sin in the wilderness: "For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure, wherewith the Lord was wroth against you to destroy you" Deut 9:19. The psalmist prayed for God's mercy in the hour of God's "anger": "O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure" Ps 6:1. God's "anger" against Israel was ultimately expressed in the exile of the Judeans to Babylon: "The Lord hath accomplished his fury; he hath poured out his fierce anger, and hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof" Lam 4:11.

The metaphor "cup" denotes the judgment of God upon His people. His "wrath" is poured out: "Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the strength of battle: and it hath set him on fire round about, yet he knew not; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart" Isa 42:25; and the "cup of wrath" is drunk: "Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the Lord the cup of his fury; thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling..." Isa 51:17.

Wrathful Person

Thus, God as the Almighty Potentate is angered by the sins and the pride of His people, as they are an insult to His holiness. In a derived sense, the rulers on earth are also described as those who are angered, but their "anger" is aroused from circumstances over which they have no control. Naaman was angry with Elisha's advice 2 Kings 5:11-12; Ahasuerus became enraged with Vashti's refusal to display her beauty before the men Est 1:12.

Chemah also denotes man's reaction to everyday circumstances. Man's "rage" is a dangerous expression of his emotional state, as it inflames everybody who comes close to the person in rage. "Wrath" may arise for many reasons. Proverbs speaks strongly against chemah, as jealousy 6:34; cf. "Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?" Prov 27:4; cf. Ezek 16:38. The man in rage may be culpable of crime and be condemned: "Be ye afraid of the sword: for wrath bringeth the punishments of the sword, that ye may know there is a judgment" Job 19:29. The wise response to "rage" is a soft answer: "A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger" Prov 15:1.

Chemah is associated with qin'ah, "jealousy," and also with naqam, "vengeance," as the angered person intends to save his name or avenge himself on the person who provoked him. In God's dealing with Israel He was jealous of His Holy name, for which reason He had to deal justly with idolatrous Israel by avenging Himself: "That it might cause fury to come up to take vengeance; I have set her blood upon the top of a rock, that it should not be covered" Ezek 24:8; but He also avenges His people against their enemies: "God is jealous, and the Lord revengeth; the Lord revengeth, and is furious; the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth wrath for his enemies" Nah 1:2. Other synonyms of chemah are °ap, "anger," and qetsep, "wrath," as in Deut 29:27 and Jer 21:5.

There are two special meanings of chemah. One is "heat," as in "the Spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit; but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me" Ezek 3:14. The other is "poison," or "venom," as in Deut 32:33: "Their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps."

The Septuagint gives the following translations: orge ("anger; indignation; wrath") and thumos ("passion; anger; wrath; rage"). The KJV gives these senses: "fury; wrath; poison."

A. Verb.

yacham "to be fiery, be hot." This verb, which occurs only 10 times in biblical Hebrew, is the root of the noun chemah.

In Deut 19:6 yacham means "to be hot": "Lest the avenger of the blood pursue the slayer, while his heart is hot, and overtake him...."

TO PROVOKE (ANGER)

Ka'as OT:3707, "to provoke, vex, make angry." This word is common throughout the history of Hebrew and is used in modern Hebrew in the sense of "to be angry, to rage." It occurs some 55 times in the Hebrew Old Testament.

A word that is characteristic of the Book of Deuteronomy, it seems fitting that ka'as is found for the first time in the Old Testament in that book: "...to provoke him to anger" Deut 4:25. The word is characteristic also of the books of Jeremiah and Kings. A review of the uses of this verb shows that around 80 percent of them involve Yahweh's "being provoked to anger" by Israel's sin, especially its worship of other gods. One such example is in II Kings 23:19: "And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord to anger, Josiah took away...."

'ap "nose; nostrils; face; wrath; anger." This general Semitic word has cognates in Akkadian, Ugaritic, Phoenician, Aramaic, and Arabic. This word appears in every period of biblical Hebrew and about 277 times.

The fundamental meaning of the word is "nose," as a literal part of the body. 'Ap bears this meaning in the singular, while the dual refers to the "nostrils" through which air passes in and out: "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life" Gen 2:7 — the first biblical occurrence.

In other contexts 'ap in the dual represents the "entire face." God cursed Adam saying: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground..." Gen 3:19. This emphasis appears often with the phrase "to bow one's face to the ground": "...and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth" Gen 42:6.

The words "length of face or nostrils" constitute an idiom meaning "longsuffering" or "slow to anger." It is used both of God and of man: "The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth" Ex 34:6. The contrasting idiom, meaning "quick to anger," might literally mean "short of face nostrils." It implies a changeable countenance, a capricious disposition. Prov 14:17 uses this idiom with a little stronger emphasis:

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Wrathful Person

"He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated."
The accuracy of this translation is supported by the parallelism of the phrase and "a man of evil devices." Clearly 'ap must mean something evil in God's sight.

Finally, the dual form can mean "wrath" (only in 4 passages): "Surely the churning of milk bringeth forth butter, and the wringing of the nose bringeth forth blood: so the forcing of wrath bringeth forth strife" Prov 30:33; cf. Ex 15:8.

The singular form means "nose" about 25 times. In Num 11:19-20 the word represents a human nose: "You [Israel] shall... eat [the meat God will supply]... a whole month, until it comes out of your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you" (NASB). Isa 2:22 makes it clear that the word represents the place where the breath is: "Stop regarding man, whose breath of life is in his nostrils (NASB). Perhaps the NASB translation in such passages is acceptable. The first passage, however, refers to the two holes or nostrils, while the second passage appears to refer to the entire frontal part of the nasal passages (where one is aware of breath being present). This word may be used of the structure protruding from one's face: "...they shall take away thy nose and thine ears; and thy remnant shall fall by the sword..." Ezek 23:25; cf. Song 7:4. 'Ap is applied also to the "nose" of animals. In Job 40:24, God speaks of a large water animal: "He taketh it with his eyes: his nose pierceth through snares."

The word can be used anthropomorphically of God. Certainly passages such as Deut 4:15-19 make it clear that God is a Spirit John 4:24 and has not a body like men. Yet, speaking figuratively, it may be said: "They shall teach Jacob thy judgments, and Israel thy law: they shall put incense before thee [literally, "in thy nostrils"], and whole burnt sacrifice upon thine altar" Deut 33:10; cf. Ps 18:8,15. The idiom "high of nose" means "haughty" (cf. the English idiom "to have one's nose in the air"): "The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God..." Ps 10:4.

The singular form often means "anger" or "wrath." This meaning first appears in Gen 30:2: "And Jacob's anger was kindled against Rachel...." This meaning is applied to God as a figure of speech (anthropopathism) whereby He is attributed human emotions. Since God is infinite, eternal, and unchangeable and since anger is an emotion representing a change in one's reaction (cf. Num 25:4), God does not really become angry, He only appears to do so in the eyes of men (cf. Prov 29:8). The Spirit of God can seize a man and move him to a holy "anger" Judg. 14:19; 1 Sam. 11:6>.

B. Verb.

'anap "to be angry." This verb, which has cognates in most of the Semitic languages, occurs 39 times in biblical Hebrew and in all periods. The verb appears in Isa 12:1: "O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me...."

qatsap "to be wroth, angry." This verb appears 34 times and is found mainly in the Pentateuch and in the prophets, and a few times in the historical books and the poetic literature. The word is used in rabbinic Hebrew, but its use in modern Hebrew has been displaced by other verbs. It is an ancient Canaanite word; as a gloss it appeared in the Amarna Tablets with the meaning "to become worried," or according to others, "to be embittered." The relation with the Arabic cognate qasafa is doubtful.

The general meaning of qatsap is a strong emotional outburst of anger, especially when man is the subject of the reaction. The first usage of the word brings this out: "And Pharaoh was wroth against two of his officers... and he put them in [custody]..." Gen 40:2-3; cf. 41:10. Moses became bitterly angry with the disobedient Israelites Ex 16:20. The leaders of the Philistines "were wroth" with Achish 1 Sam 29:4, and Naaman was strongly irritated by Elisha's lack of a sense of protocol 2 Kings 5:11. Elisha expressed his anger with Joash, king of Israel 2 Kings 13:19. King Ahasuerus deposed Vashti in his anger Est 1:12. In these examples an exalted person (generally a king) demonstrated his royal anger in radical measures against his subjects. He was in a position "to be angered" by the response of his subjects. It is rarer for a person "to become angry" with an equal. It is even rarer for a subject "to be angry" with his superior: "...two of the king's chamberlains... were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus" Est 2:21.

The noun derived from qatsap particularly refers to God's anger. The verb qatsap is used 11 times to describe man's anger and 18 times to refer to God's anger. This fact, coupled with the observation that the verb generally is an expression of a superior against a subject, explains why the biblical text more frequently uses qatsap to describe God's anger. The object of the anger is often indicated by the preposition ±al ("against"). "For I was afraid of the anger [±ap] and hot displeasure [chemah], wherewith the Lord was wroth [qatsap] against [°al] you to destroy you" Deut 9:19. The Lord's anger expresses itself against disobedience Lev 10:6 and sin Eccl 5:5ff.. However, people themselves can be the cause for God's anger Ps 106:32. In the wilderness the Israelites provoked God to wrath by their disobedience and lack of faith: "Remember, and forget not, how thou provokedst the Lord thy God to wrath in the wilderness: from the day that thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against the Lord" Deut 9:7; cf. vv. 8,22. Moses spoke about God's wrath against Israel's disobedience which would in time be the occasion for the Exile Deut 29:27, and the prophets amplify Moses' warning of God's coming "wrath" Jer 21:5. After the Exile, God had compassion on Israel and turned His anger against Israel's enemies Isa 34:2.

In the Greek version we find the following translations: orgizomai ("to be angry") and lupew ("to grieve, to pain, to be sad").

B. Noun.

qetsep "wrath." This noun occurs 28 times in biblical Hebrew and generally with reference to God. One occurrence of God's "wrath" is in 2 Chron 29:8: "Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem...." An example of man's "wrath" appears in Est 1:18: "Likewise shall the ladies of Persia and Media say this day unto all the king's princes, which have heard of the deed of the queen. Thus shall there arise too much contempt and wrath" (cf. Eccl 5:17).

Wrath(ful) – Greek

- 1. orge see ANGER and Notes (1) and (2).
 - 2. thumos "hot anger, passion," for which see ANGER, Notes (1) and (2), is translated "wrath" in Luke 4:28; Acts 19:28; Rom 2:8, RV; Gal 5:20; Eph 4:31; Col 3:8; Heb 11:27; Rev 12:12; 14:8,10,19; 15:1,7; 16:1; 18:3; "wraths" in 2 Cor 12:20; "fierceness" in Rev 16:19; 19:15 (followed by No. 1).
 - 3. parorgismos occurs in Eph 4:26: see ANGER, A, Note (2).
- Note: For the verb parorgizo, "to provoke to wrath," Eph 6:4, KJV, see ANGER, B, No. 2.

FIERCE, FIERCENESS

A. Adjectives.

1. anemeros signifies "not tame, savage" (from a negative, and hemeros, "gentle"), 2 Tim 3:3. Epictetus describes those who forget God as their creator, as resembling lions, "wild, savage and fierce" (anemero i) (Moulton and Milligan, Greek Test Vocab.).

2. chalepos "hard," (a) "hard to do or deal with, difficult, fierce," is said of the Gadarene demoniacs, Matt 8:28; (b) "hard to bear, painful, grievous," said of the last times, 2 Tim 3:1, RV, "grievous," for KJV, "perilous." See GRIEVOUS.

Notes: (1) In James 3:4, skleros, "hard, rough, violent," is said of winds, RV, "rough," for KJV, "fierce." (2) In Luke 23:5, the verb epischoo, "to make or grow stronger" (from epi, "over," intensive, and ischus, "strength"), is used metaphorically, "they were the more urgent," RV, for KJV, "the more fierce."

B. Nouns.

1. thumos "hot anger, wrath," is rendered "fierceness" in Rev 16:19; 19:15, of the wrath of God. See ANGER (A, Notes), INDIGNATION, WRATH.

2. zelos "zeal, jealousy," is rendered "fierceness" in Heb 10:27, RV (of fire).

Wrathful Person

ANGER, ANGRY (TO BE)

orge, originally any "natural impulse, or desire, or disposition," came to signify "anger," as the strongest of all passions. It is used of the wrath of man, Eph 4:31; Col 3:8; 1 Tim 2:8; James 1:19-20; the displeasure of human governments, Rom 13:4-5; the sufferings of the Jews at the hands of the Gentiles, Luke 21:23; the terrors of the Law, Rom 4:15; "the anger" of the Lord Jesus, Mark 3:5; God's "anger" with Israel in the wilderness, in a quotation from the OT, Heb 3:11; 4:3; God's present "anger" with the Jews nationally, Rom 9:22; 1 Thess 2:16; His present "anger" with those who disobey the Lord Jesus in His gospel, John 3:36; God's purposes in judgment, Matt 3:7; Luke 3:7; Rom 1:18; 2:5,8; 3:5; 5:9; 12:19; Eph 2:3; 5:6; Col 3:6; 1 Thess 1:10; 5:9. See INDIGNATION, VENGEANCE, WRATH.

Notes: (1) Thumos, "wrath" (not translated "anger"), is to be distinguished from orge, in this respect, that thumos indicates a more agitated condition of the feelings, an outburst of wrath from inward indignation, while orge suggests a more settled or abiding condition of mind, frequently with a view to taking revenge. Orge is less sudden in its rise than thumos, but more lasting in its nature. Thumos expresses more the inward feeling, orge the more active emotion. Thumos may issue in revenge, though it does not necessarily include it. It is characteristic that it quickly blazes up and quickly subsides, though that is not necessarily implied in each case.

(2) Parorgismos, a strengthened form of orge, and used in Eph 4:26, RV margin, "provocation," points especially to that which provokes the wrath, and suggests a less continued state than No. (1). "The first keenness of the sense of provocation must not be cherished, though righteous resentment may remain" (Westcott). The preceding verb, orgizo, in this verse implies a just occasion for the feeling. This is confirmed by the fact that it is a quotation from Ps 4:4 (Sept.), where the Hebrew word signifies to quiver with strong emotion.

Thumos is found eighteen times in the NT, ten of which are in the Apocalypse, in seven of which the reference is to the wrath of God; so in Rom 2:8, RV, "wrath (thumos) and indignation" (orge); the order in the KJV is inaccurate. Everywhere else the word thumos is used in a bad sense. In Gal 5:20, it follows the word "jealousies," which when smoldering in the heart break out in wrath. Thumos and orge are coupled in two places in the Apocalypse, 16:19, "the fierceness (thumos) of His wrath" (orge); and 19:15, "the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God." See WROTH (be).

(3) Aganaktesis originally signified "physical pain or irritation" (probably from agan, "very much," and achomai, "to grieve"), hence, "annoyance, vexation," and is used in 2 Cor 7:11, "indignation."

B. Verbs.

1. orgizo "to provoke, to arouse to anger," is used in the middle voice in the eight places where it is found, and signifies "to be angry, wroth." It is said of individuals, in Matt 5:22; 18:34; 22:7; Luke 14:21; 15:28, and Eph 4:26 (where a possible meaning is "be ye angry with yourselves"); of nations, Rev 11:18; of Satan as the Dragon, 12:17 See WRATH.

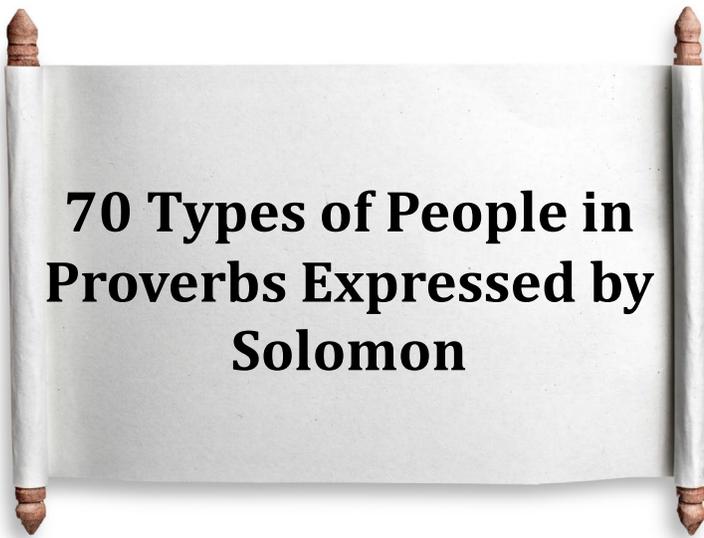

2. parorgizo is "to arouse to wrath, provoke" (para, used intensively, and No. 1); Rom 10:19, "will I anger"; Eph 6:4, "provoke to wrath." See PROVOKE.

3. cholao connected with chole, "gall, bile," which became used metaphorically to signify bitter anger, means "to be enraged," John 7:23, "wroth," RV, in the Lord's remonstrance with the Jews on account of their indignation at His having made a man whole on the Sabbath Day.

3 Things to Remember when Hearing Wrong Questions

Is the question about the MEANS

II Timothy 2:23-26

But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes. 24 And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient, 25 In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth; 26 And that they may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are taken captive by him at his will.

Is the question about the METHODS

I Timothy 1:4

Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do.

Is the question about the MOTIVES

I Timothy 6:4-5

He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, 5 Perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself.

When you are in a meeting, discussion or observing a conversation, watch to see if a person has a focus on any of the below three progressively worse type of questions. (Body, Soul, Spirit).

3 Progressively Worse Wrong Questions: They Question the:

MEANS

If one questions the means, it could be a correct question if working towards a resolution. However, if it is to be contentious about the means as an end and obviously not a reasonable solution, this person may be struggling with authority, pride and being contentious. “They kindle strife.” They can have the fear of man. They struggle with authority.

Proverbs 26:21

As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife.

Proverbs 17:14

The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with.

METHODS

If one questions the methods, it could be a correct question if working towards a resolution. However, if it goes into strife and anger or just being unreasonable, this person may have other problems. They could be disloyal, exaggerate, angry, manipulative, covetous, have wrong motives and have hidden perspectives on money. They tend to fear man and have the fear of loss. They tend to sow strife. They struggle with being stubborn, disloyal and tend to exaggerate.

Proverbs 16:28

A froward man soweth strife: and a whisperer separateth chief friends.

MOTIVES

If the person is questioning the motives and is out of a right spirit, they tend to do this generally in private but there is also a public forum. They tend to be looking for a reasonable answer. Reasonable is always the prevailing issue when it comes to questions. Mostly however when a person openly questions motives, they struggle with bitterness and wrath. They tend to stir up strife. They generally struggle with the fear of man, the fear of loss and the fear of failure. (They struggle with position, possessions, and power.)

Proverbs 15:18

A wrathful man stirreth up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife.

Proverbs 17:19

He loveth transgression that loveth strife: and he that exalteth his gate seeketh destruction.

Proverbs 22:10

Cast out the scorner, and contention shall go out; yea, strife and reproach shall cease.

Proverbs 26:25

When he speaketh fair, believe him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

Proverbs 29:22

An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

I Corinthians 3:13

Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.

I Timothy 6:4-5

He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, ⁵ Perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself.

James 3:14-18

But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth. ¹⁵ This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish. ¹⁶ For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work. ¹⁷ But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy. ¹⁸ And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace.

A Proud Person – Hebrew

dabar "word, matter; something." This noun occurs 1,440 times.

The noun dabar refers, first, to what is said, to the actual "word" itself; whereas emer is essentially oral communication (the act of speaking). Before the dispersion from the tower of Babel all men spoke the same "words" or language Gen 11:1. This noun can also be used of the content of speaking. When God "did according to the word of Moses" Ex 8:13, He granted his request. The noun can connote "matter" or "affair," as in Gen 12:17, where it is reported that God struck Pharaoh's household with plagues because of the "matter of Sarah" (KJV, "because of Sarai"). A rather specialized occurrence of this sense appears in references to records of the "events of a period" (cf. 1 Kings 14:19) or the activities of a particular person 1 Kings 11:41; cf. Gen 15:1. Dabar can be used as a more general term in the sense of "something" — so in Gen 24:66 the "everything" (KJV, "all things") is literally "all of something (s)"; it is an indefinite generalized concept rather than a reference to everything in particular. This noun also appears to have had almost a technical status in Israel's law procedures. Anyone who had a "matter" before Moses had a law case Ex 18:16.

As a biblical phrase "the word of the Lord" is quite important; it occurs about 242 times. Against the background just presented it is important to note that "word" here may focus on the content (meaning) of what was said, but it also carries overtones of the actual "words" themselves. It was the "word of the Lord" that came to Abram in a vision after his victory over the kings who had captured Lot Gen 15:1. In most cases this is a technical phrase referring expressly to prophetic revelation (about 225 times). It has been suggested that this phrase has judicial overtones although there are only 7 passages where this is certain (cf. Num 15:31). This noun is used twice of God's "affairs" in the sense of the care of the temple 1 Chron 26:32.

The "word" of God indicates God's thoughts and will. This should be contrasted with His name, which indicates His person and presence. Therefore, God's "word" is called "holy" only once (cf. Ps 105:42), while His name is frequently called "holy."

There is much discussion regarding the "word" as a hypostatization of divine reality and attributes as seen, for example, in John 1:1: "In the beginning was the Word." This theme is rooted in such Old riddle, difficult question, parable.

A derivation has been suggested from Aramaic ܐܘܡܕܐ "hold fast, cover," for the Aramaic ܐܘܡܕܐ "riddle" (cf. Dan 5:12). The ܘܡܕܐ is an enigmatic saying, question, or story whose meaning must be determined by the audience.

It is used seventeen times. The KJV translates it nine times as "riddle," five times as "dark" sentences, speeches, or sayings, twice as "hard questions," and once as "proverb."

It is used eight times in Judg 14 of "riddles" propounded by Samson to the Philistine guests at his wedding. These were conundrums involving a contest of wits, a source of entertainment popular among Arabs today, Cf. the contest of the guardsmen in 1 Esd 3:4-24.

At a higher social level the ܘܡܕܐ in 1 Kings 10:1 (2 Chron 9:1) were "difficult questions" posed by the Queen of Sheba to test Solomon's reputation for wisdom. Josephus (Antiquities 8.5.3 [143]) describes Hiram of Tyre sending Solomon "tricky problems and enigmatic sayings."

The Psalmist in Ps 49:5 * speaks of the "riddle" of life, death, and redemption.

In Num 12:8 the "dark speeches" denote the indirect revelations ordinarily given by the Lord, in contrast to the face-to-face mode of communication granted to Moses.

PROUD

A. Verb.

ga°ah "to be proud, be exalted." This verb appears 7 times in biblical Hebrew. The word appears in Ex 15:1 in the sense of "to be exalted": "I will sing to the Lord, for He is highly exalted [KJV, "he hath triumphed"]; The horse and its rider He has hurled into the sea (NASB).

B. Nouns.

ga°on "pride." This root occurs only in northwest Semitic languages, as in Ugaritic: gan, "pride." This noun is a poetic word, which is found only in poetic books, the prophets (12 times in Isaiah), Moses' song Ex 15:7, and Leviticus 26:19. In rabbinic Hebrew, ga°on signifies a man of great learning. A ga°on was the head of the rabbinic academies of Susa and Pumpedita in Babylonia. Saadia Gaon was one of the most outstanding.

In a positive sense ga°on, like the verb, signifies "excellence" or "majesty." God's "majesty" was expressed in Israel's deliverance through the Red Sea Ex 15:7. Israel as the redeemed people, then, is considered to be an expression of God's "majesty": "He shall choose our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved" Ps 47:4. The meaning of ga°on is here close to that of kabod, "glory."

Related to "majesty" is the word ga°on attributed to nature as something mighty, luxuriant, rich, and thick. The poets use the word to refer to the proud waves Job 38:11 or the thick shrubbery by the Jordan; cf. "If thou hast run with the footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canst thou contend with horses? and if in the land of peace, wherein thou trustedst, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the swelling [literally, "majesty"] of Jordan?" Jer 12:5; cf. 49:19; 50:44.

The majority of the uses of ga°on are negative in that they connote human "pride" as an antonym for humility Prov 16:18. Proverbs puts ga°on together with arrogance, evil behavior, and perverse speech. In her independence from the Lord, Israel as a majestic nation, having been set apart by a majestic God, had turned aside and claimed its excellence as a prerogative earned by herself. The new attitude of insolence was not tolerated by God: "The Lord God hath sworn by himself, saith the Lord the God of hosts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein" Amos 6:8.

The Septuagint translations are: hubris ("insolence; arrogance") and huperephania ("arrogance; haughtiness; pride").

Some other nouns are related to ga°on. Ge°ah occurs once to mean "pride" Prov 8:13. The noun ga°awah, which is found 19 times, also means "pride": "And all the people shall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and stoutness of heart..." Isa 9:9. Ge°ut appears 8 times and refers to "majesty": "Let favor be showed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness: in the land of uprightness will he deal unjustly, and will not behold the majesty of the Lord" Isa 26:10.

C. Adjectives.

The adjective ge°, which is thought to be a scribal error for ge°eh, appears only once as "proud" Isa 16:6. Ge°eh also means "proud" in its 8 occurrences, once in Isa 2:12: "For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty...."

Ga°ayon, which means "pride," appears once in biblical Hebrew Ps 123:4.

QUESTION (NOUN AND VERB), QUESTIONING

A. Nouns.

1. zetesis , primarily "a seeking, search" (zeteo, "to seek"), for which see DISPUTATION, is used in <John 3:25; Acts 25:20>, RV, "(being perplexed) how to inquire (concerning these things)," KJV "(because I doubted of such manner) of questions," lit., "being perplexed as to the inquiry (or discussion) concerning these things"; in <1 Tim. 1:4> (in some mss.); <6:4; 2 Tim. 2:23; Titus 3:9>. See INQUIRY.

2. zetema ^2213^, synonymous with No. 1, but, generally speaking, suggesting in a more concrete form the subject of an inquiry, occurs in <Acts 15:2; 18:15; 23:29; 25:19; 26:3>.#

3. logos , "a word," is translated "question" in <Matt. 21:24> (KJV, "thing"); in <Mark 11:29> (RV, marg., "word") and <Luke 20:3>, KJV, "one thing:" there is no word in the original for "one," hence the RV, "a question."

4. ekzetesis , and ^2214^, "a questioning," is found in the best texts in <1 Tim. 1:4> (see RV); cf. No 1.#

Notes: (1) In <Matt. 22:41>, there is no word in the original for "question." (2) For suzetesis or sunzetesis, "a questioning together" (sun, "with), see DISPUTATION. (3) In <Acts 19:40>, KJV, enkaleo, "to bring a charge against," is translated "to be called in question" (RV, "to be accused").

B. Verbs.

1. suzeteo or sunzeteo, "to search together" (cf. Note, above), "to discuss, dispute," is translated "to question" (or "question with or together") in <Mark 1:27; 8:11; 9:10,14,16; 12:28>, RV (KJV, "reasoning together"); <Luke 22:23>, RV (KJV, "inquire"); <24:15>, RV (KJV, "reasoned"). See DISPUTE, B, No. 3, INQUIRE, REASON.

2. eperotao "to ask," is translated "asked... a question," in <Matt. 22:35,41>; in <Luke 2:46>, "asking... questions"; "questioned" in <Luke 23:9>. See ASK, A, No. 3.

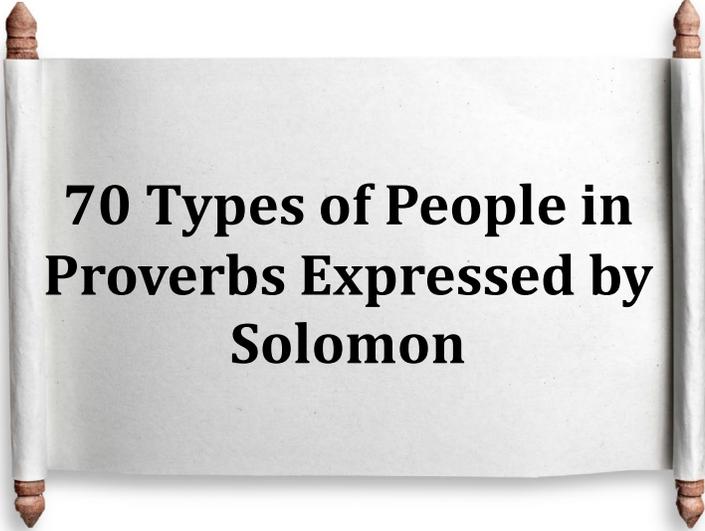

PROUD

huperephanos signifies "showing oneself above others, preeminent" (huper, "above," phainomai, "to appear, be manifest"); it is always used in Scripture in the bad sense of "arrogant, disdainful, proud," Luke 1:51; Rom 1:30; 2 Tim 3:2; James 4:6; 1 Peter 5:5.

Note: For the KJV renderings of the verb tuphoo, in 1 Tim 3:6; 6:4; 2 Tim 3:4, see HIGHMINDED.

A Prideful Person - Hebrew

PRIDE

A. Verb.

Ga'ah OT:1342, "to be proud, be exalted." This verb appears 7 times in biblical Hebrew. The word appears in Ex 15:1 in the sense of "to be exalted": "I will sing to the Lord, for He is highly exalted [KJV, "he hath triumphed"]; The horse and its rider He has hurled into the sea (NASB).

B. Nouns.

Ga'on OT:1347, "pride." This root occurs only in northwest Semitic languages, as in Ugaritic: gan, "pride." This noun is a poetic word, which is found only in poetic books, the prophets (12 times in Isaiah), Moses' song Ex 15:7, and Leviticus 26:19. In rabbinic Hebrew, ga'on signifies a man of great learning. A ga'on was the head of the rabbinic academies of Susa and Pumpedita in Babylonia. Saadiah Gaon was one of the most outstanding.

In a positive sense ga'on, like the verb, signifies "excellence" or "majesty." God's "majesty" was expressed in Israel's deliverance through the Red Sea Ex 15:7. Israel as the redeemed people, then, is considered to be an expression of God's "majesty": "He shall choose our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved" Ps 47:4. The meaning of ga'on is here close to that of kabod, "glory."

Related to "majesty" is the word ga'on attributed to nature as something mighty, luxuriant, rich, and thick. The poets use the word to refer to the proud waves Job 38:11 or the thick shrubbery by the Jordan; cf. "If thou hast run with the footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canst thou contend with horses? and if in the land of peace, wherein thou trustedst, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the swelling [literally, "majesty"] of Jordan?" Jer 12:5; cf. 49:19; 50:44.

The majority of the uses of ga'on are negative in that they connote human "pride" as an antonym for humility Prov 16:18. Proverbs puts ga'on together with arrogance, evil behavior, and perverse speech. In her independence from the Lord, Israel as a majestic nation, having been set apart by a majestic God, had turned aside and claimed its excellence as a prerogative earned by herself. The new attitude of insolence was not tolerated by God: "The Lord God hath sworn by himself, saith the Lord the God of hosts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein" Amos 6:8.

The Septuagint translations are: hubris ("insolence; arrogance") and huperephania ("arrogance; haughtiness; pride").

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

Prideful Person

Some other nouns are related to ga'on. Ge'ah occurs once to mean "pride" Prov 8:13. The noun ga'awah, which is found 19 times, also means "pride": "And all the people shall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and stoutness of heart..." Isa 9:9. Ge'ut appears 8 times and refers to "majesty": "Let favor be showed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness: in the land of uprightness will he deal unjustly, and will not behold the majesty of the Lord" Isa 26:10.

C. Adjectives.

The adjective ge', which is thought to be a scribal error for ge'eh, appears only once as "proud" Isa 16:6. Ge'eh also means "proud" in its 8 occurrences, once in Isa 2:12: "For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty...."

Ga'ayon, which means "pride," appears once in biblical Hebrew Ps 123:4.

A Lowly & Humble Person

When you study a “word” in depth within the scriptures, with the intention to teach it, you always (every time) go through things to teach you. This is God’s way to take you out of knowledge into understanding. It can add trouble, affliction and struggle but always breaks out on the other side. When you study these three (3) words, it creates serious hesitation. It seems one does not want to intentionally step into trouble so to step into being humble- being lowly and meek is at best, a challenge. Well, it did bring struggle and as always it did bring insights and as always, I disliked going through this but am excited about the insights.

And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments, or no. ³ And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live.

Deuteronomy 8:16

Who fed thee in the wilderness with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end;

Deuteronomy 21:14

And it shall be, if thou have no delight in her, then thou shalt let her go whither she will; but thou shalt not sell her at all for money, thou shalt not make merchandise of her, because thou hast humbled her.

Deuteronomy 22:24

Then ye shall bring them both out unto the gate of that city, and ye shall stone them with stones that they die; the damsel, because she cried not, being in the city; and the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife: so thou shalt put away evil from among you.

Deuteronomy 22:29

Then the man that lay with her shall give unto the damsel's father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife; because he hath humbled her, he may not put her away all his days.

Deuteronomy 26:6

And the Egyptians evil entreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage:

Judges 16:5-6

And the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and said unto her, Entice him, and see wherein his great strength lieth, and by what means we may prevail against him, that we may bind him to afflict him: and we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of silver. ⁶ And Delilah said to Samson, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great strength lieth, and wherewith thou mightest be bound to afflict thee.

Judges 16:19

And she made him sleep upon her knees; and she called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head; and she began to afflict him, and his strength went from him.

Lowly & Humble - Hebrew

TO HUMBLE (SELF)

A. Verbs.

kana, "to be humble, to humble, subdue." This biblical Hebrew word is also found in modern Hebrew. The word can mean "to humble, to subdue," and it can have a passive or reflexive use, "to be humble" or "to humble oneself." While kana± occurs some 35 times in the Hebrew Old Testament, the word is not found until Deut 9:3: "...the Lord thy God... shall destroy them, and he shall bring them down...." Kana± is frequently used in this sense of "subduing, humbling," enemies 2 Sam 8:1; 1 Chron 17:10; Ps 81:14. "To humble oneself" before God in repentance is a common theme and need in the life of ancient Israel Lev 26:41; 2 Chron 7:14; 12:6-7,12.

shapel, "to be low, become low; sink down; be humiliated; be abased." This root appears in most Semitic languages (except Ethiopic) with the basic meaning "to be low" and "to become low." Shapel occurs about twenty-five times in the Old Testament. It is a poetic term.

The verb, as can be expected in poetic usage, is generally used in a figurative sense. Shapel rarely denotes a literal lowness. Even in passages where the meaning may be taken literally, the prophet communicates a spiritual truth: "...the high [trees] of stature shall be hewn down, and the haughty shall be humbled" Isa 10:33, or "Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low..." Isa 40:4. Isaiah particularly presented Judah's sin as one of rebellion, self-exaltation, and pride 2:17; 3:16-17. In the second chapter he repeated God's indictment on human pride. When the Lord comes in judgment, He will not tolerate pride: "...the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day" Isa 2:11; then "the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low" Isa 2:12. Isaiah applied to Judah the principle found in Proverbs: "A man's pride shall bring him low: but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit" Prov 29:23.

Pride and self-exaltation have no place in the life of the godly, as the Lord "brings low" a person, a city, and a nation: "The Lord maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up" 1 Sam 2:7.

The prophets called the people to repent and to demonstrate their return to God by lowness. Their call was generally unheeded. Ultimately the Exile came, and the people were humbled by the Babylonians. Nevertheless, the promise came that, regardless of the obstacles, God would initiate the redemption of His people. Isaiah expressed the greatness of the redemption in this way: "Prepare ye the way of the Lord.... Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low.... And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed...." Isa 40:3-5

In the Septuagint shapel is represented by tapeino ("to level, be humble, humiliate"). It is translated in English versions as "to be low" (KJV, RSV, NASB, NIV); "to bring low" (KJV, RSV); "to bring down" (NASB, NIV); "to be humble" (KJV, RSV, NASB, NIV).

B. Nouns.

Some nouns related to this verb occur infrequently. Shepel refers to a "low condition, low estate." This word appears twice Ps 136:23; Eccl 10:6. The noun shiplah means a "humiliated state." This noun occurs once: "When it shall hail, coming down on the forest; and the city shall be low in a low place" Isa 32:19; the city is leveled completely. Shelah means "lowland." This word is used most often as a technical designation for the low-lying hills of the Judean hill country (cf. Deut 1:7; Josh 9:1). Shiplut refers to a "sinking." This noun's single appearance is in Eccl 10:18: "By much slothfulness the building decayeth; and through idleness [shiplut] of the hands the house droppeth through." The word implies a negligence or "sinking" of the hands.

C. Adjective.

shapal means "low; humble." This word means "low" in Ezek 17:24: "And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord have brought down the high tree, have exalted the low tree...." In Isa 57:15 shapal refers to "humble": "...I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones."

Lowly & Humble – Greek

HUMBLE (ADJECTIVE AND VERB)

A. Adjectives.

1. tapeinos primarily signifies "low-lying." It is used always in a good sense in the NT, metaphorically, to denote (a) "of low degree, brought low," Luke 1:52; Rom 12:16, KJV, "(men) of low estate," RV, "(things that are) lowly" (i. e., of low degree); 2 Cor 7:6, KJV, "cast down," RV, "lowly"; the preceding context shows that this occurrence belongs to (a); James 1:9, "of low degree"; (b) humble in spirit, Matt 11:29; 2 Cor 10:1, RV, "lowly," KJV "base"; James 4:6; 1 Peter 5:5. See BASE, CAST, Note (7), DEGREE (Note), LOWLY.

2. tapeinophron (tapeino/frwn), "humbleminded" (phren, "the mind"), 1 Peter 3:8; see COURTEOUS.

B. Verb.

tapeinoo akin to A, signifies "to make low," (a) literally, "of mountains and hills," Luke 3:5 (passive voice); (b) metaphorically, in the active voice, Matt 18:4; 23:12 (2nd part); Luke 14:11 (2nd part); 18:14 (2nd part); 2 Cor 11:7 ("abasing"); 12:21; 2:8; in the passive voice, Matt 23:12 (1st part), RV, "shall be humbled," KJV, "shall be abased"; Luke 14:11 (ditto); 18:14 (ditto); Phil 4:12, "to be abased"; in the passive, with middle voice sense, James 4:10, "humble yourselves"; 1 Peter 5:6 (ditto). See ABASE, LOW (to bring).

C. Noun.

tapeinosis "abasement, humiliation, low estate," is translated "low estate" in Luke 1:48; in James 1:10, "that he is made low," lit., "in his abasement." See HUMILIATION.

BASE, BASER

1. agenes, "of low birth" (a, negative, genos, "family, race"), hence denoted "that which is of no reputation, of no account," 1 Cor 1:28, "the base things of the world," i. e., those which are of no account or fame in the world's esteem. That the neuter plural of the adjective bears reference to persons is clear from verse 26.

2. tapeinos, primarily "that which is low, and does not rise far from the ground," as in the Sept. of Ezek 17:24, hence, metaphorically, signifies "lowly, of no degree." So the RV in 2 Cor 10:1. Cf. Luke 1:52 and James 1:9, "of low degree." Cf.

tapeinophrosune, "lowliness of mind," and tapeinoo, "to humble." See CAST, Note (7), HUMBLE, LOW, LOWLY.

3. agoraios, translated in the KJV of Acts 17:5 "of the baser sort," RV, "of the rabble," signifies, lit., "relating to the market place"; hence, frequenting markets, and so sauntering about idly. It is also used of affairs usually transacted in the market-place, and hence of judicial assemblies, Acts 19:38, RV "courts" (KJV, "law"); the margin in both RV and KJV has "court days are kept." See COURT.

MEEK - POOR (PERSON), WEAK (PERSON)

A. Nouns.

`ani OT:6041, "poor; weak; afflicted; humble." This word, which also appears in early Aramaic and post-biblical Hebrew, occurs in biblical Hebrew about 76 times and in all periods.

This noun is frequently used in synonymous parallelism with 'ebyon ("needy") and or dal ("poor"). It differs from both in emphasizing some kind of disability or distress. A hired servant as one who is in a lower (oppressive) social and material condition is described both as an 'ebyon and `ani: "Thou shalt not oppress a hired servant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates: At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the Lord, and it be sin unto thee" Deuteronomy 24:14-15. If wrongly oppressed, he can call on God for defense. Financially, the `ani lives from day to day and is socially defenseless, being subject to oppression. In its first biblical occurrence the `ani is guaranteed (if men obey God's law) his outer garment for warmth at night even though that garment might be held as collateral during the day: "If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as a usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury" Exodus 22:25. The godly protect and deliver the "afflicted" Isaiah 10:2; Ezekiel 18:17, while the ungodly take advantage of them, increasing their oppressed condition Isaiah 58:7. The king is especially charged to protect the `ani: "Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy" Proverbs 31:9.

`Ani can refer to one who is physically oppressed: "Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine" Isaiah 51:21.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Lowly & Humble Person

Physical oppression is sometimes related to spiritual oppression as in Psalms 22:24: "For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him...." Outward affliction frequently leads to inner spiritual affliction and results in an outcry to God: "Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me; for I am desolate and afflicted" Psalms 25:16. Even apart from outward affliction, the pious are frequently described as the "afflicted" or "poor" for whom God provides: "Thy congregation hath dwelt therein: thou, O God, hast prepared of thy goodness for the poor" Psalms 68:10. In such cases spiritual poverty and want are clearly in view. Sometimes the word means "humble" or "lowly," as it does in Zechariah 9:9, where it describes the Messiah: "Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: he is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass..." (cf. Psalms 18:27; Proverbs 3:34; Isaiah 66:2).

Related to `ani is the noun `oni, "affliction." It appears about 36 times and in all periods of biblical Hebrew. `Oni represents the state of pain and or punishment resulting from affliction. In Deuteronomy 16:3 the shewbread is termed the bread of "affliction" because it is a physical reminder of sin, the cause of "affliction" Psalms 25:18, the hardship involved in sin (especially the Egyptian bondage), and divine deliverance from sin Psalms 119:50.

`Ani is also related to the word `anawah, "humility, gentleness." This word occurs only 5 times, setting forth the two characteristics gained from affliction. Applied to God, it represents His submission to His own nature Psalms 45:4.

dal OT:1800, "one who is low, poor, reduced, helpless, weak." This noun also appears in Ugaritic. It occurs in biblical Hebrew about 47 times and in all periods.

Dal is related to, but differs from, `ani (which suggests affliction of some kind), 'ebyon (which emphasizes need), and rash (which suggests destitution). The dallim constituted the middle class of Israel — those who were physically deprived (in the ancient world the majority of people were poor). For example, the dallim may be viewed as the opposite of the rich Exodus 30:15; cf. Ruth 3:10; Proverbs 10:15.

In addition, the word may connote social poverty or lowliness. As such, dal describes those who are the counterparts of the great: "Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbor" Leviticus 19:15; cf. Amos 2:7.

When Gideon challenged the Lord's summoning him to deliver Israel, he emphasized that his clan was too weak to do the job: "And he said unto him, Oh my Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? behold, my family is poor in Manasseh..." Judges 6:15; cf. II Samuel 3:1. God commands that society protect the poor, the lowly, and the weak: "Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment: neither shalt thou countenance a poor man in his cause" Exodus 23:2-3; cf. Leviticus 14:21; Isaiah 10:2. He also warns that if men fail to provide justice, He will do so Isaiah 11:4.

A fourth emphasis appears in Genesis 41:19 (the first biblical appearance of the word), where dal is contrasted to "healthy" or "fat": "And behold, seven other kine came up after them, poor and very ill-favored and leanfleshed...." Thus, dal indicates a physical condition and appearance of sickliness. It is used in this sense to describe Amnon's appearance as he longed for Tamar II Samuel 13:4.

Dal is used (very infrequently) of spiritual poverty (in such cases it is sometimes paralleled to 'ebyon): "Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the judgment of their God" Jeremiah 5:4. Some scholars argue that here the word means "ignorance," and as the context shows, this is ignorance in the knowledge of God's word.

Another noun, dallah, is related to dal. Dallah, which appears about 8 times, means "poverty; dishevelled hair." The word appears in II Kings 24:14: "...none remained, save the poorest sort of the people of the land," where dallah emphasizes the social lowliness and "poverty" of those people whom it describes. In Song of Solomon 7:5 the word refers to "dishevelled hair" in the sense of something that hangs down.

B. Verbs.

dalal OT:1809, "to be low, hang down." This verb appears only 8 times in the Bible and always in poetical passages. It has cognates or near cognates in Arabic, Ethiopic, Akkadian, and extra-biblical Hebrew. The word appears in Psalms 79:8: "O remember not against us former iniquities: let thy tender mercies speedily prevent us; for we are brought very low."

`anah OT:6031, "to afflict, oppress, humble." This verb, which also appears in Arabic, occurs about 74 times in biblical Hebrew and in every period. The first occurrence is in Genesis 15:13: "Know of a surety that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them four hundred years."

C. Adjective.

`anaw OT:6035, "humble; poor; meek." This adjective, which appears about 21 times in biblical Hebrew, is closely related to `ani and derived from the same verb. Sometimes this word is synonymous with `ani. Perhaps this is due to the well-known waw-yodh interchange. `Anaw appears almost exclusively in poetical passages and describes the intended outcome of affliction from God, namely "humility." In its first appearance the word depicts the objective condition as well as the subjective stance of Moses. He was entirely dependent on God and saw that he was: "Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth" Numbers 12:3.

A Lowly & Humble Person

A. Adjective.

praus or praos NT:4239 denotes "gentle, mild, meek"; for its significance see the corresponding noun, below, B. Christ uses it of His own disposition, Matthew 11:29; He gives it in the third of His Beatitudes, 5:5; it is said of Him as the King Messiah, 21:5, from Zechariah 9:9; it is an adornment of the Christian profession, 1 Peter 3:4. Cf. epios, "gentle, of a soothing disposition," 1 Thessalonians 2:7; 2 Timothy 2:24.

B. Nouns.

1. prautes, or praotes, an earlier form, denotes "meekness." In its use in Scripture, in which it has a fuller, deeper significance than in nonscriptural Greek writings, it consists not in a person's "outward behavior only; nor yet in his relations to his fellow-men; as little in his mere natural disposition. Rather it is an inwrought grace of the soul; and the exercises of it are first and chiefly towards God. It is that temper of spirit in which we accept His dealings with us as good, and therefore without disputing or resisting; it is closely linked with the word tapeinophrosune [humility], and follows directly upon it, Ephesians 4:2; Colossians 3:12; cf. the adjectives in the Sept. of Zephaniah 3:12, "meek and lowly";... it is only the humble heart which is also the meek, and which, as such, does not fight against God and more or less struggle and contend with Him. This meekness, however, being first of all a meekness before God, is also such in the face of men, even of evil men, out of a sense that these, with the insults and injuries which they may inflict, are permitted and employed by Him for the chastening and purifying of His elect" (Trench, Syn. Sec. xlii). In Galatians 5:23 it is associated with enkrateia, "self-control."

The meaning of prautes "is not readily expressed in English, for the terms meekness, mildness, commonly used, suggest weakness and pusillanimity to a greater or less extent, whereas prautes does nothing of the kind. Nevertheless, it is difficult to find a rendering less open to objection than 'meekness'; 'gentleness' has been suggested, but as prautes describes a condition of mind and heart, and as 'gentleness' is appropriate rather to actions, this word is no better than that used in both English Versions. It must be clearly understood, therefore, that the meekness manifested by the Lord and commended to the believer is the fruit of power. The common assumption is that when a man is meek it is because he cannot help himself; but the Lord was 'meek' because he had the infinite resources of God at His command. Described negatively, meekness is the opposite to self-assertiveness and self-interest; it is equanimity of spirit that is neither elated nor cast down, simply because it is not occupied with self at all.

"In 2 Corinthians 10:1 the apostle appeals to the 'meekness... of Christ.' Christians are charged to show 'all meekness toward all men,' Titus 3:2, for meekness becomes 'God's elect,' Colossians 3:12. To this virtue the 'man of God' is urged; he is to 'follow after meekness' for his own sake, 1 Timothy 6:11 (the best texts have No. 2 here however), and in his service, and more especially in his dealings with the 'ignorant and erring,' he is to exhibit 'a spirit of meekness,' 1 Corinthians 4:21, and Galatians 6:1; even 'they that oppose themselves' are to be corrected in meekness, 2 Timothy 2:25. James exhorts his 'beloved brethren' to 'receive with meekness the implanted word,' 1:21. Peter enjoins 'meekness' in setting forth the grounds of the Christian hope, 3:15."

2. praupathia, "a meek disposition, meekness" (praus, "meek," pascho, "to suffer"), is found in the best texts in 1 Timothy 6:11.

INSIGHTS FROM PROVERBS

A Waster

At first glance one might draw a false conclusion that reference to a Waster is an attitude but not a person. However, there is scriptural clarity.

Isaiah 54:16

Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an instrument for his work; and I have created the waster to destroy.

The Hebrew word for “the Waster” above is “shachath.” Shachath is a word for waster, waste, spoiler, spill, perish, destroy, corrupt. In Isaiah 54:16 we see a smith to create and a waster to destroy. It is easy to agree the smith is a person. This verse references that person with a skill.

What does this waster do?

Takes the assets of others. (A spoiler took the spoils after a battle.)

I Samuel 13:17

And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah, unto the land of Shual:

A person who will waste a country.

I Chronicles 20:1

And it came to pass, that after the year was expired, at the time that kings go out to battle, Joab led forth the power of the army, and wasted the country of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David tarried at Jerusalem. And Joab smote Rabbah, and destroyed it.

A person who destroys/wastes his own soul: (i.e.) Mind, Will, Emotions.

Proverbs 6:32

But whoso committeth adultery with a woman lacketh understanding: he that doeth it destroyeth his own soul.

A person who by verbal ways or internet or blog destroys or waste another.

Proverbs 11:9

An hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered.

The results obtained by a waster are the same as a slothful person. The results bring down a person, family, or company.

Proverbs 18:9

He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster.

To be afraid of a wicked person will corrupt or destroy or waste creativity (see teaching on Wicked People).

Proverbs 25:26

A righteous man falling down before the wicked is as a troubled fountain, and a corrupt spring.

To steal from parents is no different than a waster.

Proverbs 28:24

Whoso robbeth his father or his mother, and saith, It is no transgression; the same is the companion of a destroyer.

Wasting

This is partially a testimony and a teaching, but it is mostly an admonition from my personal experience.

I work in the housing and land development industry as a market researcher and consultant. My comments refer to the housing industry, however I believe they are applicable in all aspects of business. It is my belief the housing industry must be close to the greatest waster of any industry. To address waste we must learn the art of addressing little things. (He who is faithful in little things can be faithful in great.) One does not address this issue by being cheap nor being exceeding frugal but by getting things done right the first time through prudence (doing the right thing) and diligence (doing the thing right).

I suspect so far you have heard the above many times, I had also. Then our thought came to focus on the little things. We checked to be sure we were doing the right things. Then, of these right things being done we could then focus on the little things.

First was to list all the “right” little things and next to do a cost of business study for making mistakes. This means to figure out on each item the degree of efficiency and the cost of waste from a lack of efficiency, mistakes, or poor communication etc. Always focus on the little things. In the home building industry I have concluded that if one were to look at the net profit (before tax) not (looking at gross profit) it is reasonable to conclude you could increase the net profit easily 20% for an efficient company and 40% for a mostly well-run company to 107% for many companies.

At one point a company that was selected as one of the best run building companies in the United States concluded they could increase their net profit before tax number 107% without increasing sales prices or selling more homes. I believe other industries could also get similar results. Again the first focus is a cost of business study. Being sure you are doing the right things and then focusing on the little right things and their efficiency. Next is to look at each narrow category (such as delivering dry wall or hanging drywall or receptionist or opening a model daily etc.). Then “by only” focusing on the little things that tend to go wrong and make a list (not over 1 page per item – a rule).

Once the list is done by a key manager with advice from others, then the head person examines every list no matter the size of the corporation (this person must agree). Then that one-page list is used to evaluate the function and process, for example: hanging drywall or on a per month basis for things such as receptionist. This is then put on a 1-page tracking form with the date or lot number on the bottom of a chart and the mistakes on the left. The goal is to only track the errors or what is called noncompliance. Therefore, the right small things are identified first. The head person agrees with the list (and does not delegate the final list decision). Quality is then defined as conforming to the requirements on the list. The list is on a simple 1-page chart now used as a check list, then evaluated by project or date, then tracked. It should not have over 2 pages per function. The result is a system to make the little things (as decided by the head person) identified, accountable, measured and acted upon.

I do not know how many years these teachings on Proverbs and the 70 types of People identified that Solomon talked about will be around. It may outlive me. Therefore this next statement may not be always applicable.

If you would like the summary Home Building Program as a gift (that cannot be resold) it is free to you. Contact us at info@mgresearch.net. My comments in these sheets only touch the highlights of the system to manage waste (it needs much more explanation).

In conclusion, what if your company or the company you work for could double its net profit (before tax) number? Can you imagine what the government could do with cabinet level departments if it was brought into accountability?
